Auto Industry Is Being Probed for Anti-Trust Action

Unspecified Sides Checked by Justice Department; Brownell Cites 'Pattern'

New York, April 29 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. says the Justice Department is starting a probe of the auto industry for possible anti-trust violations because of a "developing pattern of concentration."

Speaking last night before the Economic Club of New York, Brownell said:

"We know well that increasing concentration in an important industry contains dangerous potentialities.

"We do not know what is the explanation of the developing pattern of concentration in the automobile industry. We want to find out whether this pattern is nothing more than the consequence of competitive forces at work, or whether any one or more of the facts which amount to collusion or the suppression of competition has been at work."

Four Phases Checked

Recently the anti-trust division of the Justice Department disclosed it was looking into four specific phases of the auto field. The phases were not enumerated.

Last month, Rep. Shepard J. Crumpacker, Jr., (R-Ind.) introduced a resolution charging that independent car producers suffered from what he termed high pressure competitive practices by Ford and General Motors.

Congress has taken no action on Crumpacker's proposal.

Crumpacker also asked the Federal Trade Commission to investigate whether Ford and G.M. were trying to monopolize the auto industry and whether their battle for sales leadership had violated any anti-trust laws.

Demands Are Made

General Motors and Ford both denied their companies were engaged in a race for business or were trying to monopolize the market.

So far this year, Ford and G.M. have accounted for slightly less than 84 per cent of the automotive market. Chrysler has around

Stevens Is Queried on Withdrawal

It Is Possible Lawton Was Asked to Drop Some Suspensions, He Testifies

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens testified today he was apprehensive the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., commander was moving too fast against alleged security risks last October. He said it was "entirely possible" the commander, Maj. Gen. Kirke G. Lawton, had been asked to withdraw some suspensions.

Stevens had been confronted at the McCarthy-Army hearings with a statement by Lawton that Army Counselor John G. Adams telephoned him early in November urging him to "dismiss certain security cases" at the Army Radar Research Center.

In a dramatic development, Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, produced the memorandum, "not two hours old," saying Lawton had dictated it in Jenkins' presence.

The memo was handwritten in ink. Jenkins said Capt. Joseph E. Corr Jr., aide to lawton, had taken down the general's statement.

Of Vital Importance

Jenkins termed the memo of vital importance to the contention by Sen. McCarthy—denied by Stevens—that Stevens sought to stop the senator's investigation of alleged subversive activities at Monmouth.

The special counsel conducted such a hammering cross-examination of Stevens that Joseph N. Welch, special counsel to the secretary, protested Jenkins was going at it as if it were a "murder trial."

Stevens swore that he had no recollection of the purported telephone conversation between Adams and Lawton.

But Stevens said it could be "entirely possible"—that it was "conceivable"—he had told Adams he had better call Gen. Lawton.

Talked to Back

Stevens said he did recall that last Oct. 31 he had talked to Gen. George I Back, chief signal officer, and told him he wanted the army's commanding generals to exercise "careful and good judgment" in carrying out the government's program to weed out security risks.

The secretary said he told Back he did not want the removal of employes at Ft. Monmouth to be done so rapidly that people would be suspended without sufficient evidence to support the action.

And, Stevens said, he told Back he was "apprehensive that Gen. Lawton might be moving in that

Asia-for-Asians Stand Supported by Molotov

Australia Foreign Chief Thinks Forces May Have to Remain in Korea

By EDDY GILMORE

Geneva, April 29 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Geneva Conference today he agrees entirely with the Asia-for-Asians declaration of Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

Molotov, in his first policy speech before the 19-nation conference, said a peaceful solution of the Korean problem can be found if the delegates proceed "from the principle that the peoples of Asia have the full right to settle their affairs themselves."

"Other states, the participants of the Geneva Conference," he said, "are called upon to assist the Asian peoples in this respect by their friendly efforts."

May Have to Remain

Richard G. Casey, foreign minister of Australia, told the Geneva Conference today that United Nations forces may have to remain in Korea until that divided peninsula has been united under a democratic government.

Casey's declaration to the 19-nation conference preceded a scheduled major policy speech on Korea by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, his first since the parley opened Monday.

Outside the conference hall, a French source reported talks between Russia and France for a truce at Dien Bien Phu to permit evacuation of French Union wounded have virtually collapsed.

Informants said Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault exchanged heated words at a dinner last night, with the Soviet diplomat expressing surprise that Bidault had injected the truce question into a discussion of what parties should participate in settlement of the Indochinese question.

Surprised at Violations

Bidault replied that he was just as surprised that the Russians had violated confidences by disclosing his request without notifying the French beforehand. Molotov said he did so to counteract what he called tendentious articles in the world press. The Russians repeated that a truce should be arranged here; the

Proposal Is Made Indochina Receive Supply of A-Bombs

Florida Solon Prefers Sending Missiles to French, Rather Than Troops

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.) proposed today that the United States supply the French with atomic bombs for use in Indochina to "get the war won so we won't have to send American boys there."

"We have all kinds and all sizes of A-bombs that have never been tested in conventional warfare," Sikes said in an interview. "Let's see if they work."

He added that the Indochinese war, in which French and native troops have been fighting Communist-led forces for more than seven years, "is becoming serious enough so that we had better use every weapon we've got to win it."

Sikes, a member of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles army funds, said he opposes sending American forces to Indochina without prior congressional approval but would back maximum material aid to the French.

Would Require Approval

Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.) prepared for introduction in the House, meanwhile, a resolution aimed at barring the dispatch of American troops to Indochina "without prior approval and consent of Congress."

Such resolutions normally do not have the binding effect of law, but are advisory to the President.

Rep. Coudert (R.-N.Y.) has proposed a move which, if approved by the House and Senate, would have teeth. Drafted as an amendment to the defense money bill now before the House, it would prohibit use of any funds in the bill to send U. S. troops into combat without congressional approval, except to uphold treaty obligations or in self-defense.

It seemed likely to touch off the only heated debate on the $28,600,000,000 armed service budget for the year starting July 1.

Chou Demand May Be Initial Blow To Geneva Talks

Policy of Red China's Premier Calculated to Alienate West, Entice Others

The writer of this story is a long-time Far Eastern correspondent, most recently as Associated Press Chief of Bureau in Tokyo.

BY RUSSELL BRINES

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Red China's premier Chou En-Lai made what appeared to be a strong start toward torpedoing the Geneva Conference yesterday by laying down a policy line carefully calculated to alienate the west and entice other Asian countries.

The suave Chou, in his first speech at a major east-west parley, demanded the evacuation of Asia by non-Asiatics, presumably not including the Russians, and the elimination of their military bases. He said Red China would continue growing stronger.

Chou also demanded outlawing the hydrogen bomb and condemned rearmament of West Germany, proposed by the west.

This was Red China laying down peace terms as a victor, instead of participating at Geneva as a defendant before the bar of world justice, as Secretary of State Dulles had described his role.

And, doubtless, Chou's immediate aim was to make Peiping appear as an equal participant in talks on such non-Asian subjects as West Germany.

Talks to Restless World

But beyond that Chou clearly was talking primarily to the restless, unconquered Asian world and particularly to the key nations now meeting in Ceylon to work out closer cooperation among themselves. The Ceylon Conference includes the leaders of more than 400 million people in India, Indonesia and Burma who remain neutral and are therefore highly eligible for Communist conquest.

Chou carefully echoed many of the phrases about an Asian Monroe Doctrine that are certain to appeal to such men as India's Prime Minister Nehru, as well as

Eisenhower Sees Hurt to Flexibility

Chief Executive Refuses Any Speculation on Indochina in View of Conference

Washington, April 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared anew today that the United States is not going to get into any war in Indochina unless Congress declares it.

However, the President told a news conference that a proposal in Congress to forbid the sending of American troops to Indochina, or any other place in the world without prior congressional approval, could not fail to damage his flexibility in handling the situation.

The President was asked for his evaluation of the possibility of America combat forces having to be sent to Indochina.

He replied that he already has expressed his views on that matter rather emphatically.

Recalls Earlier Statement

At a news conference about a month ago, he recalled, he said the United States would not get into a war except through constitutional processes.

And that means, Eisenhower said, only through a declaration of war by Congress.

He said this country has provided technical assistance, money, and equipment to bolster the fight against communism in Indochina.

That is as much as the present foreign assistance law permits, he added.

So far as speculation on the future is concerned, the President said, he didn't want to do too much talking at this time.

He noted the Geneva Conference dealing with Indochina now is in session and said it would be inappropriate for him to speculate under those corcumstances.

On Other Issues

On other matters the President had this to say:

The congressional campaign—Eisenhower reiterated that he has no intention of engaging in state and local contests, but he said he does intend to get around the country to talk about his administrations's program. He predicted the overriding issue of the campaign will be whether the admin-

Truck Action Is Taken by Board

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded a contract for a tree-spraying project in the city, approved three sewer projects, decided in favor of a general long-range street lighting plan and voted to try a plan aimed at reducing north-bound truck travel on several streets.

The board also moved to advertise for park concession bids and to consider eliminating a dangerous sewer condition on Gill street.

Aero Dust & Spray Service, 317 Washington avenue, at a bid of $3,500 was awarded the tree-spraying contract. The Kingston Lions Club, through an agreement with the city, will pay half the cost of the project.

Sawyer & Robinson, also known as Millis Air Service, Sykes Airport, Accord, was the other bidder and offered to do the work at $1.10 an acre. Its price for applying the spraying formula on a gallon basis was 74 cents a gallon.

Both bidders said they would use six per cent DDT and a half of one per cent of malithion mixed with water. Aero Dust & Spray specified it would use six per cent "or stronger" of DDT.

Sewer Is Approved

The board approved a sewer project for Mary's avenue at an estimated cost of $8,000 and one for South Pine street at an estimated cost of $3,000 and Mayor Frederick H. Stang said City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was working on plans and estimates for a larger project on Foxhall avenue, and he was hopeful that all would be ready to be submitted to the Common Council at its regular meeting next Tuesday.

Hallinan explained that a new sewer line would be built from Foxhall and Flatbush avenues to Foxhall avenue and O'Neil street for 1,100 feet. The project, he said, is designed to take the heavy flow from the Roosevelt Park line and separate it from the second ward system by sending the flow through under pressure over the proposed new line to a control chamber at Foxhall and O'Neil and back into the trunk line without pressure.

The city engineer said he was still working on the plans, and hoped to have them ready for the Common Council meeting. He has not arrived at an estimated cost he said. Mayor Stang said he hoped all the approved projects could be covered by a single bond issue and the board authorized him to request the necessary funds and advertise for bids. A special meeting will be called for final approval, he said.

Asks Truck Curtailment

A letter from Lou Kantrowitz, who represents the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association, on a spjecial traffic committee, in a letter to the mayor asked that something be done to ease heavy truck travel in the city, and the board voted, on recommendation of Commissioner Kenneth Hyatt, to attempt directing north-bound truck traffic over the East Chester street by-pass up to 11 p. m., daily. The trucks would not be directed over that route from 11 p. m., to 7 a. m.

Sign Blew Down

Mayor Stang explained that a sign had been placed at Broadway and East Chester street directing northbound traffic to use that route, but it had been blown down. The mayor suggested that the 11 p. m., deadline be set, especially for truck travel on East Chester street. Hyatt suggested the test, through a new sign, be made until the next meeting of the board when the problem could be discussed further.

Kantrowitz, in his letter, suggested that something also be done to end the menace of oily smoke from diesel trucks. He considered the north and south-bound movement of oil tankers in the city a fire hazard. The 12-man committee, he noted, is composed of men from the city's business associations, the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of the city.

Extent of Project

Oustanding Scientists To Mark 'Lab' Birthday

A program of scientific discussions by some of the nation's outstanding men in the field of research is being planned to mark the 20th anniversary celebration of the City of Kingston Laboratory on May 19.

The program is in charge of a committee appointed by the Ulster County Medical Society and consisting of Drs. Milton M. Grover, Ted R. Smalldon and Herbert Derman. Its expenses will be defrayed by the board of managers of the laboratory, the Ulster County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of New York Ulster County Branch of American Cancer Society and the Bureau of Cancer Control of the New York State Department of Health.

The program will include an afternoon session at the auditorium of the Nurses' Home of Kingston Hospital, and an evening banquet session at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Dr. Frederic Holcomb, speaker of the House of Delegates of the New York state Medical Society, will preside at the afternoon session, and Dr. Joseph Jacobson at the evening meeting. Both were members of the original board of managers of the city laboratory when it began operations in 1934.

Speakers will include: Gilbert Dalldorf, M.D., director, Division of Laboratories and Research, New York State Health Department; Patrick J. Fitzgerald, M.D., professor of pathology, State University of New York College of Medicine; Frank W. Foote, Jr., M.D., attending pathologist, Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York city; Philip Levine, M.D., director of biological division, Ortho Research Foundation, Raritan, N. J.

Also, Oscar Auerbach, M.D., chief of laboratory service, Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N. J., James B. Arey, M.D., Ph.D., pathologist, St. Christopher's Hospital for Children, Philadelphia; F. William Sunderman, M.D., Ph.D., D.Sc., director, division of metabolic research, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia; Henry D. Diamond, associate physician, Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York; Paul Klemperer, professor of pathology, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and pathologist, Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York city.

The speaking sessions will be devoted to technical discussions and are intended primarily for physicians, allied scientific personnel and their guests. However, the laboratory and its adjacent Ulster County Tumor Clinic will be open for public inspection throughout the day.

Conn. Man Files Claims For Uranium on State Lands

Peekskill, April 29 (AP)—A Glenville, Conn., machinist claims to have discovered a uranium deposit on state-owned land here.

Thirty-four notices of discovery applying to 1,360 acres of land on Camp Smith, the New York National Guard reservation, have been filed with the New York State Department by Edward Chalmers, the Albany Times-Union said today.

The paper reported that ore samples had shown "an unusually high uranium content" but that the extent of the deposit was not known.

Peter Zodac of Peekskill, editor of Rock and Minerals, publication of the Rock and Minerals Association of America, said he wrote in 1939 of uranium deposits in the area but claimed they were of no commercial value.

He said he knew that Chalmers had been prospecting in the area for a long time.

Arthur J. McLoughlin, secretary of the state land office division, confirmed last night that the claims had been filed. McLoughlin said he did not know the extent or quality of the discovery.

McLoughlin said the State Land Board would meet next Tuesday in New York city to decide whether to permit Chalmers to make core-drilling tests in the area.

Another State Department source said that under the law a person could file a notice of discovery—in effect, a claim—when the discovery involved minerals.

The Atomic Energy Commission has reported that a 1949 survey of

Americans Are Given New Estimates On Our Own Versus Red Air Power

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Two new estimates were before the American people today on how their air strength stacks up against Soviet Russia's:

1. Word from U. S. diplomatic sources that there has been a "rapid increase in Soviet air potential" through the conversion of much of Russia's 20,000-plane force to modern jet planes.

2. A statement by Rep. Scrivner (R.-Kas.), chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee handling air force funds, that the United States outnumbers Russia 3 to 2 in the air and that the Soviet have no long-range bombers able to reach the United States and return to home bases.

The views were given out at the time of these events in Washington and elsewhere—

Considering Appropriation

Congress was considering the annual air force appropriation. Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, had just talked with President Eisenhower after a hurried trip to Europe and a visit with British Prime Minister Churchill. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) was re-assessing its own and Soviet strength in the air, on the ground and at sea.

The diplomatic officials, who may not be named, yesterday made available an overall summary of Communist military strength—six million men under arms in Russia, eastern Germany and the satellite countries.

They figured that 4½ million of the six million are in ground forces; that 22 divisions are in Germany, constituting "a ready-made spearhead" for a rapid advance into Europe; that the bulk of the 22 divisions are armored outfits with nearly a complete complement of tanks and self-propelled guns.

Another 60 Divisions

Backing up the 2 divisions are another 60 Soviet divisions based in western Russia and eastern satellite nations. And the satellites themselves have about 80 divisions, twice the strength of 1947.

Communist air strength was calculated this way by the diplomatic officials:

New types of medium and heavy bombers, including jet models, have been observed. (These presumably would include at least two new designs of long range planes, one four-engined, another six-engined, powered with propellers driven by jet engines. The six-engine bomber obviously is intended to counter the United States Air Force B36.)

Since 1951 the number of medium bombers, called by the Russians TU4 and closely resembling the appearance and capability of the American B29 or B50, has doubled.

Almost All Are Jets

Almost all Soviet fighter planes now are jets; in 1951 only 20 per cent were of these modern types.

In 1951 the Red air force fleet of light bombers had no jet powered planes. Now more than two-thirds of the light bombers are jets.

The diplomats said the Soviet air force remains at a steady overall strength of about 20,000 planes but that it is the through going modernization that is increasing the potential so fast.

Scrivner also used the 20,000 plane figure, saying it was an estimate given by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States representative on the military committee of NATO. (Collins also has said that there are available to the command of NATO forces about 2,000 planes ready for immediate fighting and that on the ground there are available about 100 divisions.)

Scrivner told the House, during debate on military appropriations, that balanced against Soviet air strength were more than 21,000 planes of the U. S. Air Force, plus 10,000 more Navy and Marine planes.

Picture Called Phoney

He referred to a recently published picture of a reported new Soviet jet bomber and said:

"Let me state that responsible intelligence sources informed me that they have valid reasons for believing the picture is not authentic but is a phoney."

However, Scrivner said that even though present Russian planes could not make a two-way flight to bomb the United States they might try one-way suicidal missions. And he also said it would be foolish to presume that Russia is not working on better planes.

Eisenhower Sees Hurt to Flexibility

Chief Executive Refuses Any Speculation on Indochina in View of Conference

Washington, April 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared anew today that the United States is not going to get into any war in Indochina unless Congress declares it.

However, the President told a news conference that a proposal in Congress to forbid the sending of American troops to Indochina, or any other place in the world without prior congressional approval, could not fail to damage his flexibility in handling the situation.

The President was asked for his evaluation of the possibility of America combat forces having to be sent to Indochina.

He replied that he already has expressed his views on that matter rather emphatically.

Recalls Earlier Statement

At a news conference about a month ago, he recalled, he said the United States would not get into a war except through constitutional processes.

And that means, Eisenhower said, only through a declaration of war by Congress.

He said this country has provided technical assistance, money, and equipment to bolster the fight against communism in Indochina.

That is as much as the present foreign assistance law permits, he added.

So far as speculation on the future is concerned, the President said, he didn't want to do too much talking at this time.

He noted the Geneva Conference dealing with Indochina now is in session and said it would be inappropriate for him to speculate under those corcumstances.

On Other Issues

On other matters the President had this to say:

The congressional campaign—Eisenhower reiterated that he has no intention of engaging in state and local contests, but he said he does intend to get around the country to talk about his administrations's program. He predicted the overriding issue of the campaign will be whether the admin-

Truck Action Is Taken by Board

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded a contract for a tree-spraying project in the city, approved three sewer projects, decided in favor of a general long-range street lighting plan and voted to try a plan aimed at reducing north-bound truck travel on several streets.

The board also moved to advertise for park concession bids and to consider eliminating a dangerous sewer condition on Gill street.

Aero Dust & Spray Service, 317 Washington avenue, at a bid of $3,500 was awarded the tree-spraying contract. The Kingston Lions Club, through an agreement with the city, will pay half the cost of the project.

Sawyer & Robinson, also known as Millis Air Service, Sykes Airport, Accord, was the other bidder and offered to do the work at $1.10 an acre. Its price for applying the spraying formula on a gallon basis was 74 cents a gallon.

Both bidders said they would use six per cent DDT and a half of one per cent of malithion mixed with water. Aero Dust & Spray specified it would use six per cent "or stronger" of DDT.

Sewer Is Approved

The board approved a sewer project for Mary's avenue at an estimated cost of $8,000 and one for South Pine street at an estimated cost of $3,000 and Mayor Frederick H. Stang said City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was working on plans and estimates for a larger project on Foxhall avenue, and he was hopeful that all would be ready to be submitted to the Common Council at its regular meeting next Tuesday.

Hallinan explained that a new sewer line would be built from Foxhall and Flatbush avenues to Foxhall avenue and O'Neil street for 1,100 feet. The project, he said, is designed to take the heavy flow from the Roosevelt Park line and separate it from the second ward system by sending the flow through under pressure over the proposed new line to a control chamber at Foxhall and O'Neil and back into the trunk line without pressure.

The city engineer said he was still working on the plans, and hoped to have them ready for the Common Council meeting. He has not arrived at an estimated cost he said. Mayor Stang said he hoped all the approved projects could be covered by a single bond issue and the board authorized him to request the necessary funds and advertise for bids. A special meeting will be called for final approval, he said.

Asks Truck Curtailment

A letter from Lou Kantrowitz, who represents the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association, on a spjecial traffic committee, in a letter to the mayor asked that something be done to ease heavy truck travel in the city, and the board voted, on recommendation of Commissioner Kenneth Hyatt, to attempt directing north-bound truck traffic over the East Chester street by-pass up to 11 p. m., daily. The trucks would not be directed over that route from 11 p. m., to 7 a. m.

Sign Blew Down

Mayor Stang explained that a sign had been placed at Broadway and East Chester street directing northbound traffic to use that route, but it had been blown down. The mayor suggested that the 11 p. m., deadline be set, especially for truck travel on East Chester street. Hyatt suggested the test, through a new sign, be made until the next meeting of the board when the problem could be discussed further.

Kantrowitz, in his letter, suggested that something also be done to end the menace of oily smoke from diesel trucks. He considered the north and south-bound movement of oil tankers in the city a fire hazard. The 12-man committee, he noted, is composed of men from the city's business associations, the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of the city.

Extent of Project

Oustanding Scientists To Mark 'Lab' Birthday

A program of scientific discussions by some of the nation's outstanding men in the field of research is being planned to mark the 20th anniversary celebration of the City of Kingston Laboratory on May 19.

The program is in charge of a committee appointed by the Ulster County Medical Society and consisting of Drs. Milton M. Grover, Ted R. Smalldon and Herbert Derman. Its expenses will be defrayed by the board of managers of the laboratory, the Ulster County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of New York Ulster County Branch of American Cancer Society and the Bureau of Cancer Control of the New York State Department of Health.

The program will include an afternoon session at the auditorium of the Nurses' Home of Kingston Hospital, and an evening banquet session at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Dr. Frederic Holcomb, speaker of the House of Delegates of the New York state Medical Society, will preside at the afternoon session, and Dr. Joseph Jacobson at the evening meeting. Both were members of the original board of managers of the city laboratory when it began operations in 1934.

Speakers will include: Gilbert Dalldorf, M.D., director, Division of Laboratories and Research, New York State Health Department; Patrick J. Fitzgerald, M.D., professor of pathology, State University of New York College of Medicine; Frank W. Foote, Jr., M.D., attending pathologist, Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York city; Philip Levine, M.D., director of biological division, Ortho Research Foundation, Raritan, N. J.

Also, Oscar Auerbach, M.D., chief of laboratory service, Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N. J., James B. Arey, M.D., Ph.D., pathologist, St. Christopher's Hospital for Children, Philadelphia; F. William Sunderman, M.D., Ph.D., D.Sc., director, division of metabolic research, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia; Henry D. Diamond, associate physician, Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York; Paul Klemperer, professor of pathology, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and pathologist, Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York city.

The speaking sessions will be devoted to technical discussions and are intended primarily for physicians, allied scientific personnel and their guests. However, the laboratory and its adjacent Ulster County Tumor Clinic will be open for public inspection throughout the day.

Americans Are Given New Estimates On Our Own Versus Red Air Power

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Two new estimates were before the American people today on how their air strength stacks up against Soviet Russia's:

1. Word from U. S. diplomatic sources that there has been a "rapid increase in Soviet air potential" through the conversion of much of Russia's 20,000-plane force to modern jet planes.

2.A statement by Rep. Scrivner (R.-Kas.), chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee handling air force funds, that the United States outnumbers Russia 3 to 2 in the air and that the Soviet have no long-range bombers able to reach the United States and return to home bases.

The views were given out at the time of these events in Washington and elsewhere—

Considering Appropriation

Congress was considering the annual air force appropriation. Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, had just talked with President Eisenhower after a hurried trip to Europe and a visit with British Prime Minister Churchill. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) was re-assessing its own and Soviet strength in the air, on the ground and at sea.

The diplomatic officials, who may not be named, yesterday made available an overall summary of Communist military strength—six million men under arms in Russia, eastern Germany and the satellite countries.

They figured that 4½ million of the six million are in ground forces; that 22 divisions are in Germany, constituting "a ready-made spearhead" for a rapid advance into Europe; that the bulk of the 22 divisions are armored outfits with nearly a complete complement of tanks and self-propelled guns.

Another 60 Divisions

Backing up the 2 divisions are another 60 Soviet divisions based in western Russia and eastern satellite nations. And the satellites themselves have about 80 divisions, twice the strength of 1947.

Communist air strength was calculated this way by the diplomatic officials:

New types of medium and heavy bombers, including jet models, have been observed. (These presumably would include at least two new designs of long range planes, one four-engined, another six-engined, powered with propellers driven by jet engines. The six-engine bomber obviously is intended to counter the United States Air Force B36.)

Since 1951 the number of medium bombers, called by the Russians TU4 and closely resembling the appearance and capability of the American B29 or B50, has doubled.

Almost All Are Jets

Almost all Soviet fighter planes now are jets; in 1951 only 20 per cent were of these modern types.

In 1951 the Red air force fleet of light bombers had no jet powered planes. Now more than two-thirds of the light bombers are jets.

The diplomats said the Soviet air force remains at a steady overall strength of about 20,000 planes but that it is the through going modernization that is increasing the potential so fast.

Scrivner also used the 20,000 plane figure, saying it was an estimate given by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States representative on the military committee of NATO. (Collins also has said that there are available to the command of NATO forces about 2,000 planes ready for immediate fighting and that on the ground there are available about 100 divisions.)

Scrivner told the House, during debate on military appropriations, that balanced against Soviet air strength were more than 21,000 planes of the U. S. Air Force, plus 10,000 more Navy and Marine planes.

Picture Called Phoney

He referred to a recently published picture of a reported new Soviet jet bomber and said:

"Let me state that responsible intelligence sources informed me that they have valid reasons for believing the picture is not authentic but is a phoney."

However, Scrivner said that even though present Russian planes could not make a two-way flight to bomb the United States they might try one-way suicidal missions. And he also said it would be foolish to presume that Russia is not working on better planes.

Conn. Man Files Claims For Uranium on State Lands

Peekskill, April 29 (AP)—A Glenville, Conn., machinist claims to have discovered a uranium deposit on state-owned land here.

Thirty-four notices of discovery applying to 1,360 acres of land on Camp Smith, the New York National Guard reservation, have been filed with the New York State Department by Edward Chalmers, the Albany Times-Union said today.

The paper reported that ore samples had shown "an unusually high uranium content" but that the extent of the deposit was not known.

Peter Zodac of Peekskill, editor of Rock and Minerals, publication of the Rock and Minerals Association of America, said he wrote in 1939 of uranium deposits in the area but claimed they were of no commercial value.

He said he knew that Chalmers had been prospecting in the area for a long time.

Arthur J. McLoughlin, secretary of the state land office division, confirmed last night that the claims had been filed. McLoughlin said he did not know the extent or quality of the discovery.

McLoughlin said the State Land Board would meet next Tuesday in New York city to decide whether to permit Chalmers to make core-drilling tests in the area.

Another State Department source said that under the law a person could file a notice of discovery—in effect, a claim—when the discovery involved minerals.

The Atomic Energy Commission has reported that a 1949 survey of

Masons to Honor Thomas J. Watson

Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the Board of International Business Machines Corporation, will be presented with the Grand Lodge Achievement Award Medal of the Free and Accepted Masons of the state at a dinner at the Hotel Astor May 4 at 7 p. m. The presentation will be made by Ward B. Arbury of Buffalo, grand master of Masons in the state, and the citation will be read by Charles W. Froessel of the State Court of Appeals, past grand master and chairman of the event.

The dinner climaxes the first day of the 173rd annual communication of Grand Lodge, which will continue through May 6. Sessions during the day are held at the Masonic Temple, 71 West 23rd street when reports of Grand Lodge committees will be presented and the report on the Masonic Brotherhood Fund will be heard. The communication will conclude with the election and installation of new officers on Thursday.

Watson, who this year celebrates his 80th birthday and 40th year with IBM has been a member of the Fraternity since May, 1901 when he joined Valley Lodge, 109 in Rochester. He was presented with the Grand Lodge 50-Year Service Award in January, 1952.

The Grand Lodge Achievement Award Medal is given to such Masons as have distinguished themselves in some field of endeavor beneficial to humanity. Specifically, Watson will be given the medal for his contribution to youth welfare and the promotion of understanding and peace in nations throughout the world.

Masons to Honor Thomas J. Watson

Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the Board of International Business Machines Corporation, will be presented with the Grand Lodge Achievement Award Medal of the Free and Accepted Masons of the state at a dinner at the Hotel Astor May 4 at 7 p. m. The presentation will be made by Ward B. Arbury of Buffalo, grand master of Masons in the state, and the citation will be read by Charles W. Froessel of the State Court of Appeals, past grand master and chairman of the event.

The dinner climaxes the first day of the 173rd annual communication of Grand Lodge, which will continue through May 6. Sessions during the day are held at the Masonic Temple, 71 West 23rd street when reports of Grand Lodge committees will be presented and the report on the Masonic Brotherhood Fund will be heard. The communication will conclude with the election and installation of new officers on Thursday.

Watson, who this year celebrates his 80th birthday and 40th year with IBM has been a member of the Fraternity since May, 1901 when he joined Valley Lodge, 109 in Rochester. He was presented with the Grand Lodge 50-Year Service Award in January, 1952.

The Grand Lodge Achievement Award Medal is given to such Masons as have distinguished themselves in some field of endeavor beneficial to humanity. Specifically, Watson will be given the medal for his contribution to youth welfare and the promotion of understanding and peace in nations throughout the world.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 29, 1954

PRESERVING OUR TREES

Elm trees in the Kingston area are in danger of being attacked by the elm leaf beetle again this year. Nearly all the elm trees here were defoliated by the insect last year. Every home owner should be concerned about controlling this insect if they are interested in their trees.

If defoliation occurs two or three years in succession, trees will be weakened to the extent of limbs dying out and even to the extent of killing entire trees under adverse growing conditions. Weakened trees also are hosts to the elm bark beetles which carry the fungus causing Dutch elm disease.

The Community Betterment Committee of the Kingston Lions Club for some time has been interested in preserving our shade trees. Now the committee has taken action in cooperation with the City of Kingston to have the shade trees of the city sprayed by airplane.

The authorities say that the spraying of trees in this manner will have no injurious effect on the paint of houses or automobiles. The spraying will be done from dawn to 7 o'clock only and it is believed that the entire city can be covered in two mornings. The spraying of the trees will get underway between May 1 and May 10 depending upon the weather and the batch of beetles.

At the recent meeting of the Common Council this project was approved and the city appropriated $2,500 for the work. The Kingston Lions Club will pay the remainder of the cost which is estimated at $1,750.

Control is said to be very effective if everyone cooperates. Here is an opportunity for the citizens of Kingston to display their interest in preserving their trees.

The Kingston Lions Club and the Common Council are to be congratulated for their action in this important civic betterment project.

CHANGING PARTY NAMES

The top Conservative political body in Great Britain, corresponding to the national committees of our parties, is the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations. Anthony Eden has just been elected its president, which foreshadows his later succession to Winston Churchill as premier.

The title of this body sums up much recent British political history. In 1885 William E. Gladstone, the Liberal premier, introduced a bill providing for Home Rule for Ireland. Many prominent Liberals bolted to the Conservatives. Not being willing, however, to take the Conservative name, they called themselves Unionists, or adherents of the continued union of England and Ireland. Because they were numerous and influential, the party changed its name from Conservative to Unionist, and kept the new designation till Ireland was freed a generation ago. Then it went back to the old name of Conservative.

It is hard to imagine either the Republicans or Democrats changing the party name, although in 1864 the Republicans did re-elect Lincoln under the name of the Union party. After the Republican reverses in the Roosevelt days, there were suggestions that the party should drop its name and take one less offensive to the South. After President Eisenhower's strong run in the South in 1952, this idea is not likely to be revived.

Whatever the final outcome at the fortress of Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China, the battle has once more illuminated for the world the true fighting qualities of the French soldier.

As the famous French battalion in Korea earlier demonstrated, the fighting Frenchman is tough, courageous, daring, unyielding. He can hold his head up with the best in the world.

In recent decades, the problem has been to make him see that he had something worth fighting for, and to give him the things he needs to fight with. But French politicians have not been of great help to him on these matters, especially the former.

By pursuing their own differences down to the last severed hair, they have emphasized divisiveness in French life and minimized its unity. They have not shown the ordinary Frenchman that he is part of a rich community of talented people, a community whose basic ties are stronger than its divisions, a place he can be proud to live in and proud to defend.

'These Days'

HOW SMALL CAN IT BE?

The cause of confusion may be as small as a mustard seed, as is evidenced in the early testimony in the McCarthy-Stevens argument, which has come down to the maximum that Roy Cohn made some explosive remarks and Senator McCarthy wisecracked about Schine wanting to be a general and might want time off to meet young ladies. When General Miles Reber, formerly the Army's legislative liaison agent, said that "I got approximately 1,000 cases in my office a week . . . over 10 years" from members of Congress, and others, presumably asking for favors or information from the Army, he gave Mr. Stevens's case away.

In all the questions and answers and remarks on the subject, it became clear that nobody thought that it was morality or ethically wrong for a member of Congress, or even a lowly citizen who was never elected to anything, to recommend appointments to office in the Army or elsewhere. So that point being settled, the question arose as to whether Cohn's telephone calls were excessive.

Secretary Stevens said: "From mid-July of last year until March 1 of this year, David Schine was discussed between one branch or the other of the Department of the Army and Senator McCarthy or members of his staff in more than 65 telephone calls." It was not specified if all the calls were about Schine, but even so, this number may or may not be excessive depending upon one's habits and relationships. Even if calls were made every day, involved are about 225 days, or about one call every four days all told and involving many people.

Personally, I think that many people are developing a disease of telephonitis, which is a nervous reaction rather than a business necessity. When they have nothing better to do, they sit down to a round of telephone calls. On the slightest provocation, they call you away from the dinner table or wake you up too early in the morning.

Granting that Roy Cohn suffers from telephonitis, why did not Robert Stevens tell him to stop bothering him? This, I do not understand. Can anyone imagine some of Mr. Stevens's predecessors, before the defense agencies were amalgamated into the Department of Defense, arguing with a Congressional committee counsel on what to do about a prospective or current private in the Army? I am sure that Henry L. Stimson, or to go back a pace, William Howard Taft, would have shown the young fellow the door and given orders not to accept the calls. There must surely be something wrong with these men who sit behind big desks that they are so easily frightened by the telephone.

That is about all that this case has, up to the moment of writing, established. To repeat, what has been established by the evidence: It is all right to recommend anybody to anything provided the person is qualified, which is a matter of judgment; it is objectionable to do it too impressively, by an unusual number of telephone calls. Four calls per case are not impressive; 65 are impressive even over a seven and a half month period.

Now over such an issue men need not disturb the peace of a nation. As a matter of fact, the prima donna of this televised drama, G. David Schine, disappears among the spear bearers. He went in as a private; he remains a private. He passed high in his basic training but is still disqualified by lack of training. An examination of how some others got their promotions would only lead to further arguments, investigations and hot-rod journalism. So Private Schine will do his time and will probably grow stronger in body and mind for the experience. Meanwhile such important military officials as the Chief of Staff of the Army and other high brass take time off to sit in the audience as a back-drop to Secretary Stevens to watch the show. They must have little to do in that branch of the defense.

President Eisenhower said before the publishers last Thursday night:

". . . If the day comes when personal conflicts are more significant than honest debate on great policy, then the flame of freedom will flicker low indeed."

That is puzzling in the sense that for weeks numerous Republicans engaged in attempts to find roads to understanding, but always the impression developed that the road-block was somewhere in the White House. Who threw it? I do not know.

That Body of Yours

THE FIGHT AGAINST POLIOMYELITIS

I have written several times of how the majority of physicians and surgeons dislike the idea of performing surgical operations at or near the time that epidemics of poliomyelitis are prevalent. It is admitted that when an emergency operation is necessary to save life the operation should be performed. However, where operation can be safely postponed it should be because the chances of developing the bulbar, or paralytic, type of poliomyelitis are much greater the nearer the time of epidemics that operation is done.

In The Journal of the International College of Surgeons, which is highly authoritative, Dr. M. B. Hayes gives us the latest information about tonsils, adenoids and poliomyelitis. Dr. Hayes states that during the summer of 1952, Delaware County, Pa., had a rather severe epidemic of poliomyelitis with 190 cases and 15 deaths in a population of 430,000. This means that one of every 2,300 persons or 44 in 100,000 in Delaware county contracted poliomyelitis.

In the city of Philadelphia, there were reported 161 cases with eight deaths in a population of about two million.

From a survey of the 190 cases, in 161 of which check-ups were made from a review of the literature, Dr. Hayes concludes that there is a predisposition of the patient who has recently had his tonsils removed to contract poliomyelitis and that the bulbar type is two to three times as likely to occur in such patients. For this reason, Dr. Hayes states that he will continue his present policy of refraining from removing tonsils and adenoids within two months of the poliomyelitis season.

"It has been confirmed by countless surveys that in this area the months when most attacks of poliomyelitis occur are August and September but in the epidemic above mentioned, one fifth of the patients were stricken in October."

"An observer of the Department of Public Health of the City of New York states that the safest time for the removal of tonsils and adenoids as far as poliomyelitis is concerned is January, February and March."

Some physicians believe that boys and girls returning to school from their vacations are so tired that they are more readily stricken with polio. They have less strength and resistance.

We are reading much about the methods of successfully fighting poliomyelitis and Dr. Hayes shows that there is great hope that in the near future, by making individuals immune to this dread disease, there will finally be a successful battle against poliomyelitis.

It's Off to Work We Go

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Department of Defense has finally standardized "The Star-Spangled Banner."

It also designated "Hail to the Chief" as the official salute to the President of the United States.

The Navy arrangement of "Oh, Say Can You See—" will be the official one for all service organizations. Up to this time there have been so many arrangements of the national anthem that few bands trying to play in unison could come out together at the end.

How the old Scotch ballad "Hail to the Chief" came to be adopted as the American President's musical salute has always been something of a mystery. But some recent research by the Marine Corps dug up the fact that President John Tyler's second wife, Julia Gardiner, of New York, was responsible.

She had travelled abroad often and noticed all the flourishes and drum rolls given to foreign dignitaries. After she married President Tyler in 1844, she decided that her husband should be given similar treatment.

So she arranged to have the Marine Band play "Hail to the Chief" at White House functions just before "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played. The custom stuck, and now it's official.

House Republican Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana gave the American Society of Newspaper Editors a good sample of Hoosier corn in defending the Eisenhower record, and they loved him for it.

"I'm like the fellow who said he couldn't make a speech and then proved it," began Halleck. Other samples:

"We've just caught a five-pound bass and if you don't believe it I'll show you the hook. . . . The most important thing about selecting a necktie is the price. . . . I used to make an honest living—practicing law."

The southwestern drouth and dust storms have caused extensive winter wheat crop damage which may relieve wheat storage requirements in that area. Requirements for additional wheat storage facilities in the northern plain states are still acute.

One reason for this is congressional refusal to limit this year's plantings to 55 millions acres.

Congress raised the acreage to 62 million. If the law is allowed to stand and acreage is reduced to 55 million for next year's crop, the surplus would be effectively cut down.

If you think the U. S. has changed since you were a boy or girl, you're right. This is the way the Census Bureau analyzes the way jobs have changed in the 40 years between 1910 and 1950:

White collar workers have increased from 21 to 37 per cent.

Farm workers have dropped from 31 to 12 per cent.

Foremen and skilled workmen have gone up from 12 to 14 per cent.

Semiskilled workers have gone up from 15 to 28 per cent.

Common laborers have dropped from 14 to 6 per cent.

And servants have dropped from 7 to only 3 per cent.

Radio Warsaw recently broadcast a report on how the Polish Communist government had been encouraging marriage:

Couples who wish to marry now go to the State Marriage Bureau, which gets the license and arranges with the employer for a three-hour leave of absence in which the ceremony can be performed and the honeymoon can be held.

Bride and bridegroom are then advised on the proper wedding attire, and the bureau lends them the right clothing, if necessary. Extra rations of meat and vodka are issued. The couple then sign up to pay the bill in monthly installments, and it's all over.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been forced to cut back this year's farm programs by about $7 million. This because of a law passed last year which requires every government agency to reimburse the Post Office Department for its "free" mail.

In the first 10½ months of operation under this law, Department of Agriculture sent out 177 million pieces of mail at a cost of over $6 million. Estimates for the full year's operations are 202 million pieces of mail at an average cost of 3½ cents each.

Congress appropriated no money for this postage, but told the department to take it out of other funds.

Dulles Statement on Korea Provided Realism at Conference: No Peace by Surrender

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Geneva, April 29—Realism came into its own here at the Geneva Conference when Secretary of State Dulles presented the facts of international life to the assembled delegates in a speech that will live long in the history of free men.

For the story of the aggression in Korea—too often glossed over or forgotten in an age of materialism, as high principles and idealism are sometimes brushed aside—was told in unequivocal phrases by the American secretary of state. He brought back into the picture the mandate of the United Nations and reminded the world that all nations, including India, had branded North Korea an aggressor and that later the United Nations had by resolution declared Communist China an aggressor, too. No more pointed lesson to appeasers could have been uttered than in these words of Mr. Dulles aimed at those governments which now, in order to get a makeshift peace, would ignore the acts of the aggressors:

"Peace is always easy to achieve—by surrender. Unity is also easy to achieve—by surrender. The hard task, the task that confronts us, is to combine peace and unity with freedom."

Mr. Dulles reminded the delegates that the Korean war provided the first example of "a collective security organization in actual operation." He added: "If this conference is disloyal to the United Nations and its decisions, then each of us will bear a share of the responsibility for destroying what protects us all."

It was important here, where so many side issues have crept in, to put into perspective the faithless position of the Communists. Secretary Dulles minced no words as he accused the Communists of breaking the terms of the armistice agreement by failing to permit a political conference on Korean questions within three months after the truce was signed because they "desired first to consolidate their position in Korea."

Calling attention to the fact that the North Koreans had just proposed that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Korean territory in six months, Mr. Dulles pointed out that the United Nations forces "would have only a few miles to go and they could quickly return," he added:

"Once before we had our troops in Korea and withdrew them, as it turned out, prematurely. We do not want that history to repeat itself."

These are things that had to be said. For unhappily in and around conference circles the defeatism that comes from certain allied quarters is most discouraging. Retreat and surrender, both in Korea and Indochina, are offered as the best way out with little thought given to the damage to the whole principle of collective security in Europe as well as in Asia that could ensue.

Unfortunately both Prime Minister Churchill in London and Prime Minister Menzies in Australia might better have left unsaid at this time that they will not enter into any military commitments in Indochina. Actually, America doesn't want to make any such commitments by itself either. But sooner or later the free governments must assert their readiness to make sacrifices for collective action in southeast Asia, or else see that area conquered by the Communists.

As for Britain, it is not necessary to make any commitments till the outcome of Geneva is known, but it would be fatal for France to pull out of Indo-China now lest the whole French empire begin to crumble. Certainly a withdrawal from Indo-China by a "negotiation" that means surrender can bring a collapse of French power and influence in Tunisia and Morrocco, too. Foreign Minister Bidault fully understands the implications, but it is being said his cabinet may fall. Maybe such an event is necessary to awaken the French people to the fact that partisans in their midst may be unwittingly repeating the catastrophe of 1940, when a fifth column permitted France to be conquered from within. Maybe French pride and patriotism will be aroused against the prospect of reducing France to a third-rate power if she surrenders to "partition" of Indo-China or any of the insidious schemes being advanced here for liquidating French influence in southeast Asia.

If ever a group of faltering allies needed a hypodermic of resoluteness in an hour of great crisis in the world, it was on the occasion of the opening of the conference here this week, and the U. S. Secretary of State furnished it splendidly in a spirit reminiscent of the illustrious President of the United States who 34 years ago envisaged this shrine of collective security at Geneva.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, April 28 — Coming down through Central Park toward dusk, the tall, twinkling mass of the great city reminded me of a modest, gentle, little man who hit town from Pawtucket with a rattan suitcase and designed and supervised a great deal of the fabulous New York skyline. His name was Raymond Hood. He landed in Greenwich Village, where busted artists, writers, architects and all such, as well as a lot of bums of both sexes, were enjoying squalor with a supercilious leer. Ray was impressively good, and his character made a hit with the Moris, pop and mom, who had a big restaurant on Bleecker street. Ray married a beautiful young hat model with a bushel of natural blonde hair and the Moris gave them quarters somewhere on the premises in return for which Ray remodeled the restaurant. He always had a weakness for pranks in his work and at Moris' he built an inside staircase leading to a hidden bar on the second floor which, as I look back on it now, seems to have been an ideal firetrap.

The Moris' specialty was minestrone soup with lots of potatoes and that big, 12-gauge macaroni and when the panic of 1929 hit the Village people would line up outside the kitchen with saucepans and lard-cans and the cooks would dish out the most nourishing concentrate ever known to man. They were very kind people and some clients of their generosity took advantage of them, but mom and pop couldn't bear to think of people going hungry.

Ray finally struck it rich with a design for the Chicago Tribune Tower which won him a big prize and a reputation and led to his friendship with the late Jomp Patterson of the New York News. Ray had to borrow the money for his ticket to Chicago for a big blowout in his honor at the climax of which he was handed his check. Two years ago, John Harris, the contractor and builder, who executed a number of Ray's big jobs, told me that in obedience to the same puckish instinct that produced the hidden barrom Ray drew into the Tribune Tower a mess of ornate but absolutely meaningless architectural novelties up at the top. They don't support anything, they have no excuse and they have no name in architecture unless it be excrescences.

Some time later, Jomp asked Ray, quick-like, "Ray, what is beauty?" Ray said, "why, utility is beauty." Jomp said "write me a piece about it for Liberty." Ray was stuck with an offhand paradox but he tore into the proposition and gave it a very good going-over for which Jomp paid him $1,000.

A few years later he bled at every pore for that wise-crack when Patterson commissioned him to design a home for him up at Ossining.

Dwelling houses were out of Ray's line and he was knocked for a series of dwindling loops when Jomp said, "remember now; utility is beauty. If anyone says this is a pretty house you won't get a nickel." Ray would chuckle as he told of his battles with Jomp, who wanted the effect of a string of boxcars, wanted the outside dazzle-painted like the ships in World War 1 and, to top that, said, "and make me some new colors."

When the place was about finished Ray was fixing to bulldoze a lot of spoil from the excavations over the Palisades. But he knew how capricious Jomp was so he phoned him first. Jomp said, "hell, no; build me a hill!" in a country-side that is actually in the foothills of the Catskills.

But Ray's darkest hour was the day Jomp insisted that all the plumbing be exposed to view in the rooms on the ground that, being useful, they were beautiful. Ray said he finally compromised on illuminated portholes revealing these pipes.

One night at some social hassle a woman of arty disposition cornered Ray and told him she had detected the symbolism in the News building, which is made of white glazed brick with the rows of windows dark between these columns. He said: "What does in symbolize?" She said "great, tall heaps of newspapers coming off the presses." Ray complimented her on her intelligence but to me he said: "Heck, the design called for white glazed brick and we just had to have windows."

A neighbor up around Stamford who had just come back from France went into raptures about the chateaux down around Tours. Ray said they were horrible. The walls were so thick the sun couldn't get in, the rooms were badly designed and about all that could be said in their favor was that they contained great masonry, the greater because of the primitive machinery available when they were put up.

A tall building required a few essentials — plenty of windows, plenty of elevators and plenty of plumbing. Appearance didn't matter much. Nevertheless, he did some big jobs in green, gold and black.

Ray was called to do some work at the Whitelaw Reid estate at Rye and when it was over he said there was one extra body, not on the inventory, in the family mausoleum.

He died in the 1930's but before he went he had the satisfaction of driving down through the park with Elsie many a time and realizing that the great mountain of Rockefeller City and many other noble piles in the metropolis were in large part the creations of a Johnny one-suit with a rattan suitcase fresh down from Pawtucket not so long before.

PRESERVING OUR TREES

Elm trees in the Kingston area are in danger of being attacked by the elm leaf beetle again this year. Nearly all the elm trees here were defoliated by the insect last year. Every home owner should be concerned about controlling this insect if they are interested in their trees.

If defoliation occurs two or three years in succession, trees will be weakened to the extent of limbs dying out and even to the extent of killing entire trees under adverse growing conditions. Weakened trees also are hosts to the elm bark beetles which carry the fungus causing Dutch elm disease.

The Community Betterment Committee of the Kingston Lions Club for some time has been interested in preserving our shade trees. Now the committee has taken action in cooperation with the City of Kingston to have the shade trees of the city sprayed by airplane.

The authorities say that the spraying of trees in this manner will have no injurious effect on the paint of houses or automobiles. The spraying will be done from dawn to 7 o'clock only and it is believed that the entire city can be covered in two mornings. The spraying of the trees will get underway between May 1 and May 10 depending upon the weather and the batch of beetles.

At the recent meeting of the Common Council this project was approved and the city appropriated $2,500 for the work. The Kingston Lions Club will pay the remainder of the cost which is estimated at $1,750.

Control is said to be very effective if everyone cooperates. Here is an opportunity for the citizens of Kingston to display their interest in preserving their trees.

The Kingston Lions Club and the Common Council are to be congratulated for their action in this important civic betterment project.

CHANGING PARTY NAMES

The top Conservative political body in Great Britain, corresponding to the national committees of our parties, is the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations. Anthony Eden has just been elected its president, which foreshadows his later succession to Winston Churchill as premier.

The title of this body sums up much recent British political history. In 1885 William E. Gladstone, the Liberal premier, introduced a bill providing for Home Rule for Ireland. Many prominent Liberals bolted to the Conservatives. Not being willing, however, to take the Conservative name, they called themselves Unionists, or adherents of the continued union of England and Ireland. Because they were numerous and influential, the party changed its name from Conservative to Unionist, and kept the new designation till Ireland was freed a generation ago. Then it went back to the old name of Conservative.

It is hard to imagine either the Republicans or Democrats changing the party name, although in 1864 the Republicans did re-elect Lincoln under the name of the Union party. After the Republican reverses in the Roosevelt days, there were suggestions that the party should drop its name and take one less offensive to the South. After President Eisenhower's strong run in the South in 1952, this idea is not likely to be revived.

Whatever the final outcome at the fortress of Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China, the battle has once more illuminated for the world the true fighting qualities of the French soldier.

As the famous French battalion in Korea earlier demonstrated, the fighting Frenchman is tough, courageous, daring, unyielding. He can hold his head up with the best in the world.

In recent decades, the problem has been to make him see that he had something worth fighting for, and to give him the things he needs to fight with. But French politicians have not been of great help to him on these matters, especially the former.

By pursuing their own differences down to the last severed hair, they have emphasized divisiveness in French life and minimized its unity. They have not shown the ordinary Frenchman that he is part of a rich community of talented people, a community whose basic ties are stronger than its divisions, a place he can be proud to live in and proud to defend.

'These Days'

HOW SMALL CAN IT BE?

The cause of confusion may be as small as a mustard seed, as is evidenced in the early testimony in the McCarthy-Stevens argument, which has come down to the maximum that Roy Cohn made some explosive remarks and Senator McCarthy wisecracked about Schine wanting to be a general and might want time off to meet young ladies. When General Miles Reber, formerly the Army's legislative liaison agent, said that "I got approximately 1,000 cases in my office a week . . . over 10 years" from members of Congress, and others, presumably asking for favors or information from the Army, he gave Mr. Stevens's case away.

In all the questions and answers and remarks on the subject, it became clear that nobody thought that it was morality or ethically wrong for a member of Congress, or even a lowly citizen who was never elected to anything, to recommend appointments to office in the Army or elsewhere. So that point being settled, the question arose as to whether Cohn's telephone calls were excessive.

Secretary Stevens said: "From mid-July of last year until March 1 of this year, David Schine was discussed between one branch or the other of the Department of the Army and Senator McCarthy or members of his staff in more than 65 telephone calls." It was not specified if all the calls were about Schine, but even so, this number may or may not be excessive depending upon one's habits and relationships. Even if calls were made every day, involved are about 225 days, or about one call every four days all told and involving many people.

Personally, I think that many people are developing a disease of telephonitis, which is a nervous reaction rather than a business necessity. When they have nothing better to do, they sit down to a round of telephone calls. On the slightest provocation, they call you away from the dinner table or wake you up too early in the morning.

Granting that Roy Cohn suffers from telephonitis, why did not Robert Stevens tell him to stop bothering him? This, I do not understand. Can anyone imagine some of Mr. Stevens's predecessors, before the defense agencies were amalgamated into the Department of Defense, arguing with a Congressional committee counsel on what to do about a prospective or current private in the Army? I am sure that Henry L. Stimson, or to go back a pace, William Howard Taft, would have shown the young fellow the door and given orders not to accept the calls. There must surely be something wrong with these men who sit behind big desks that they are so easily frightened by the telephone.

That is about all that this case has, up to the moment of writing, established. To repeat, what has been established by the evidence: It is all right to recommend anybody to anything provided the person is qualified, which is a matter of judgment; it is objectionable to do it too impressively, by an unusual number of telephone calls. Four calls per case are not impressive; 65 are impressive even over a seven and a half month period.

Now over such an issue men need not disturb the peace of a nation. As a matter of fact, the prima donna of this televised drama, G. David Schine, disappears among the spear bearers. He went in as a private; he remains a private. He passed high in his basic training but is still disqualified by lack of training. An examination of how some others got their promotions would only lead to further arguments, investigations and hot-rod journalism. So Private Schine will do his time and will probably grow stronger in body and mind for the experience. Meanwhile such important military officials as the Chief of Staff of the Army and other high brass take time off to sit in the audience as a back-drop to Secretary Stevens to watch the show. They must have little to do in that branch of the defense.

President Eisenhower said before the publishers last Thursday night:

". . . If the day comes when personal conflicts are more significant than honest debate on great policy, then the flame of freedom will flicker low indeed."

That is puzzling in the sense that for weeks numerous Republicans engaged in attempts to find roads to understanding, but always the impression developed that the road-block was somewhere in the White House. Who threw it? I do not know.

That Body of Yours

THE FIGHT AGAINST POLIOMYELITIS

I have written several times of how the majority of physicians and surgeons dislike the idea of performing surgical operations at or near the time that epidemics of poliomyelitis are prevalent. It is admitted that when an emergency operation is necessary to save life the operation should be performed. However, where operation can be safely postponed it should be because the chances of developing the bulbar, or paralytic, type of poliomyelitis are much greater the nearer the time of epidemics that operation is done.

In The Journal of the International College of Surgeons, which is highly authoritative, Dr. M. B. Hayes gives us the latest information about tonsils, adenoids and poliomyelitis. Dr. Hayes states that during the summer of 1952, Delaware County, Pa., had a rather severe epidemic of poliomyelitis with 190 cases and 15 deaths in a population of 430,000. This means that one of every 2,300 persons or 44 in 100,000 in Delaware county contracted poliomyelitis.

In the city of Philadelphia, there were reported 161 cases with eight deaths in a population of about two million.

From a survey of the 190 cases, in 161 of which check-ups were made from a review of the literature, Dr. Hayes concludes that there is a predisposition of the patient who has recently had his tonsils removed to contract poliomyelitis and that the bulbar type is two to three times as likely to occur in such patients. For this reason, Dr. Hayes states that he will continue his present policy of refraining from removing tonsils and adenoids within two months of the poliomyelitis season.

"It has been confirmed by countless surveys that in this area the months when most attacks of poliomyelitis occur are August and September but in the epidemic above mentioned, one fifth of the patients were stricken in October."

"An observer of the Department of Public Health of the City of New York states that the safest time for the removal of tonsils and adenoids as far as poliomyelitis is concerned is January, February and March."

Some physicians believe that boys and girls returning to school from their vacations are so tired that they are more readily stricken with polio. They have less strength and resistance.

We are reading much about the methods of successfully fighting poliomyelitis and Dr. Hayes shows that there is great hope that in the near future, by making individuals immune to this dread disease, there will finally be a successful battle against poliomyelitis.

It's Off to Work We Go

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Department of Defense has finally standardized "The Star-Spangled Banner."

It also designated "Hail to the Chief" as the official salute to the President of the United States.

The Navy arrangement of "Oh, Say Can You See—" will be the official one for all service organizations. Up to this time there have been so many arrangements of the national anthem that few bands trying to play in unison could come out together at the end.

How the old Scotch ballad "Hail to the Chief" came to be adopted as the American President's musical salute has always been something of a mystery. But some recent research by the Marine Corps dug up the fact that President John Tyler's second wife, Julia Gardiner, of New York, was responsible.

She had travelled abroad often and noticed all the flourishes and drum rolls given to foreign dignitaries. After she married President Tyler in 1844, she decided that her husband should be given similar treatment.

So she arranged to have the Marine Band play "Hail to the Chief" at White House functions, just before "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played. The custom stuck, and now it's official.

House Republican Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana gave the American Society of Newspaper Editors a good sample of Hoosier corn in defending the Eisenhower record, and they loved him for it.

"I'm like the fellow who said he couldn't make a speech and then proved it," began Halleck. Other samples:

"We've just caught a five-pound bass and if you don't believe it I'll show you the hook. . . . The most important thing about selecting a necktie is the price. . . . I used to make an honest living—practicing law."

The southwestern drouth and dust storms have caused extensive winter wheat crop damage which may relieve wheat storage requirements in that area. Requirements for additional wheat storage facilities in the northern plain states are still acute.

One reason for this is congressional refusal to limit this year's plantings to 55 million acres.

Congress raised the acreage to 62 million. If the law is allowed to stand and acreage is reduced to 55 million for next year's crop, the surplus would be effectively cut down.

If you think the U. S. has changed since you were a boy or girl, you're right. This is the way the Census Bureau analyzes the way jobs have changed in the 40 years between 1910 and 1950:

White collar workers have increased from 21 to 37 per cent.

Farm workers have dropped from 31 to 12 per cent.

Foremen and skilled workmen have gone up from 12 to 14 per cent.

Semiskilled workers have gone up from 15 to 28 per cent.

Common laborers have dropped from 14 to 6 per cent.

And servants have dropped from 7 to only 3 per cent.

Radio Warsaw recently broadcast a report on how the Polish Communist government had been encouraging marriage:

Couples who wish to marry now go to the State Marriage Bureau, which gets the license and arranges with the employer for a three-hour leave of absence in which the ceremony can be performed and the honeymoon can be held.

Bride and bridegroom are then advised on the proper wedding attire, and the bureau lends them the right clothing, if necessary. Extra rations of meat and vodka are issued. The couple then sign up to pay the bill in monthly installments, and it's all over.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been forced to cut back this year's farm programs by about $7 million. This because of a law passed last year which requires every government agency to reimburse the Post Office Department for its "free" mail.

In the first 10½ months of operation under this law, Department of Agriculture sent out 177 million pieces of mail at a cost of over $6 million. Estimates for the full year's operations are 202 million pieces of mail at an average cost of 3½ cents each.

Congress appropriated no money for this postage, but told the department to take it out of other funds.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Geneva, April 29—Realism came into its own here at the Geneva Conference when Secretary of State Dulles presented the facts of international life to the assembled delegates in a speech that will live long in the history of free men.

For the story of the aggression in Korea—too often glossed over or forgotten in an age of materialism, as high principles and idealism are sometimes brushed aside—was told in unequivocal phrases by the American secretary of state. He brought back into the picture the mandate of the United Nations and reminded the world that all nations, including India, had branded North Korea an aggressor and that later the United Nations had by resolution declared Communist China an aggressor, too. No more pointed lesson to appeasers could have been uttered than in these words of Mr. Dulles aimed at those governments which now, in order to get a makeshift peace, would ignore the acts of the aggressors:

"Peace is always easy to achieve—by surrender. Unity is also easy to achieve—by surrender. The hard task, the task that confronts us, is to combine peace and unity with freedom."

Mr. Dulles reminded the delegates that the Korean war provided the first example of "a collective security organization in actual operation." He added: "If this conference is disloyal to the United Nations and its decisions, then each of us will bear a share of the responsibility for destroying what protects us all."

It was important here, where so many side issues have crept in, to put into perspective the faithless position of the Communists. Secretary Dulles minced no words as he accused the Communists of breaking the terms of the armistice agreement by failing to permit a political conference on Korean questions within three months after the truce was signed because they "desired first to consolidate their position in Korea."

Calling attention to the fact that the North Koreans had just proposed that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Korean territory in six months, Mr. Dulles pointed out that the United Nations forces "would have only a few miles to go and they could quickly return," he added:

"Once before we had our troops in Korea and withdrew them, as it turned out, prematurely. We do not want that history to repeat itself."

These are things that had to be said. For unhappily in and around conference circles the defeatism that comes from certain allied quarters is most discouraging. Retreat and surrender, both in Korea and Indochina, are offered as the best way out with little thought given to the damage to the whole principle of collective security in Europe as well as in Asia that could ensue.

Unfortunately both Prime Minister Churchill in London and Prime Minister Menzies in Australia might better have left unsaid at this time that they will not enter into any military commitments in Indochina. Actually, America doesn't want to make any such commitments by itself either. But sooner or later the free governments must assert their readiness to make sacrifices for collective action in southeast Asia, or else see that area conquered by the Communists.

As for Britain, it is not necessary to make any commitments till the outcome of Geneva is known, but it would be fatal for France to pull out of Indo-China now lest the whole French empire begin to crumble. Certainly a withdrawal from Indo-China by a "negotiation" that means surrender can bring a collapse of French power and influence in Tunisia and Morrocco, too. Foreign Minister Bidault fully understands the implications, but it is being said his cabinet may fall. Maybe such an event is necessary to awaken the French people to the fact that partisans in their midst may be unwittingly repeating the catastrophe of 1940, when a fifth column permitted France to be conquered from within. Maybe French pride and patriotism will be aroused against the prospect of reducing France to a third-rate power if she surrenders to "partition" of Indo-China or any of the insidious schemes being advanced here for liquidating French influence in southeast Asia.

If ever a group of faltering allies needed a hypodermic of resoluteness in an hour of great crisis in the world, it was on the occasion of the opening of the conference here this week, and the U. S. Secretary of State furnished it splendidly in a spirit reminiscent of the illustrious President of the United States who 34 years ago envisaged this shrine of collective security at Geneva.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, April 28 — Coming down through Central Park toward dusk, the tall, twinkling mass of the great city reminded me of a modest, gentle, little man who hit town from Pawtucket with a rattan suitcase and designed and supervised a great deal of the fabulous New York skyline. His name was Raymond Hood. He landed in Greenwich Village, where busted artists, writers, architects and all such, as well as a lot of bums of both sexes, were enjoying squalor with a supercilious leer. Ray was impressively good, and his character made a hit with the Moris, pop and mom, who had a big restaurant on Bleecker street. Ray married a beautiful young hat model with a bushel of natural blonde hair and the Moris gave them quarters somewhere on the premises in return for which Ray remodeled the restaurant. He always had a weakness for pranks in his work and at Moris' he built an inside staircase leading to a hidden bar on the second floor which, as I look back on it now, seems to have been an ideal firetrap.

The Moris' specialty was minestrone soup with lots of potatoes and that big, 12-gauge macaroni and when the panic of 1929 hit the Village people would line up outside the kitchen with saucepans and lard-cans and the cooks would dish out the most nourishing concentrate ever known to man. They were very kind people and some clients of their generosity took advantage of them, but mom and pop couldn't bear to think of people going hungry.

Ray finally struck it rich with a design for the Chicago Tribune Tower which won him a big prize and a reputation and led to his friendship with the late Jomp Patterson of the New York News. Ray had to borrow the money for his ticket to Chicago for a big blowout in his honor at the climax of which he was handed his check. Two years ago, John Harris, the contractor and builder, who executed a number of Ray's big jobs, told me that in obedience to the same puckish instinct that produced the hidden barrom Ray drew into the Tribune Tower a mess of ornate but absolutely meaningless architectural novelties up at the top. Some time later, Jomp asked Ray, quick-like, "Ray, what is beauty?" Ray said, "why, utility is beauty." Jomp said "write me a piece about it for Liberty." Ray was stuck with an offhand paradox but he tore into the proposition and gave it a very good going-over for which Jomp paid him $1,000.

A few years later he bled at every pore for that wise-crack when Patterson commissioned him to design a home for him up at Ossining.

Dwelling houses were out of Ray's line and he was knocked for a series of dwindling loops when Jomp said, "remember now; utility is beauty. If anyone says this is a pretty house you won't get a nickel." Ray would chuckle as he told of his battles with Jomp, who wanted the effect of a string of boxcars, wanted the outside dazzle-painted like the ships in World War 1 and, to top that, said, "and make me some new colors."

At Killorglin, County Kerry, England, a goat is crowned king during a three-day fair each year, commemorating the day in ancient times when a goat's bleating warned the village of an approaching army.

Deciding Vote

When Congress tried President Andrew Johnson under impeachment proceedings, 35 senators voted him guilty and 19 not guilty. President Johnson was acquitted because one more vote was needed for the two-thirds majority required to convict.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Village Plans Part In World Exhibit

Woodstock, April 27—Plans to participate in the Woodstocks of the World Exhibit to be held this summer in Woodstock, England, were announced at the first meeting of the season of the Historical Society of Woodstock last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon, secretary of the society, presided at the meeting at her home and read the letter which the society had received early in the month from Dr. A. H. T. Robb-Smith, chairman of the Woodstock (Oxfordshire, England) Chimes Committee, requesting that this village participate in the exhibit.

It stated that the occasion for the exhibition will be the installation of a carillon in Woodstock Church to commemorate the quicentenary of the borough of Woodstock which was celebrated in May, 1953.

The Historical Society of Woodstock voted to contribute a sum of 10 pounds, plus additional donations given by individuals present. It was also agreed to send literature concerning this village, several of the historical society's publications and photographs showing typical village activities, including the annual Library Fair. Other organizations are also being asked to contribute to the project. Woodstock, England, in recognition of this village's sesquicentennial celebration in 1937, sent a gift of a corner stone for the Woodstock Library. This was also the year of the coronation of King George VI.

Mrs. Herman Oxhandler announced that she is completing an article on the effect the late Bullard had on Woodstock during her 20 years as a newspaper editor here. Mrs. Oxhandler's story will be included in the booklet the society proposes to publish within the next year.

The Woodstock group will entertain the Ulster County Historical Society at a joint meeting of the two groups on August 21.

Purchase of Shovel Discussed by Board

Woodstock, April 27—A special meeting of the Woodstock Town Board with Albert Cashdollar, town superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, county superintendent, was held Monday morning for the purpose of considering the requestof Cashdollar that a new power shovel be purchased immediately.

At the meeting both Green and Cashdollar stated that in their opinion it would be uneconomic to spend approximately $5,000 to repair the present power shovel. It was pointed out that the present shovel was 17 years old and was originally purchased in 1927 for $9,000.

Cashdollar informed the board that if a new shovel was purchased now he would be able to raise the grade of many of the town roads which are below creek level. This work could be done this year, according to Cashdollar, within the limits of the present highway budget.

The board advised Cashdollar that before taking any action they would like to receive a written report from him setting forth in detail the work he proposed to do with the shovel this year. They stated that they wanted assurances that such work could be done within the present highway budget. Cashdollar assured the board that such a report would be submitted at an early date.

Rebekahs Initiate Six New Members

Woodstock, April 27—The following new members were initiated at the regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, held Wednesday evening at the Bearsville Lodge Hall: Mrs. Heloise Marquardt, Mrs. Alberta Blazy, Mrs. Caryl Cashdollar, Mrs. Lila Usher, William Lortz, and Arthur Sampson of Olive Rebekah Lodge, Olive Bridge.

In celebration of the 31st anniversary of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, corsages were presented to the two remaining charter members, Mrs. Viola Shultis and Miss Claudia Williams.

There will be a card party May 12, with homemade refreshments.

Guests were present from Kingston, Saugerties, West Saugerties, Highland and Olive Bridge. A covered dish supper was served by the committee of Mrs. Louise Tackella, Mrs. Elsie Ertz, Mrs. Margaret Dircks and Miss Therese Elmer.

To Hold Benefit Sale

Woodstock, April 27—Contributions are being accepted this week, any morning, for the Tinker Street Co-operative Nursery School spring sale of homebaked foods, new clothes, old clothes and miscellaneous articles Saturday, May 1. Articles may be deposited at the art gallery or arrangements may be made to have them picked up by calling Mrs. Paul Perlman, Woodstock 2320.

P-TA Gets Invitation To Health Institute

Woodstock, April 29—The Woodstock Parent-Teachers Association has received a letter from the Ulster County TB and Health Association inviting members to attend the second Mental Health Institute sponsored by the Mental Health Committee. There will be three sessions dealing with psychological training and mental health at the George Washington School at 8 p. m.

The first session Wednesday, April 28, featured a lecture, Understanding Teen-agers, by Dr. Louise Bates Ames, noted lecturer working with Arnold Gesell, who is now working with 10 to 16-year-old age groups at New Haven, at the Gesell Institute at Yale University.

Mental Health and Your Job will be discussed at the second session May 5, by Dr. Harry McNeill, mental health consultant of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, New York.

Dr. Luther Woodward of the State Mental Health Commission of New York will speak June 2 on how to plan for a well-rounded community mental health program.

Registration fee for the lecture series is $1 for all three sessions, and may be paid in advance or at the first meeting April 28. Reservations may be obtained by calling or writing to the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, telephone Kingston 1164.

Village Notes

Woodstock, April 27—Word has been received from Madrid, Spain, from Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner that they have been having a fine trip and expect to return to their home on Glasco Turnpike about May 1.

Mrs. Joseph Wagner is a patient at Benedictine Hospital, having undergone surgery last Friday.

Ethelyn Wilber is at Benedictine Hospital recovering from an illness since Easter Sunday.

Thomas Lindsell returned home last week after four months visiting in Miami and Philadelphia.

Mrs. Elaine Wilber entertained at a party at her home last Saturday night.

Troop Holds Camporee

Woodstock, April 27—The Bald Eagle Patrol of Troop 6, of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, Kingston, held a spring camporee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eighmey of Shady, last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The boys hiked and took advancement tests.

To Paint Town Hall

Woodstock, April 27—The town board is seeking bids for the painting of the town hall. Anyone interested is requested to see Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk, for specifications.

To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Village Plans Part In World Exhibit

Woodstock, April 27—Plans to participate in the Woodstocks of the World Exhibit to be held this summer in Woodstock, England, were announced at the first meeting of the season of the Historical Society of Woodstock last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon, secretary of the society, presided at the meeting at her home and read the letter which the society had received early in the month from Dr. A. H. T. Robb-Smith, chairman of the Woodstock (Oxfordshire, England) Chimes Committee, requesting that this village participate in the exhibit.

It stated that the occasion for the exhibition will be the installation of a carillon in Woodstock Church to commemorate the quicentenary of the borough of Woodstock which was celebrated in May, 1953.

The Historical Society of Woodstock voted to contribute a sum of 10 pounds, plus additional donations given by individuals present. It was also agreed to send literature concerning this village, several of the historical society's publications and photographs showing typical village activities, including the annual Library Fair. Other organizations are also being asked to contribute to the project. Woodstock, England, in recognition of this village's sesquicentennial celebration in 1937, sent a gift of a corner stone for the Woodstock Library. This was also the year of the coronation of King George VI.

Mrs. Herman Oxhandler announced that she is completing an article on the effect the late Bullard had on Woodstock during her 20 years as a newspaper editor here. Mrs. Oxhandler's story will be included in the booklet the society proposes to publish within the next year.

The Woodstock group will entertain the Ulster County Historical Society at a joint meeting of the two groups on August 21.

Purchase of Shovel Discussed by Board

Woodstock, April 27—A special meeting of the Woodstock Town Board with Albert Cashdollar, town superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, county superintendent, was held Monday morning for the purpose of considering the requestof Cashdollar that a new power shovel be purchased immediately.

At the meeting both Green and Cashdollar stated that in their opinion it would be uneconomic to spend approximately $5,000 to repair the present power shovel. It was pointed out that the present shovel was 17 years old and was originally purchased in 1927 for $9,000.

Cashdollar informed the board that if a new shovel was purchased now he would be able to raise the grade of many of the town roads which are below creek level. This work could be done this year, according to Cashdollar, within the limits of the present highway budget.

The board advised Cashdollar that before taking any action they would like to receive a written report from him setting forth in detail the work he proposed to do with the shovel this year. They stated that they wanted assurances that such work could be done within the present highway budget. Cashdollar assured the board that such a report would be submitted at an early date.

Rebekahs Initiate Six New Members

Woodstock, April 27—The following new members were initiated at the regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, held Wednesday evening at the Bearsville Lodge Hall: Mrs. Heloise Marquardt, Mrs. Alberta Blazy, Mrs. Caryl Cashdollar, Mrs. Lila Usher, William Lortz, and Arthur Sampson of Olive Rebekah Lodge, Olive Bridge.

In celebration of the 31st anniversary of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, corsages were presented to the two remaining charter members, Mrs. Viola Shultis and Miss Claudia Williams.

There will be a card party May 12, with homemade refreshments.

Guests were present from Kingston, Saugerties, West Saugerties, Highland and Olive Bridge. A covered dish supper was served by the committee of Mrs. Louise Tackella, Mrs. Elsie Ertz, Mrs. Margaret Dircks and Miss Therese Elmer.

To Hold Benefit Sale

Woodstock, April 27—Contributions are being accepted this week, any morning, for the Tinker Street Co-operative Nursery School spring sale of homebaked foods, new clothes, old clothes and miscellaneous articles Saturday, May 1. Articles may be deposited at the art gallery or arrangements may be made to have them picked up by calling Mrs. Paul Perlman, Woodstock 2320.

P-TA Gets Invitation To Health Institute

Woodstock, April 29—The Woodstock Parent-Teachers Association has received a letter from the Ulster County TB and Health Association inviting members to attend the second Mental Health Institute sponsored by the Mental Health Committee. There will be three sessions dealing with psychological training and mental health at the George Washington School at 8 p. m.

The first session Wednesday, April 28, featured a lecture, Understanding Teen-agers, by Dr. Louise Bates Ames, noted lecturer working with Arnold Gesell, who is now working with 10 to 16-year-old age groups at New Haven, at the Gesell Institute at Yale University.

Mental Health and Your Job will be discussed at the second session May 5, by Dr. Harry McNeill, mental health consultant of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, New York.

Dr. Luther Woodward of the State Mental Health Commission of New York will speak June 2 on how to plan for a well-rounded community mental health program.

Registration fee for the lecture series is $1 for all three sessions, and may be paid in advance or at the first meeting April 28. Reservations may be obtained by calling or writing to the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, telephone Kingston 1164.

Village Notes

Agreement Is Ratified

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The Senate ratified yesterday, 60-16, an international sugar agreement which Russia and Communist Czechoslovakia have given notice they intend to join. United States production and imports are not involved in the agreement made by 22 exporting and 16 importing countries and aimed at keeping world prices between 3.25 and 4.35 cents a pound. Domestic retail prices range around 10 cents. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), urging Senate approval of the treaty, said stability in world sugar prices and supplies is of major importance to Cuba, and other nations which supply the bulk of U. S. imports. This country will be asked to pay about $14,000 of the estimated $112,000 annual costs of administering the treaty.

Personnel Order Given

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—The U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force today ordered its personnel off Tokyo streets Saturday in an apparent effort to avoid any repeat of the Communist-inspired May Day brawls two years ago.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Committee Appoints Director for Summer

New Paltz, April 27—The recreation committee held a meeting recently to appoint a director for the summer program. Due to a misunderstanding the first appointee Joseph Roberge withdrew his application. Appointed in his stead was Francis Connolly. He has chosen as his assistants Gail Parks and Dorothy Rasmussen.

The program must be drawn up and submitted to the state for approval in order to insure state aid for the program. Bills must also be submitted as received and paid.

The committee will seek the presence of Miss Fannie Lawson of the State Youth Commission for the next meeting, date of which has not yet been announced.

Troop at Conference

New Paltz, April 27—The Senior Girl Scout Troop of New Paltz attended a sectional senior conference at Wappingers Falls Saturday. Mrs. John Deeb is the leader of the group, and the assistant leader is Mrs. Stephen Stark. All Girl Scouts and their families are invited to attend an Arbor Day celebration at Camp Wendy Sunday, May 16, from 11:30 to 3.

Births Announced

New Paltz, April 27—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lang are the parents of a son born April 20 at the Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Robert DuBois are the parents of a son born April 21, at Kingston Hospital.

Audio Productions To Produce Series

New Paltz, April 27 — During April and part of May, Audio Productions of New York will be on the campus of the New Paltz State Teachers College producing a series of films on School and Community Health for McGraw-Hill Text Films.

Various homes and parents in the community are being photographed for scenes in some of the films which include Parents Are People, Too, Sniffles and Sneezes, Community Health, Your Body During Adolescence, The Heart, How it Works, Boys and girls in the Campus School and High School are participating as members of classes in the various films.

When finished the films will be available for purchase. They are intended to correlate with the book Health and Safety for You by Diehl and Laton.

Audio Productions produced three films on the New Paltz campus in 1949, Individual Differences, Importance of Goals and Motivating the Class. These films are currently being distributed by McGraw-Hill and have been well received in teacher-training programs.

Erwin Schad is the director for Audio Productions and Donald P. Ely, director of audio-visual education at the college, is liason and educational advisor.

Mrs. Donald Beattie and daughter Donna, Miss Gail Park, and Mrs. Herman Price recently went on a motor tour of the south.

Paltz AA Group Plans Third Anniversary

New Paltz, April 27—The New Paltz group of Alcoholics Anonymous will hold a grand celebration on its third anniversary on Thursday, April 29, at 9 p. m. This meeting is open to the public. Miss Marty Mann, executive secretary of the national committee on alcoholism, will speak, as well as the three usual AA speakers.

Since the work of Alcoholic Anonymous is not too well known by those who do not need their service, it might be interesting to know a little of the history and work of the organization.

Founded by an alcoholic doctor and a friend, they believed that alcoholism is a disease and best fought with that premise. The anonymous idea originated from the desire of persons afflicted to keep the fact known from his business and social associates.

There are 12 steps to guide the alcoholic to "dryness", as they term it. First the alcoholic must admit it to himself. This is the most important point, perhaps. In most cases other cures having failed, the alcoholic has faith in no one and no thing. They are guided to believe in something greater than themselves—call it God or what you will—and their aim is to live 24 hours at a time without turning to alcohol.

The meetings serve two purposes—a social gathering without alcoholic beverage and then three other members tell their stories. These stories help the others realize they are not alone in their struggle. The speakers at this anniversary meeting return for this special event, having been the speakers at the very first meeting of the New Paltz group.

Mrs. Pyle Chosen

New Paltz, April 27—The local League of Women Voters announces that Mrs. Robert Pyle has been chosen to represent the New Paltz group at the twenty-first national convention of the League of the United States which will be held in Denver, Col., April 26-30. Mrs. Pyle was recently elected president of the local league for the coming year.

Library Lists Books

New Paltz, April 27—Miss Jennie Lee Dann, local librarian, announces the library is once more in full operation after having been painted and given a new look. New books are as follows: Fiction: The Cavalier's Cup by Carter, Cress Delehanty by West, Gaudys' Ladies by McMeekin, No Survivors (Custer's Raid) by Henry, Portrait of a Marriage by Buck, Sayonara by Michener, Stay Away, Joe by Cushman, Two If by Sea by Bays. The non-fiction: Ambassador's Report by Bowles, Cheyenne Autumn by Sandez, Colonial Furniture by Wenger and Shea, Painting as a Hobby by Thack, Second Tree From the Corner by White, Secret Diary of Harold E. Ickes by Ickes. The ones for young people: Mr. Revere and I by Lawson, Secret of the Old Books by Anderson, Star Island, by Hall, Welcome Home, Mr. Jordan by Lambert, John Quincy Adams by Weil, U. S. Grant by Stevenson.

It will probably surprise most bridge players to learn that there is such a thing as an "obligatory" false-card. That is, in certain situations, the good player will practically never fail to false-card. One of these situations is shown in today's hand.

West opened the eight of diamonds, and East won with the ace. Seeing that his own suit was hopeless, East shifted to the ten of hearts.

South hopefully played the queen of hearts, but West covered with the king. Declarer had to win with dummy's ace, since there was considerable danger of losing two trumps and a diamond, in which case he certainly couldn't afford to lose a heart trick.

Declarer next led a low trump from the dummy, and East made his "obligatory" false-card. He played the queen of spades instead of the ten.

This false-card couldn't possibly cost him a trick, since East was bound to get two trump tricks later on, even though he had wasted one of his high cards. East wasn't very sure of his reason for making the play, but he hoped it would steer South into error.

The play had its effect on South. It certainly looked to him as though he would lose only one trump trick. He expected to finesse for the queen of diamonds, and could surely expect to ruff one low diamond in the dummy. Hence South could be sure of losing only one diamond trick. South could therefore afford to lose one heart trick.

Having come to this conclusion, South led a club to dummy's king and cashed the ace of clubs in order to discard a heart. He then finessed the jack of diamonds and led a trump towards dummy, confidently expecting to give up only one trump trick.

This gave East the chance to defeat the contract with two spade tricks and a heart. The "obligatory" false-card had paid off.

If East had played the ten of spades on the first round of trumps, South would have seen the danger of losing two trump tricks. Unable to afford the loss of a heart trick, South would have been compelled to finesse dummy's jack of clubs. This finesse would have succeeded, and South would have made his contract.

Contract Signed For New Housing Project in City

Future construction of modern-type, ranch-type and split level homes in the Grandview avenue area of the city was indicated today with the announcement that a contract had been signed for a five-acre parcel of land in that section.

According to an announcement by Krom and Canavan, local real estate brokers, a contract of sale has been signed between Krovan Homes, Inc., of 73 Albany avenue and Joseph Papillo, whereby Krovan Homes will take title to the five-acre parcel in the rear of Grandview avenue at the end of Main street.

The announcement pointed out that work on the project will be delayed until 1955 as the area does not have at present access to city water facilities. However, construction of a new water tower on Pearl street extension is scheduled to get underway sometime this summer which will provide water to the new housing area.

Would Improve Area

The building firm, it was announced, hopes to improve the property with city streets, sidewalks, gutters, water and sewerage and develop about 20 lots on which will be constructed the new homes.

During the balance of this year, Krovan Homes will construct six more homes on its land in Hurley on Greenkill road. Three ranch houses have already been built at this location. Construction of the houses is under the direction of Rahm and Rooney Construction Company and they are built to FHA codes and specifications. Veterans may obtain GI financing on this new construction since homes approved by FHA are automatically accepted by the Veterans Administration for construction. Thirty-year mortgages with a minimum down payment are available for non-vets under an FHA loan.

Krovan Homes also obtained an option on four more acres of the Papillo land in the rear of that which is being acquired for development in 1956. The exclusive selling agent of all Krovan Home constructions is the Krom and Canavan Real Estate and Insurance Agency.

IS SISTER-IN-LAW AN UNLOVING SISTER?

A reader explains: "My husband's sister and her husband who live in an adjoining town dropped in to see us the other evening. When they arrived I had my hat on and was just getting ready to leave for my regular bridge-club meeting. After greeting them, I said that I had to leave and excused myself, and left them to visit with my husband. I understand that they left soon afterwards—my sister-in-law is quite a huff at my having walked out on them—and thinks that I owe her an apology. Will you please give your opinion?"

Answer: If the bridge club was counting on you, you couldn't possibly have stayed home. In my opinion, your sister-in-law certainly should have understood. Furthermore, being left with her brother could hardly have been other than a happy situation.

Ribbon Them In

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to prevent the guests from leaving the church immediately after the ceremony, before the families do? I've seen this happen so often at weddings and it has always annoyed me, and now that I am going to be married myself I would like to know what to do to prevent this.

Answer: This can be prevented by running ribbons in front of the pews. Just before the processional is ready to start, have two ushers run ribbons up the length of the pews and fasten them securely to keep the people from going out into the aisle as you describe, and do not remove them until after the recessional. "Ribbons" can be white tape.

Who Speaks First?

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a girl, when meeting a boy on the street, or while passing in the halls at school, say "Hello" first, or is it the boy's duty to say "Hello" to her?

Answer: According to the rules of etiquette, the girl should speak to the boy first, but in this present day, standing upon any such formalities would be as absurd as for the younger teen-agers to call each other "Miss" or "Mister."

What five assets are necessary to being popular in school? This is one of the many questions answered in a quiz in manners for boys and girls of high-school age. Ask for leaflet E-11. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Ribbon Them In

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to prevent the guests from leaving the church immediately after the ceremony, before the families do? I've seen this happen so often at weddings and it has always annoyed me, and now that I am going to be married myself I would like to know what to do to prevent this.

Answer: This can be prevented by running ribbons in front of the pews, just before the processional is ready to start, have two ushers run ribbons up the length of the pews and fasten them securely to keep the people from going out into the aisle as you describe, and do not remove them until after the recessional. "Ribbons" can be white tape.

Who Speaks First?

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a girl, when meeting a boy on the street, or while passing in the halls at school, say "Hello" first, or is it the boy's duty to say "Hello" to her?

Answer: According to the rules of etiquette, the girl should speak to the boy first, but in this present day, standing upon any such formalities would be as absurd as for the younger teen-agers to call each other "Miss" or "Mister."

Three Open Indictments Are Handed Up by Grand Jury

Three open indictments were returned by the Grand Jury this morning in County Court. All involved charges of forgery, second degree.

There were also five sealed bills filed and six dismissals. Members of the Grand Jury, after making a partial report, will be held in session until the next Grand Jury in the fall but will not be called into session unless an emergency arises.

Robert Lane of Kingston was charged with forgery, second degree, in two counts, alleged to have been committed on March 9, 1954. John Larkin was assigned as counsel and a plea of innocent was entered. Twenty days was granted for further motions and the defendant was remanded to custody of the sheriff.

Jointly Indicted

Joseph Hoag, Jr., 17, of Accord and Raymond Francis Rogers, 22, Kingston, were jointly indicted on a second degree forgery charge, alleged to have been committed on April 3, 1954, and a plea of innocent was entered. John Larkin was assigned as counsel and 20 days was granted for motions. Defendants were remanded. The charge involves a check drawn on a Kingston Bank.

Dismissals were returned in the following cases:

The People vs. Edward B. Haines; rape, second degree.

The People vs. Camille Platzyk, unlawful entry.

The People vs. John J. Stossel, unlawful entry.

The People vs. Robert Frisch, abduction.

The People vs. Shirley Mower, assault, second degree.

The People vs. Darrel Rex Fishback, violation of Sec. 1897, Sub. 4.

Bail in each case was exonerated.

On the call of the criminal calendar, District Attorney Howard C. St. John, set down several cases for disposition on Friday at 11 o'clock and others were moved over to June 7, at 2 p. m., when the April term will be continued.

Lightning Strikes Newburgh Warehouse

A bolt of lightning struck a warehouse of Schoonmaker's Department Store on Front street, Newburgh, at 8:20 p. m., Tuesday, according to a report in the Newburgh News.

The bolt, which struck during a thunderstorm blanketing the area, set fire to the cornice of the southeast corner of the three-story brick and frame structure. Damage was reported confined to the cornice.

County Realtors Attend Regional Meeting Tuesday

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president, headed a delegation of 11 members of the Ulster County Real Estate Board who attended the Lower Hudson District regional conference on real estate problems sponsored by the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards at Bear Mountain Inn on Tuesday.

Other Ulster realtors attending were: George Moore, Harold E. Macholdt, Harold O'Connor, Fred Dircks, Clifford C. Little, Lester Elmendorf, Robert Kershaw, Ethel Cameron, Marion Kirschoff and Marguerite M. Quick.

Principal addresses during the day-long session were given by Andrew Lockwood of Newton, N. J., and Walter S. Dayton of Bayside. Lockwood discussed the effects of high speed highways on real estate values, and Dayton's topic was, A Look Ahead at Real Estate.

Due to Retire

Ft. Monmouth, N. J., April 29 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, Ft. Monmouth commander whose name today is a prominent part of the McCarthy-Army row, is due to retire shortly after his 60th birthday Nov. 3. He said he will step down on Nov. 30, ending a tour of duty in the regular army that began with his commissioning as a second lieutenant in the infantry Aug. 9, 1917.

Card of Thanks

Notices Are Filed

Auburn, April 29 (AP)—The state has filed notices of appeal from an Appellate Court decision that freed 11 convicts from Auburn state prison and may have cleared the way for an undetermined number of other state prisoners to gain their releases. The notices were filed yesterday in the Cayuga county clerk's office by Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein. The 11 convicts were released last Friday by Justice Arthur Blauvelt of State Supreme Court. They had petitioned for freedom on the basis of a finding of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, that a 1949 law limiting certain sentences was retroactive to 1945. The state seeks to reverse that finding. The 11 had been found guilty of charges ranging from third-degree burglary to first-degree robbery. All had been committed to the correction departments' reception center at Elmira, but in each case, the sentencing judge had not specified any length of sentence.

Reports Two Poisoned

London, April 29 (AP)—Scotland Yard experts say two pretty office girls who died Tuesday were poisoned by a sexual stimulant called cantharides—Spanish fly. Arthur Ford, 45, the manager of the drug-making firm where the girls work is in the hospital with symptoms of the same type of poisoning. All three became ill after eating chocolate coconut sherbet bought at a shop near their office. The girls, 19-year-old June Malins and Betty Grant, 27, died at the office before they could be taken to a hospital. Detectives said possibly the substance had been put in the confection as a practical joke by someone not aware it was lethal in anything but minute quantities.

Supply Is Boosted

Newark, N. J., April 29 (AP)—The North Jersey District Water Supply Commission reports that the Wanaque Reservoir water supply has been boosted by 230 million gallons due to recent heavy rains. The Wanaque system, operated by the commission, serves many counties in north Jersey. The commission said yesterday that rainfall this week added to the reservoir's supply. However the supply still is almost 10 billion gallons below the normal for the season.

Emberson Is Fined

Carson Emberson, Jr., 30, of St. Remy, withdrew a plea of innocent just prior to a scheduled jury trial before Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the town of Ulster Wednesday night on a charge of driving while his operator's license was revoked. Entering a plea of guilty, Emberson was fined $75. Attorney Robert M. Ortale appeared for the defendant and Seymour Werbalowsky represented the district attorney's office.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 29 (AP)—The stock market hit a new high for the year today with good gains registered in most major divisions.

The market yesterday as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached a level equal to the April 15 high of the year, and today the market stepped on up into new territory.

At noon, the Associated Press average was at $120.90, highest level in the past 24 years.

President Declares

istration has made a record of accomplishment, or—as he put it—has dilly-dallied along the way.

The Oppenheimer case — the President said he always has had the greatest admiration for Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer from the standpoint of his professional and scientific accomplishments, but that he did not want to say too much about the case while it is under investigation.

Oppenheimer has been suspended as an adviser to the Atomic Energy Commission and barred from access to atomic data pending a hearing on whether he might be a security risk.

Farm program—Eisenhower declined to speculate on whether he might veto a farm bill which would continue mandatory government price supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities. The administration wants to abandon rigid price supports at the end of this year in favor of a flexible program which would permit supports to be fixed according to whether it was desired to encourage or discourage production.

Suggested Consultation

Investigations by Senator Williams (R-Del.)—The President said he had suggested to Williams, when the senator called at the White House earlier this week, that he consult with other departments of the executive branch of the government regarding certain inquiries Williams had in mind. Eisenhower said he has great respect for Williams' quiet way of digging into things.

Williams indicated after a recent White House call that he had talked about federal housing scandals, among other things.

The housing inquiry — Asked why he accepted the resignation of Guy T. O. Hollyday as federal housing administrator, the President replied the whole matter is under investigation with his approval so he feels he should not comment on it at this time.

The administration's legislative program—The President said he has been assured by Republican congressional leaders that the program will be enacted and that work will not be delayed by investigations going on in Congress.

Eisenhower declared, however, that he simply could not exaggerate the importance of his program to the welfare of the country and added that it is most necessary to get it on the law books.

There was no direct reference to the McCarthy-army hearings in connection with his assertion that investigations would not delay his program. At another point, however, the President was told the question had been raised whether Secretary of Defense Wilson had discussed with Eisenhower the matter of alleged preferential treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former consultant to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Eisenhower replied, questioningly, you mean that private?

He added he had never heard of the matter.

Eisenhower was asked for his opinion, as an old soldier, of the privileges which Schine allegedly received.

He replied crisply that he would have nothing to say on that and he hoped the whole investigation would be completed quickly.

Chou Demand May

to segments of every Asian nation.

Chou went further, however, in demanding western scalps than was necessary just to win attention in Ceylon or to further the Communist propaganda line.

The Communists knew that under no circumstances could western officials agree to an Asian blueprint that would leave South Korea, Indochina, Formosa and other territories as prey for Red armies. Nor would the United States agree to eliminating the Far Eastern air bases on which it depends for primary protection in any possible war against Siberia-based Soviet bombers.

If Chou had intended to start legitimate bargaining over Korea and Indochina at Geneva, the Oriental way to do it would have been to limit his policy declaration to sentiments that could be revamped as circumstances dictated without causing him to loose face.

Want to Avoid Munich Idea

But even the wily premier would find it difficult, if at all possible, to make any equal peace now without giving Asia the impression that he was backing down from the first declaration of his position. The Chinese, too, want to avoid the appearance of any Munich.

All these factors would have been considered before the final okay was given to such an important declaration as Chou's speech. By loudly slamming the door on the west, it appears as if Chou has given notice that the Communists will not go out of their way to make peace at Geneva.

At the same time Chou clearly laid down a foundation for the next phase of the Communist campaign—an intensified effort to win the highly important, anti-colonial millions in western Asia.

Chou Is Backed

French said it should be done by field commanders in Indochina; neither side would budge and there the matter rests with no further meetings on schedule.

The Australian diplomat said the dangers of an "over-hasty withdrawal" from Korea "have been all too bitterly demonstrated." He added that "the heavy sacrifices that this has involved must surely preclude the United Nations from agreeing to withdrawals before United Nations interests and objectives are properly safeguarded."

"It may be," Casey declared, "that some United Nations forces will be needed in Korea until a unified and independent government has been democratically established."

Truck Action . . .

tracks to the end of the street. Both would be sanitary sewers.

On request of Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry, the board authorized City Engineer Hallinan to prepare plans and estimates for the diverting of a section of an old sewer in Gill street away from an area that is apparently being undermined.

Alderman Perry's resolution said the sidewalk on the Joseph Amato property, 64 Gill street, is being undermined by the old "limekiln sewer" which runs under it, and the condition was dangerous.

Runs Across Street

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, explained that the old sewer, which was not built by the city, runs diagonally across the street, and the homes there were built long after the sewer was laid.

City Engineer Hallinan said two houses rested on top of the sewer, and evidence above ground indicated the sewer was not in good condition. It was reported affecting properties near it. The engineer suggested it would be economical to by-pass the bad spot through the building of a new section of sewer that would empty back in the old line at another point.

The cost of this project, Hallinan said, would be about $7,000, whereas a complete new project along the street would cost about $25,000. He was instructed to report back on the project at the board's next meeting.

Tour Is Reported

Mayor Stang explained his tour in Massachusetts to study modern street lighting and the board authorized him to arrange with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., for a survey that would give the city a long-range model street lighting plan. The survey will be done without cost to the city.

A new light for Manor Place and one for Florence street extension were approved on recommendation of Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the light committee. The board also approved a change in a light at Washington avenue and North Front street.

Commissioners Kenneth Hyatt, David Schechter and Raymond L. Whitbeck attended. Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy also attended.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury April 27: Balance, $4,929,812,159.10; deposits fiscal year July 1, $55,375,041,112.24; withdrawals fiscal year, $58,419,356,954.59; total debt, (x) $271,113,265,756.08; gold assets, $21,968,000,164.85.

Stevens Queried

direction." He added he was afraid that unfair suspensions would take place.

Desired Fairness

If there were any doubt about employes, Stevens said, he wanted them out, but he said he emphasized that he wanted the security program conducted in a fair way and not just on the basis of "meager or almost non-existent information."

The secretary said that, with that background in mind, he might have talked with Adams and had him call Lawton, but he reiterated that he did not recall such a conversation.

Stevens testified that between January and March of this year, the army had "weeded out" 170 individuals as security risks where there had been a "loyalty connotation."

The secretary gave this as "tangible evidence" of the army's activity against Communist influence or infiltration. It was in reply to an inquiry by Sen. Dirksen (R.-Ill.).

Declines Rest

Stevens, obviously weary after five and a half days of questioning, declined a suggestion by Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.) to rest from the "strain of this ordeal."

Welch said the secretary would proceed but he also asked "some assurance" from Sen. McCarthy that there would be no "prolonged examination" when McCarthy's turn came.

McCarthy replied it was "impossible to say," and "frankly I don't know."

Each senator is limited to 10 minutes of examination at one time, but there is no limit on the number of times each may have.

Tighter Program Predicted

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) predicted today the Senate Banking Committee will "sharply tighten up" the program of government loans for home repairs rather than liberalize it as President Eisenhower asked. Capehart called a closed meeting of the committee, which he heads, to chart the future course of an inquiry into "irregularities in the housing program. Following that, the group arranged to hear Norman P. Mason, acting commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) since April 12, when the White House disclosed the irregularities.

Two Quakes Recorded

Berkeley, Calif., April 29 (AP)—Two "strong" earthquakes, apparently centered off the west coast of Mexico, were recorded early today on American seismographs. Assistant seismologist Don Tocher of the University of California located the center in the Gulf of California, perhaps off Guaymas or Mazatlan. The first shock, recorded in Berkeley at 5:52.18 (EST) was "very strong," Tocher said and the second "even stronger." The second recording, intertwined with the first, began at 6:37.22 a. m. (EST). The recordings lasted for four hours.

dent's declaration that he would not intervene in Indochina without congressional approval."

He told the House yesterday he could see no objection to his proposal and said it could not "be construed in any way as reflecting weakness of the United States or undermining our negotiators at Geneva."

But Chairman Taber (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee termed the proposal "ridiculous" and predicted its defeat.

He said "it would be a sign of weakness that would get us into war by tipping off our hand to the Russians."

Taber predicted the big money measure would pass without major changes. It is $1,206,348,500 less than President Eisenhower requested, but some of the cuts were volunteered by the armed services.

Three Open Indictments Are Handed Up by Grand Jury

Three open indictments were returned by the Grand Jury this morning in County Court. All involved charges of forgery, second degree.

There were also five sealed bills filed and six dismissals. Members of the Grand Jury, after making a partial report, will be held in session until the next Grand Jury in the fall but will not be called into session unless an emergency arises.

Robert Lane of Kingston was charged with forgery, second degree, in two counts, alleged to have been committed on March 9, 1954. John Larkin was assigned as counsel and a plea of innocent was entered. Twenty days was granted for further motions and the defendant was remanded to custody of the sheriff.

Jointly Indicted

Joseph Hoag, Jr., 17, of Accord and Raymond Francis Rogers, 22, Kingston, were jointly indicted on a second degree forgery charge, alleged to have been committed on April 3, 1954, and a plea of innocent was entered. John Larkin was assigned as counsel and 20 days was granted for motions. Defendants were remanded. The charge involves a check drawn on a Kingston Bank.

Dismissals were returned in the following cases:

The People vs. Edward B. Haines; rape, second degree.

The People vs. Camille Platzyk, unlawful entry.

The People vs. John J. Stossel, unlawful entry.

The People vs. Robert Frisch, abduction.

The People vs. Shirley Mower, assault, second degree.

The People vs. Darrel Rex Fishback, violation of Sec. 1897, Sub. 4.

Bail in each case was exonerated.

On the call of the criminal calendar, District Attorney Howard C. St. John, set down several cases for disposition on Friday at 11 o'clock and others were moved over to June 7, at 2 p. m., when the April term will be continued.

Lightning Strikes Newburgh Warehouse

A bolt of lightning struck a warehouse of Schoonmaker's Department Store on Front street, Newburgh, at 8:20 p. m., Tuesday, according to a report in the Newburgh News.

The bolt, which struck during a thunderstorm blanketing the area, set fire to the cornice of the southeast corner of the three-story brick and frame structure. Damage was reported confined to the cornice.

County Realtors Attend Regional Meeting Tuesday

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president, headed a delegation of 11 members of the Ulster County Real Estate Board who attended the Lower Hudson District regional conference on real estate problems sponsored by the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards at Bear Mountain Inn on Tuesday.

Other Ulster realtors attending were: George Moore, Harold E. Macholdt, Harold O'Connor, Fred Dircks, Clifford C. Little, Lester Elmendorf, Robert Kershaw, Ethel Cameron, Marion Kirschoff and Marguerite M. Quick.

Principal addresses during the day-long session were given by Andrew Lockwood of Newton, N. J., and Walter S. Dayton of Bayside. Lockwood discussed the effects of high speed highways on real estate values, and Dayton's topic was, A Look Ahead at Real Estate.

Due to Retire

Ft. Monmouth, N. J., April 29 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, Ft. Monmouth commander whose name today is a prominent part of the McCarthy-Army row, is due to retire shortly after his 60th birthday Nov. 3. He said he will step down on Nov. 30, ending a tour of duty in the regular army that began with his commissioning as a second lieutenant in the infantry Aug. 9, 1917.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness shown me during the illness and at the time of the death of my husband, Serenus Countryman.

Reports Two Poisoned

London, April 29 (AP)—Scotland Yard experts say two pretty office girls who died Tuesday were poisoned by a sexual stimulant called cantharides—Spanish fly. Arthur Ford, 45, the manager of the drug-making firm where the girls work is in the hospital with symptoms of the same type of poisoning. All three became ill after eating chocolate coconut sherbet bought at a shop near their office. The girls, 19-year-old June Malins and Betty Grant, 27, died at the office before they could be taken to a hospital. Detectives said possibly the substance had been put in the confection as a practical joke by someone not aware it was lethal in anything but minute quantities.

Supply Is Boosted

Newark, N. J., April 29 (AP)—The North Jersey District Water Supply Commission reports that the Wanaque Reservoir water supply has been boosted by 230 million gallons due to recent heavy rains. The Wanaque system, operated by the commission, serves many counties in north Jersey. The commission said yesterday that rainfall this week added to the reservoir's supply. However the supply still is almost 10 billion gallons below the normal for the season.

Emberson Is Fined

Carson Emberson, Jr., 30, of St. Remy, withdrew a plea of innocent just prior to a scheduled jury trial before Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the town of Ulster Wednesday night on a charge of driving while his operator's license was revoked. Entering a plea of guilty, Emberson was fined $75. Attorney Robert M. Ortale appeared for the defendant and Seymour Werbalowsky represented the district attorney's office.

President Declares

istration has made a record of accomplishment, or—as he put it—has dilly-dallied along the way.

The Oppenheimer case — the President said he always has had the greatest admiration for Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer from the standpoint of his professional and scientific accomplishments, but that he did not want to say too much about the case while it is under investigation.

Oppenheimer has been suspended as an adviser to the Atomic Energy Commission and barred from access to atomic data pending a hearing on whether he might be a security risk.

Farm program—Eisenhower declined to speculate on whether he might veto a farm bill which would continue mandatory government price supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities. The administration wants to abandon rigid price supports at the end of this year in favor of a flexible program which would permit supports to be fixed according to whether it was desired to encourage or discourage production.

Suggested Consultation

Investigations by Senator Williams (R-Del.)—The President said he had suggested to Williams, when the senator called at the White House earlier this week, that he consult with other departments of the executive branch of the government regarding certain inquiries Williams had in mind. Eisenhower said he has great respect for Williams' quiet way of digging into things.

Williams indicated after a recent White House call that he had talked about federal housing scandals, among other things.

The housing inquiry — Asked why he accepted the resignation of Guy T. O. Hollyday as federal housing administrator, the President replied the whole matter is under investigation with his approval so he feels he should not comment on it at this time.

The administration's legislative program—The President said he has been assured by Republican congressional leaders that the program will be enacted and that work will not be delayed by investigations going on in Congress.

Eisenhower declared, however, that he simply could not exaggerate the importance of his program to the welfare of the country and added that it is most necessary to get it on the law books.

There was no direct reference to the McCarthy-army hearings in connection with his assertion that investigations would not delay his program. At another point, however, the President was told the question had been raised whether Secretary of Defense Wilson had discussed with Eisenhower the matter of alleged preferential treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former consultant to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Eisenhower replied, questioningly, you mean that private?

He added he had never heard of the matter.

Eisenhower was asked for his opinion, as an old soldier, of the privileges which Schine allegedly received.

He replied crisply that he would have nothing to say on that and he hoped the whole investigation would be completed quickly.

Chou Demand May

to segments of every Asian nation.

Chou went further, however, in demanding western scalps than was necessary just to win attention in Ceylon or to further the Communist propaganda line.

The Communists knew that under no circumstances could western officials agree to an Asian blueprint that would leave South Korea, Indochina, Formosa and other territories as prey for Red armies. Nor would the United States agree to eliminating the Far Eastern air bases on which it depends for primary protection in any possible war against Siberia-based Soviet bombers.

If Chou had intended to start legitimate bargaining over Korea and Indochina at Geneva, the Oriental way to do it would have been to limit his policy declaration to sentiments that could be revamped as circumstances dictated without causing him to loose face.

Want to Avoid Munich Idea

But even the wily premier would find it difficult, if at all possible, to make any equal peace now without giving Asia the impression that he was backing down from the first declaration of his position. The Chinese, too, want to avoid the appearance of any Munich.

All these factors would have been considered before the final okay was given to such an important declaration as Chou's speech. By loudly slamming the door on the west, it appears as if Chou has given notice that the Communists will not go out of their way to make peace at Geneva.

At the same time Chou clearly laid down a foundation for the next phase of the Communist campaign—an intensified effort to win the highly important, anti-colonial millions in western Asia.

Chou Is Backed

French said it should be done by field commanders in Indochina; neither side would budge and there the matter rests with no further meetings on schedule.

The Australian diplomat said the dangers of an "over-hasty withdrawal" from Korea "have been all too bitterly demonstrated." He added that "the heavy sacrifices that this has involved must surely preclude the United Nations from agreeing to withdrawals before United Nations interests and objectives are properly safeguarded."

"It may be," Casey declared, "that some United Nations forces will be needed in Korea until a unified and independent government has been democratically established."

Truck Action . . .

tracks to the end of the street. Both would be sanitary sewers.

On request of Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry, the board authorized City Engineer Hallinan to prepare plans and estimates for the diverting of a section of an old sewer in Gill street away from an area that is apparently being undermined.

Alderman Perry's resolution said the sidewalk on the Joseph Amato property, 64 Gill street, is being undermined by the old "limekiln sewer" which runs under it, and the condition was dangerous.

Runs Across Street

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, explained that the old sewer, which was not built by the city, runs diagonally across the street, and the homes there were built long after the sewer was laid.

City Engineer Hallinan said two houses rested on top of the sewer, and evidence above ground indicated the sewer was not in good condition. It was reported affecting properties near it. The engineer suggested it would be economical to by-pass the bad spot through the building of a new section of sewer that would empty back in the old line at another point.

The cost of this project, Hallinan said, would be about $7,000, whereas a complete new project along the street would cost about $25,000. He was instructed to report back on the project at the board's next meeting.

Tour Is Reported

Mayor Stang explained his tour in Massachusetts to study modern street lighting and the board authorized him to arrange with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., for a survey that would give the city a long-range model street lighting plan. The survey will be done without cost to the city.

A new light for Manor Place and one for Florence street extension were approved on recommendation of Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the light committee. The board also approved a change in a light at Washington avenue and North Front street.

Commissioners Kenneth Hyatt, David Schechter and Raymond L. Whitbeck attended. Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy also attended.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury April 27: Balance, $4,929,812,159.10; deposits fiscal year July 1, $55,375,041,112.24; withdrawals fiscal year, $58,419,356,954.59; total debt, (x) $271,113,265,756.08; gold assets, $21,968,000,164.85.

(x) Includes $554,623,869.63 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Stevens Queried

direction." He added he was afraid that unfair suspensions would take place.

Desired Fairness

If there were any doubt about employes, Stevens said, he wanted them out, but he said he emphasized that he wanted the security program conducted in a fair way and not just on the basis of "meager or almost non-existent information."

The secretary said that, with that background in mind, he might have talked with Adams and had him call Lawton, but he reiterated that he did not recall such a conversation.

Stevens testified that between January and March of this year, the army had "weeded out" 170 individuals as security risks where there had been a "loyalty connotation."

The secretary gave this as "tangible evidence" of the army's activity against Communist influence or infiltration. It was in reply to an inquiry by Sen. Dirksen (R.-Ill.).

Declines Rest

Stevens, obviously weary after five and a half days of questioning, declined a suggestion by Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.) to rest from the "strain of this ordeal."

Welch said the secretary would proceed but he also asked "some assurance" from Sen. McCarthy that there would be no "prolonged examination" when McCarthy's turn came.

McCarthy replied it was "impossible to say," and "frankly I don't know."

Each senator is limited to 10 minutes of examination at one time, but there is no limit on the number of times each may have.

Tighter Program Predicted

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) predicted today the Senate Banking Committee will "sharply tighten up" the program of government loans for home repairs rather than liberalize it as President Eisenhower asked. Capehart called a closed meeting of the committee, which he heads, to chart the future course of an inquiry into "irregularities in the housing program. Following that, the group arranged to hear Norman P. Mason, acting commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) since April 12, when the White House disclosed the irregularities.

Two Quakes Recorded

Berkeley, Calif., April 29 (AP)—Two "strong" earthquakes, apparently centered off the west coast of Mexico, were recorded early today on American seismographs. Assistant seismologist Don Tocher of the University of California located the center in the Gulf of California, perhaps off Guaymas or Mazatlan. The first shock, recorded in Berkeley at 5:52.18 (EST) was "very strong," Tocher said and the second "even stronger." The second recording, intertwined with the first, began at 6:37.22 a. m. (EST). The recordings lasted for four hours.

dent's declaration that he would not intervene in Indochina without congressional approval."

He told the House yesterday he could see no objection to his proposal and said it could not "be construed in any way as reflecting weakness of the United States or undermining our negotiators at Geneva."

But Chairman Taber (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee termed the proposal "ridiculous" and predicted its defeat.

He said "it would be a sign of weakness that would get us into war by tipping off our hand to the Russians."

Taber predicted the big money measure would pass without major changes. It is $1,206,348,500 less than President Eisenhower requested, but some of the cuts were volunteered by the armed services.

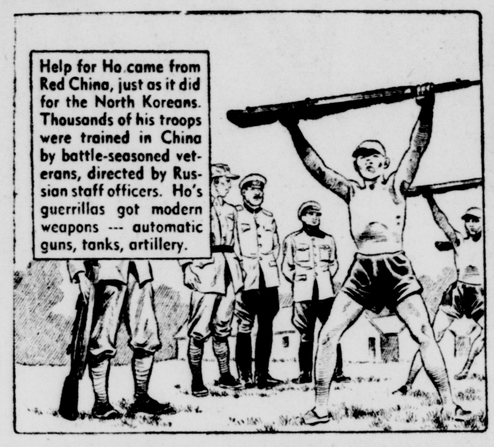
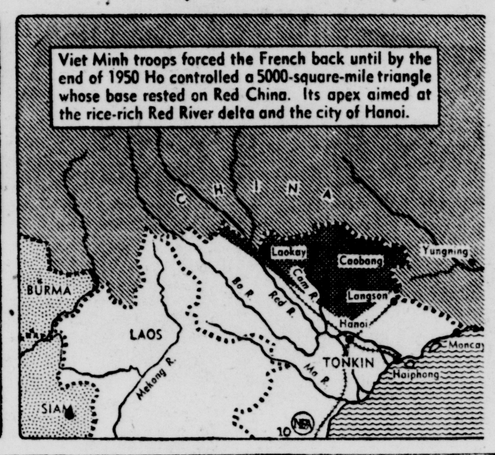
INDO-CHINA — The World's Oldest War (10) — By Walter Parkes and Ralph Lane





Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Housewives will find a good assortment of meats on the list of specials in the nation's food stores this weekend. Favorites: Beef, chicken, veal and lamb.

Generally, meat prices will be down a bit from a week ago, reflecting slight declines in wholesale prices. In the case of pork, however, prices are still so high that only rarely will you find it among the weekend features.

By and large, retail beef prices are at the same levels as a year ago, although wholesale prices are slightly higher. There are plenty of steers available, however, which means good eating at reasonable prices for a long time to come.

Among beef cuts mentioned as features for the weekend were boneless chuck pot roast, round bone shoulder roast, steaks, and rib roast. Price reductions will range up to eight cents.

Among Specials

Stewing and frying chickens will be among the specials in a good number of stores. The average price cut will be around two cents a pound. The poultry and egg national board reported that last week 15,454,000 broiler chicks were placed in brooder houses, largest number so far this year. They'll be ready for eating in 10 to 12 weeks.

Some markets will trim prices on legs and rumps of veal, rated as one of the best of the current buys. Leg of lamb prices also will be down in some stores.

Onion prices have shown some improvement in the wholesale markets, but that vegetable remains high on the list of good buys. Also recommended: Old crop potatoes, spinach, celery, asparagus, radishes, escarole and romaine and big Boston lettuce.

Long White Potatoes

The first California long white potatoes showed up in eastern markets this week, and from Florida came the season's first domestic watermelons. Elsewhere in the vegetable division, cabbage, beans, peppers, tomatoes and corn moved higher. Produce men noted that the quality of beans and peppers is improving.

Strawberries were nominated as the best buy in fruits this week. Louisiana is shipping a lot of them and Carolina berries also are moving north. The first from California are expected in the east early next week.

Citrus fruit prices went up this week, but many stores will feature Florida Valencias at special prices.

Her 'Mother's Day'

Anna M. Jarvis started the Mothers' Day observance in Grafton, W. Va., on the second anniversary of her own mother's death, May 9, 1907, by gathering a few friends at her home for a memorial service.

Colorado produced 3¼ million tons of toal in 1953.

TB Committees Named for Meeting At Clinton May 26

The 45th annual meeting of the Ulster County TB and Health Association will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on May 26 following a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Robert W. Osborn, executive secretary of the state committee on TB and public health and assistant secretary of the State Charities Aid Association will be the guest of honor and speaker.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, president, has appointed the following committees for the annual meeting.

Nominations—Vernon Barnhart, Stone Ridge, chairman; Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley; Herbert Thomas; Mrs. Raymond Morris, New Paltz.

Auditing — Charles Snyder; H. Van Wyck Darrow.

Budget — Alfred D. Ronder, chairman; Mrs. Joseph Deegan; Harry S. Ensign; Sam N. Mann.

Arrangements — Robert Russell, Saugerties; Mrs. Stephen Huben, Rosendale; Mrs. Dorothy Hocmer, Ellenville.

All members of the Ulster County TB and Health Association are invited to attend this meeting.

Numbers Are Stressed

Albany, April 29 (AP)—The state motor vehicle commissioner, mindful of Gov. Dewey's campaign for compulsory automobile liability insurance, today began stressing the number of uninsured drivers involved in accidents. Commissioner James R. Macduff reported that the licenses of 6,509 New York drivers who had been suspended last month under the state's financial responsibility law, after the motorists had been in accidents. Macduff emphasized that the motorists apparently were uninsured.

Rosendale

Rosendale, April 28—A food sale sponsored by Rosendale Grange will take place May 8, at the town clerk's office on Main street.

According to a recent announcement by Louis Mastro, commander of Rosendale-Tillson Post, American Legion, 10 new members have joined the post since the start of the current membership drive April 1. The post has reached 156 per cent of its quota, and expects to be in the lead, percentage wise of all posts in Ulster county by the end of next month. At the meeting of the village board this month, a number of members of the local post requested the road be fixed leading to their new quarters, and the board promised to lay a crushed stone road as soon as possible. Dedication of the new building is expected to take place on May 31, at which time many local, state and national officers of the legion will be present. Nomination of officers of the post for the coming term will be held at the May 6 meeting. All members are urged to attend. A petition from the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communistic China to the United Nations, presented by the Americanism Committee, was signed by all members present at the last legion meeting.

An inch of water on an acre of surface is 27,154 gallons.

AMERICAN MENU

Worry-Proof Cheese Souffle Goes Well With Cold Meats

CHEESE SOUFFLE RING, filled with peas and mushrooms, is an ideal dish for a meatless meal. Goes well with cold cuts, too.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When you have sliced cold meat or cold cuts to serve, you can fill out your menu with a tender cheese-souffle ring filled with canned peas and mushrooms or use the souffle for a meatless dinner.

Just try these tricks, and don't be worried about the souffle. Grease the ring mold very well. Set it in a shallow pan of hot water for baking. Eat the souffle the moment it comes out of the oven.

Cheese-Souffle Ring
(4 servings)

Three tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1½ cups grated American cheese, 3 eggs, separted, ½ teaspoon Tabasco, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 1-pound can peas, 1 2-ounce can mushrooms, 2 tablespoons diced pimiento, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter or margarine; add flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.

Add cheese and stir over low heat until melted.

Remove from heat and cool slightly. Beat in egg yolks one at a time; add Tabasco and salt.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in cheese mixture. Turn into a well-greased 5-cup ring mold. Set in shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes. Carefully loosen souffle from sides of mold with paring knife. Invert on platter.

While souffle is baking, drain peas and mushrooms. Cook liquid until evaporated to 1/3 cup.

Add peas, mushrooms, pimiento, butter, salt and pepper. Heat to serving temperature. Fill center of souffle ring.

Pier Accident Suit Settled

New York, April 29 (Special)—A settlement was announced here Wednesday of a $25,000 Federal Court suit filed against the C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Co., Inc., of Kingston as the result of a pier accident in Kingston on April 13, 1949.

The settlement of the suit, which had been filed by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Jacques of Chicago, was reached at a pre-trial hearing before Judge Edward Weinfeld in New York Federal Court. The terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

According to the complaint, the Chicago woman fractured her right leg when she fell to the Kingston pier while descending from a private cruiser the "Stella Polaris," owned by the Hiltebrant company. The descent was made on an allegedly defective "make-shift" ladder.

The Jacques had been inspecting the boat for possible purchase. They charged the Kingston firm with negligence and full responsibility for the accident.

Real Chinatown Dinner in a Can!

A balanced one-dish meal you yourself can just heat and serve at home in five minutes rivaling the magic, delicate, creations of the most famous Chinese chefs is now available in a can, fully prepared! Highly nutritious, La Chop chop suey, for example, contains five vegetables and 10 ingredients and is available on grocers' shelves everywhere, fully prepared, ready to heat and eat. It comes in either meatless, beef or chicken and all you housewives have to do is serve the heated contents over La Chop chow mein noodles or cooked rice and season to taste with La Choy sauce. The meatless chop suey is especially tasty served with canned sea food such as tuna, shrimp or lobster or when served with left-over beef, pork, chicken, turkey or veal. Furthermore, these delicious, "something different," foods can be served with the full assurance that justice is being done to the food budget as well as the health and welfare of the family.

There are various interesting menu suggestions for a real Chinatown dinner at home. Your favorite tossed salad or a pineapple or cottage cheese salad goes hand in hand with chop suey or chow mein. Incidentally, the only difference between chop suey and chow mein is that chop suey is served with rice and chow mein with the fried noodles, which are usually called chow mein noodles.

Chicken-rice soup or mushroom soup makes a good hot appetizer. Shrimp cocktail or tomato juice also go well with chop suey if a cold appetizer is desired. For relishes, serve celery hearts or stuffed celery, ripe olives, radishes or your favorite pickles.

Air Force Band To Lead Marchers

Saugerties, April 28—The Air Force Band from Stewart Field Air Base near Newburgh has accepted an invitation from Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to march and play in the Loyalty Day parade scheduled Saturday.

Commander Bernard E. McCutcheon, who is also co-chairman of the Loyalty Day program announced that negotiations have been in progress for quite some time. The band has received special permission to play without compensation from the Musicians Protective Union, Local 215 of Kingston.

Commander McCutcheon said that the organizations from Saugerties and the other neighboring communities which will parade on Saturday number well over 25.

The parade will begin at 2 p. m., and will form in upper Ulster avenue near the Saugerties railroad station.

Cub Pack 38 Enjoys Entertainment Program

Saugerties, April 28—With the continuance of activities of Cub Pack 38 the first meeting was held Monday evening at the Saugerties Reformed Church.

The meeting of the pack, sponsored by the Reformed Church, brought out a small group of parents, leaders and scouting officials. A large table was on display showing the work that had been done during the last month. The larger part of the display featured the theme of the month, Oil.

The program for the evening consisted of two films showings entitled, H-2-0 a film on conservation and dude ranching. One of the den dads, Jack O. Pakenan, served as projectionist.

Due to the absence of John M. Robbins, cubmaster an informal meeting was held in which different phases of cub scouting were discussed.

Local Game Club Names Boy for Camp

Saugerties, April 28—The Saugerties Fish and Game Club at its regular meeting Monday evening designated Robert King as the boy chosen to represent the club at the De Bruce Conservation Camp.

The boy was drawn from the junior membership of the club and he will spend a week at camp during the July vacation as a guest of the local game club.

The meeting held at the R. A. Snyder Fire Company rooms also heard a report by Carlton B. King in regard to the shrub planting which the club has undertaken to provide added cover and food for game in the Saugerties area. King reported that with the help of a group of Boy Scouts the shrubs were planted in the Mt. Marion area. Shrubs planted in other areas were not reported on at this meeting.

Report on Trout Stocking Submitted

In the absence of Warren H. Knaust, W. Burt Pettinger, secretary of the organization gave a report on the trout stocking accomplished in the local streams on April 17. Knaust in charge of the stocking project will report in detail at the next meeting.

The organization voted to have the secretary write a letter to Supervisor Peter Williams asking for his help in curbing the burning of brush in the town. Many brush fires destroying valuable cover and food for game have been in evidence lately. The organization is asking for the supervisor's cooperation in taking some form of action to stop the practice of starting brush fires and allowing them to get out of hand.

The program for the evening was supplied by Artcraft Camera Shop and consisted of a film showing sponsored by Esso. The supject was a color film of Maryland. Richard L. Melius, president of the organization presided at the business meeting. Refreshments were served.

Had No Can Opener

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 29 (AP)—A Tennessee hitch-hiker told police last night he spent a hungry 28 hours locked in a truck trailer loaded with canned goods. The young man without a can opener, Carl Henley, 24, of Tracy City, Tenn., was released after driver John Dolan, 33, of Marysville, Pa., heard his cries as he checked the tires on the trailer. Henry was held on a loitering charge for a record check. He told police he had been drinking and broke into the trailer near Harrisburg, Pa., to get out of the rain. The door locked on him and he was unable to make himself heard until the stop at Fort Wayne.

Johnson Is Killed

Fairland, Md., April 29 (AP)—Robert W. Johnson, 33-year-old son of famed pitcher Walter Johnson, was killed last night when the car in which he was riding left the road near here and rammed a fence. He and three companions were returning from Bowie race track when the accident occurred. The others were hurt slightly.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Here we are caught in another tangling web of internationalism. How we shall get out with a whole skin in unforseeable as this is written. But we do know that another conference of foreign ministers is being held where international dealings and explosive decisions may alter all planned political patterns.

Once again events will control men's actions. Once again the common people whom the politicians love to play up to but mostly look down upon—once again we the people will crowd the sidelines while a handful of competing jugglers will toss their pet projects in the air hoping to outdo their opponents in tricky deception.

The irony of these political gatherings is that the people who will be affected—perhaps numbers obliterated—have nothing to say about them. However, this is one of the philosophical puzzles of society and we'd better not try to solve it here! Nevertheless, we can be more cynical and less starry-eyed when we read the reports and propaganda which are fed to us. We can look for the horse-trading that is going on behind the barn. I don't know about you, but the Ruminator finds more and more that "being contrary" is about the most comforting philosophy one can have these days. When Prime Minister So-and-So issues a statement, or makes a speech, ask yourself: "Does this fellow mean the opposite of what he is saying?"

You see, the unfortunate part of the double-dealing which has become an international chess game is the way it makes all plans and programs so much waste paper.

Take for example the carefully worked out budget and finance plans of this present administration. The plans had to be formulated upon some basis — upon some judgment of conditions as they were likely to prevail. And don't overlook that it takes a tremendous amount of time to work out plans and programs of a government that is running a business running into sixty to seventy billions annually that is in debt some two hundred and seventy-five billion dollars! This is such a gigantic undertaking that the budget details and figuring alone consumes hundreds upon hundreds of pages.

Well — what happened? The slide rules and the calculating machines went to work after the basic conditions had been forecast.

And the basic conditions were predicted to be this: A "bettering" not a worsening Cold War. World conditions would cool off and become less war-like; we in the United States would gradually shift from a war economy to a peace economy.

So what happens? Indo-China flares up and we begin to read that "the United States cannot stand by and see all southeast Asia go to the Communists." Then a little later—time being allowed for public opinion to digest the changed situation—we're told that "it may be necessary to send troops to Indo-China." Fears are aroused that the intervention of Red China in the Indo-China war would be a real menace to world peace—yet in the same breath we're told that American planes and American pilots are flying war goods into the war zone. (One does not require too much intelligence to realize that Red China doubtless looks upon our help as intervention also).

In consequence of the changed outlook, naturally the plans and programs do not fit.

To show how these things get twisted around when the basic outlook shifts, take a look at the government's financing program. A year ago the hope and plans (and the promises of the Administration) were to stretch out the federal debt and to get away from so much short-term financing which is likely to be inflationary. (Inflationary because this type of financing is subscribed to heavily by the banks; and when the banks buy government bonds and notes it adds to "bank money," and expands credit.)

One longer-term bond was tried, but the rise in interest rates immediately caused concern as "money tightened" and fears of a deflation and slump spread. At about the same time, the international outlook worsened. So we find ourselves today fully returned to an "easy money" program. Government borrowing is again on a short-term basis, with interest rates falling back to levels of the New-Deal days.

These are examples of what the Ruminator means when he talks about events controlling men's actions and plans. So long as we are engulfed in international dealings we cannot rule our own destinies. Our destiny is ruled by what happens in world events.

How Well Do You Know Kingston?

Less Than 30 Denied

Washington, April 29 (AP)—"Less than 30" scientists have been denied U. S. Public Health Service research grants on subversion or disloyalty grounds since June 1952, a health-education-welfare department spokesman said last night. The spokesman said this was only a handful compared with the total number of grants, which he estimated average 14,000 a year and amounted to about 40 million dollars in the fiscal year ending last June 30. Applications for the funds are passed on by a health service committee composed of specialists in the scientific field involved, then by a semi-governmental advisory council, and finally by the surgeon general. The spokesman said no applicant is investigated unless there is "substantial evidence" that his loyalty is in doubt.

Deeds Recorded

The following deeds have recently been filed in the office of the county clerk:

Guiseppe Curti and wife and Alfredo Mogavero and wife of Brooklyn to Guiseppe Curti and wife of Brooklyn, land in town of Marlborough. Consideration $10.

Guiseppe Curti and wife and another of Brooklyn to Alfredo Mogavero and wife of Brooklyn, land in town of Marlborough. Consideration $10.

William H. Cox and wife to Frank Mongillo of Glasco, land in town of Ulster. Consideration $1.

Robert W. Cole and wife of town of Marlborough to C. Andrew Knapp and wife of Marlborough, land on Hudson street, Marlborough. Consideration $10.

County Treasurer to Alfred Redwood of Accord, land at Whitfield. Consideration $22.29.

John J. McCardle and wife of Lake Katrine to Harvey L. Streeter and wife of R 3, Saugerties. Consideration $1.

The eggs of different species of birds hatch after brooding times varying from 12 or 13 days to eight weeks.

Idleness Total Reported

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Strikes caused 452,000 man-days of idleness in New York state during the first quarter of 1954, 350,000 less than in the corresponding period last year. Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi reported yesterday that the New York city longshoremen's strike was responsible for 45 per cent of the man-days lost this year. Corsi said that there had been 81 strikes involving 37,300 workers this year, compared with 116 strikes affecting 46,700 in the first three months of 1953.

300 Attend Mental Series

An estimated 300 persons attended the first in a series of mental health institutes sponsored by the Mental Health Sub-committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association at the George Washington School on Wednesday night.

The speaker was Dr. Louis Bates Ames, co-founder of the Gesell Institute of Child Development, and co-author of the books, First Five Years, Infant and Child Culture of Today, and The Child from Five to Ten.

Outlining the various moods experienced by children as they grow through their teens, Dr. Ames advised parents not to attempt to "fight" teen-age "craze" at its height, but rather to "guide it."

Outlines Legislation

Also at Wednesday night's institute, Dr. Edward F. Shea, committee chairman, outlined provisions of the state legislation to provide assistance for community mental health services. He urged those present to study the legislation, and consider it carefully before the referendum next fall.

The second in the series of three institutes scheduled will be held at the George Washington School on Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p. m. The speaker will be Dr. Harry McNeill, mental health consultant, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, New York Division. His topic will be: Mental Health and Your Job.

Japanese Greet Emperor Hirohito

Tokyo, April 29 (AP) — Ninety thousand Japanese swarmed around the imperial palace today to shout "banzai" to Emperor Hirohito on his 53rd birthday.

Eight hundred police, reinforced by 3,000 members of the imperial household staff, were on hand to prevent a recurrence of the tragic crush which killed 16 persons on New Year's Day. Those victims were trampled when a tremendous crowd surged across a narrow bridge to catch a glimpse of the emperor.

Hirohito appeared on a specially built platform outside the palace six times today to greet his shouting, singing subjects.

A 24-hour strike which halted Japan's major transportation systems cut the number of pilgrims and many of the thousands outside the palace had walked many miles to extend best wishes to the emperor.

Conn. Man . . .

the state showed a "radioactive province" in the Hudson and Housatonic highlands, a belt it said extended from Bear mountain to Cornwall Bridge, Conn.

The Times-Union said that Chalmers had filed his first six claims with the State Department as early as Sept. 15, 1953, but that the discovery had not been publicized because of "legal complications arising from the military nature of the property and from consideration of national security."

Chalmers Not Available

Greenwich, Conn., April 29 (AP) — Edward Chalmers was not available to newspaper men who sought today to question him concerning his reported uranium strike.

Counsel for the 44-year-old former fishing reel manufacturer and mechanic, George W. Hurlbutt said his client, disturbed by a flood of telephone calls had gone "into the field for the day."

Hurlbutt described Chalmers as "a person who shuns publicity and has become disturbed by the telephone calls he has received" since the story of his reported find was broken in Albany, N. Y.

A woman who answered the telephone at Chalmers' home in the Glendale section of this town, but who did not identify herself, told a newsman he was not at home.

Hurlbutt added that his client was unlikely to have any statement until after the legal aspects of his claims have been settled by the New York State Land Board—"probably next Wednesday."

The lawyer said he knew "very little" about the details himself.

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Here we are caught in another tangling web of internationalism. How we shall get out with a whole skin in unforseeable as this is written. But we do know that another conference of foreign ministers is being held where international dealings and explosive decisions may alter all planned political patterns.

Once again events will control men's actions. Once again the common people whom the politicians love to play up to but mostly look down upon—once again we the people will crowd the sidelines while a handful of competing jugglers will toss their pet projects in the air hoping to outdo their opponents in tricky deception.

The irony of these political gatherings is that the people who will be affected—perhaps numbers obliterated—have nothing to say about them. However, this is one of the philosophical puzzles of society and we'd better not try to solve it here! Nevertheless, we can be more cynical and less starry-eyed when we read the reports and propaganda which are fed to us. We can look for the horse-trading that is going on behind the barn. I don't know about you, but the Ruminator finds more and more that "being contrary" is about the most comforting philosophy one can have these days. When Prime Minister So-and-So issues a statement, or makes a speech, ask yourself: "Does this fellow mean the opposite of what he is saying?"

You see, the unfortunate part of the double-dealing which has become an international chess game is the way it makes all plans and programs so much waste paper.

Take for example the carefully worked out budget and finance plans of this present administration. The plans had to be formulated upon some basis — upon some judgment of conditions as they were likely to prevail. And don't overlook that it takes a tremendous amount of time to work out plans and programs of a government that is running a business running into sixty to seventy billions annually that is in debt some two hundred and seventy-five billion dollars! This is such a gigantic undertaking that the budget details and figuring alone consumes hundreds upon hundreds of pages.

Well — what happened? The slide rules and the calculating machines went to work after the basic conditions had been forecast.

And the basic conditions were predicted to be this: A "bettering" not a worsening Cold War. World conditions would cool off and become less war-like; we in the United States would gradually shift from a war economy to a peace economy.

So what happens? Indo-China flares up and we begin to read that "the United States cannot stand by and see all southeast Asia go to the Communists." Then a little later—time being allowed for public opinion to digest the changed situation—we're told that "it may be necessary to send troops to Indo-China." Fears are aroused that the intervention of Red China in the Indo-China war would be a real menace to world peace—yet in the same breath we're told that American planes and American pilots are flying war goods into the war zone. (One does not require too much intelligence to realize that Red China doubtless looks upon our help as intervention also).

In consequence of the changed outlook, naturally the plans and programs do not fit.

To show how these things get twisted around when the basic outlook shifts, take a look at the government's financing program. A year ago the hope and plans (and the promises of the Administration) were to stretch out the federal debt and to get away from so much short-term financing which is likely to be inflationary. (Inflationary because this type of financing is subscribed to heavily by the banks; and when the banks buy government bonds and notes it adds to "bank money," and expands credit.)

One longer-term bond was tried, but the rise in interest rates immediately caused concern as "money tightened" and fears of a deflation and slump spread. At about the same time, the international outlook worsened. So we find ourselves today fully returned to an "easy money" program. Government borrowing is again on a short-term basis, with interest rates falling back to levels of the New-Deal days.

These are examples of what the Ruminator means when he talks about events controlling men's actions and plans. So long as we are engulfed in international dealings we cannot rule our own destinies. Our destiny is ruled by what happens in world events.

Less Than 30 Denied

Washington, April 29 (AP)—"Less than 30" scientists have been denied U. S. Public Health Service research grants on subversion or disloyalty grounds since June 1952, a health-education-welfare department spokesman said last night. The spokesman said this was only a handful compared with the total number of grants, which he estimated average 14,000 a year and amounted to about 40 million dollars in the fiscal year ending last June 30. Applications for the funds are passed on by a health service committee composed of specialists in the scientific field involved, then by a semi-governmental advisory council, and finally by the surgeon general. The spokesman said no applicant is investigated unless there is "substantial evidence" that his loyalty is in doubt.

The eggs of different species of birds hatch after brooding times varying from 12 or 13 days to eight weeks.

Idleness Total Reported

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Strikes caused 452,000 man-days of idleness in New York state during the first quarter of 1954, 350,000 less than in the corresponding period last year. Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi reported yesterday that the New York city longshoremen's strike was responsible for 45 per cent of the man-days lost this year. Corsi said that there had been 81 strikes involving 37,300 workers this year, compared with 116 strikes affecting 46,700 in the first three months of 1953.

Joe Laurie Dies; Was Ill Long Time

New York, April 29 (AP)—Joe Laurie, Jr., 61, one of vaudeville's last great comedians, died today in St. Clare's Hospital after a lengthy illness.

He had been in semi-retirement for some years, during which he devoted himself to chronicling the history of the American entertainment world during the past half century.

Laurie was one of the first "greats" of the show world to venture into radio as an important new entertainment medium, and for years participated on a network program "Can You Top This?"

Several years ago he teamed with Abel Green, editor of Variety Magazine, in writing "Show Biz," an account of the American amusement industry from vaudeville to video. Later he compiled a volume of classic vaudeville sketches.

Laurie entered the hospital some weeks ago, suffering from a complication of internal disorder that required a large number of blood transfusions.

Born in New York

Laurie was born in New York city, Feb. 24, 1893, the son of Joseph and Theresa Laurie.

By 1909 he was widely known in show business as a member of the vaudeville team of Laurie and Bronson. He was later featured or starred in such Broadway musical comedies and dramas as "The Gingham Girl," "Weather Clear, Track Fast" and "Swing Your Lady."

Laurie wrote movie scenarios for such films as "Union Depot," developed radio and television sketches for Eddie Cantor and other stars, wrote columns for the Chicago Literary Times and Variety.

Active in many theatrical clubs in charities, Laurie had been a member of the Lambs since 1929. At his summer home on Fire Island, variety entertainers frequently gathered to develop routines of new acts.

Laurie married Nellie Butcher of Boston, Mass., in 1922.

Costello Luxuries Focus of Attention

New York, April 29 (AP)—The fancy motor cars, Tiffany jewels, theatre tickets and floral bouquets that were in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Costello between 1946 and 1949 provided the focus of attention in yesterday's session of the gambler's income tax evasion trial.

A parade of tradesmen, accountants and clerks was called to the witness stand by government attorneys to substantiate a claim that Costello forgot to pay $73,437 taxes in the four years.

Put into evidence was even a letter thanking the big time gaming operator for giving New York's legal aid society a contribution of $50 in 1946. Defense attorneys earlier had sought to show Costello was a generous contributor to charities during the years in question, and several receipts for sizable gifts have been introduced.

Legal Aid Donation

Referring to the legal aid donation, Defense Attorney Leo C. Fennelly noted that Whitney North Seymour, Sr., the father of one member of the present prosecution staff, was head of the society in 1946.

From the day's witnesses these examples of Costello expenses were recorded:

Purchase of Cadillacs in 1936 for $4,468 and in 1941 for $2,596, service and insurance on a 1948 Cadillac.

$1,187 by Mrs. Costello for dry cleaning between '47 and '49.

$236.70 by Costello for theatre tickets in 1949.

$178.77 by Mrs. Costello at a florist shop between '44 and '49.

HighlandReducing Class Signs Up 54

Fifty-four people attended the first session of the Streamline Special, the weight reduction class being held at Highland Central School under the sponsorship of the heart committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

At the first meeting purposes and plans for future classes were outlined by Mary Mossman, health education assistant, who explained that the heart committee in promoting the weight reduction course is combating fad dieting, unbalanced diets short-cut methods of reducing. The class is designed as an educational weight reduction program in cooperation with the family physician. Emphasis will be upon nutrition as it is well known that in most cases "it's what we eat that makes us fat." The importance of well-balanced meals will be stressed with emphasis upon quantity of fruits, vegetables, milk, meat, eggs and fish in the diet.

After appointment of a general chairman and group leaders, the film Obesity was shown. The problem of fat formation and overweight were discussed in small discussion groups.

May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Highland Central School, Mrs. Doris Gaerhart, director of the Diary Council of the Mid-Hudson area will speak on You Still Have to Eat, the nutritional aspects of weight reduction.

Russia Buys in Britain

London, April 29 (AP)—Russia has placed "firm orders" for goods costing 30 to 40 million pounds (84 to 112 million dollars) in Britain since Jan. 1, Sir Greville S. Maginness, president of the Russo-British Chamber of Commerce, said today. He said the orders include some "substantial" ones for trawlers, textile machinery, machine tools, diesel generators and other electrical equipment, rolling mill plant and milk bottling machinery.

Wheat stem sawfly caused a loss of $17,200,000 to farmers in Montana and North Dakota in 1952.

Man Says Hotels Should Act Only For Outgoing Calls

Albany, April 29 (AP)—A consulting engineer maintains that hotels should charge their guests for telephone service only on the basis of outgoing calls.

C. B. Benson of New York city made that proposal yesterday at the Public Service Commission's continuing hearing on the New York Telephone Co.'s bid for a $68,850,000-a-year rate increase. The hearing was to continue today (9 a. m., EST).

The engineer was questioned before Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy on the petitions of the New York State Hotel Assn. and the Hotel Assn. of New York City Inc. to increase hotel telephone fees.

The hotel groups want to raise from 16 to 22 cents the charge for an outgoing local call, and they seek permission to charge 24 cents should the telephone company be granted the 10 per cent rate boost.

The hotels would increase toll charges proportionately.

The hotels' case was presented last March 31 when John Cummings, a consulting engineer from Boston, argued that hotels were losing money in handling phone calls at present rates.

New York Telephone says it needs the rate boost to meet increased operating costs and attract capital for expansion. The utility proposes increasing rates for most home phones by 75 cents a month and for most business phones by $2 a month.

Project to Be Expanded

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today a toy making and repair project carried on in 26 hospitals and involving more than 3,100 patients is to be materially expanded for next Christmas. Already, he said, the patients, usually long-term mental, tubercular or other chronic cases, have turned out some 30,000 toys for distribution to needy and orphans. Local organizations provide discarded toys for repair or the materials for making new toys and then distribute the finished toys.

VA said that in the treatment of the seriously sick, the program is "of incalculable value."

The average female lives about four and one half years longer than the average male.

300 Attend Mental Series

An estimated 300 persons attended the first in a series of mental health institutes sponsored by the Mental Health Sub-committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association at the George Washington School on Wednesday night.

The speaker was Dr. Louis Bates Ames, co-founder of the Gesell Institute of Child Development, and co-author of the books, First Five Years, Infant and Child Culture of Today, and The Child from Five to Ten.

Outlining the various moods experienced by children as they grow through their teens, Dr. Ames advised parents not to attempt to "fight" teen-age "craze" at its height, but rather to "guide it."

Outlines Legislation

Also at Wednesday night's institute, Dr. Edward F. Shea, committee chairman, outlined provisions of the state legislation to provide assistance for community mental health services. He urged those present to study the legislation, and consider it carefully before the referendum next fall.

The second in the series of three institutes scheduled will be held at the George Washington School on Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p. m. The speaker will be Dr. Harry McNeill, mental health consultant, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, New York Division. His topic will be: Mental Health and Your Job.

Japanese Greet Emperor Hirohito

Tokyo, April 29 (AP) — Ninety thousand Japanese swarmed around the imperial palace today to shout "banzai" to Emperor Hirohito on his 53rd birthday.

Eight hundred police, reinforced by 3,000 members of the imperial household staff, were on hand to prevent a recurrence of the tragic crush which killed 16 persons on New Year's Day. Those victims were trampled when a tremendous crowd surged across a narrow bridge to catch a glimpse of the emperor.

Hirohito appeared on a specially built platform outside the palace six times today to greet his shouting, singing subjects.

A 24-hour strike which halted Japan's major transportation systems cut the number of pilgrims and many of the thousands outside the palace had walked many miles to extend best wishes to the emperor.

The Times-Union said that Chalmers had filed his first six claims with the State Department as early as Sept. 15, 1953, but that the discovery had not been publicized because of "legal complications arising from the military nature of the property and from consideration of national security."

Chalmers Not Available

Greenwich, Conn., April 29 (AP) — Edward Chalmers was not available to newspaper men who sought today to question him concerning his reported uranium strike.

Counsel for the 44-year-old former fishing reel manufacturer and mechanic, George W. Hurlbutt said his client, disturbed by a flood of telephone calls had gone "into the field for the day."

Hurlbutt described Chalmers as "a person who shuns publicity and has become disturbed by the telephone calls he has received" since the story of his reported find was broken in Albany, N. Y.

A woman who answered the telephone at Chalmers' home in the Glendale section of this town, but who did not identify herself, told a newsman he was not at home.

Hurlbutt added that his client was unlikely to have any statement until after the legal aspects of his claims have been settled by the New York State Land Board—"probably next Wednesday."

The lawyer said he knew "very little" about the details himself.

O'Brien Introduces Bill

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Rep. O'Brien (D-N.Y.) has introduced a bill, identical to the one passed by the 1954 New York Legislature, roviding for a code of "fair play" for congressional investigations. The measure, filed yesterday, would prohibit one-man hearings, forbid making public any testimony taken at a closed hearing except by majority action of the committee and allow witnesses advice of counsel.

Freedom of the press

In some courts, judges will not permit news photographers to operate in any part of the courthouse. In another, a judge permitted a TV station to make sound films during some trials. Precisely what is the right of the newspapers—and therefore the public—regarding the photographic reporting of court proceedings? Here are the highlights of current answers to this question—and a report of some notable showdowns.

(By The Associated Press)

Should the newsman now be permitted to use a camera as well as a pencil in reporting news from the courtroom?

Is the general public—in its historic right to know what takes place in the courts—entitled to a photographic as well as a verbal account?

Or does picture taking interfere with the court's dignity and deprive the defendant of a fair trial—a trial free from undue distractions and influence?

These questions are being answered in different ways these days by courts and newspapers.

Notable Showdowns

They don't always see eye to eye, and the disagreement is bringing some notable showdowns.

Closely allied with the newspapers are radio and television interests, which are pretty much in the same boat concerning court coverage.

And as this new aspect of court coverage has come to the fore of late, older problems have continued to occupy the press.

It has ceased never to battle with one of the profession's oldest problems—that of obtaining and publishing the fullest account possible of all matters of public business.

There has been a great deal of progress on this front, including passage of laws forcing boards of municipal and state commissions to hold open meetings.

As for courtroom photography, broadcasts and television, the focal point is what is known as canon 35 of the code of judicial ethics of the American Bar Assn.

Canon Agreed Upon

The canon was agreed upon back in pre-TV 1937 by the membership of the associalton, with which most lawyers are affiliated.

Specifically, the canon stated that the taking of photographs in courtrooms, either during court sessions or while the court is in recess, should not be permitted. Broadcasts from the courtroom likewise were opposed.

The Bar Association expressed belief that such activities "detract from the essential dignity of the proceedings, degrade the court and create misconceptions with respect thereto in the minds of the public."

Two years ago, as a result of the growth of television, it, too, was included in the ban with radio and photographs.

The Bar Association itself has no legal connection with the courts of this country, and its canons are in no way binding upon them.

However, it is in general the guiding light for court conduct, since its views are formulated and approved only after long and careful study by leading jurists.

Some judges have gone even further than canon 35, barring news photographers from any part of courthouse premises.

Permission for Films

In contrast, an Oklahoma City TV station got permission to make sound films during some trials.

Between these two extremes, courts in recent months have defined in various ways what may and may not be done.

Meanwhile, the general ban on courtroom photography itself has been drawing more and more opposition, including test incidents resigned to show that pictures can be made without disturbance to the courts.

One noteworthy case occurred recently in Cleveland.

Last August, Cleveland Press Reporter James Thomas took a picture in common pleas court at the arraignment of a former probate judge on embezzlement charges.

The common pleas judge, Joseph H. Silbert, cited the photographer for contempt along with City Editor Louis Clifford, who had ordered the picture taken, and Reporter Sam Giaimo.

The city editor was sentenced to one hour in the custody of the sheriff and fined $500. The reporter was given a $100 fine, and the photographer got a suspended sentence.

Wheen the matter was carried to the Court of Appeals, it upheld the sentences.

Was Within Rights

It ruled that Judge Silbert was well within his rights in prohibiting pictures. It said one of a judge's duties is to insure that there are no untoward distractions, even in a routine judicial proceeding not taking place before a jury.

The press then announced it would take the case to the Ohio Supreme Court. Said Editor Louis B. Seltzer:

"It is our basic argument . . . that photographic science has made picture taking in a courtroom . . . essentially no different than a reporter covering a trial with his pad and pencil."

An extreme application of canon 35 took place at Greensburg, Pa.

County judges there banned photographers from any part of the courthouse premises during the murder trial of John Wesley Wable, accused of Bizarre slayings on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Newspaper and photographers' associations protested without success. The Greensburg Tribune-Review took the matter to higher courts in a test subsequently joined by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Ban Modified

A federal judge modified the ban to permit pictures in courthouse corridors with permission of the subjects. This proved of little help, and so far there has been no decision settling the basic question.

Meanwhile in Colcrado, a combined newspaper-radio attack on Canon 35 has produced a long and lively series of incidents.

The Denver Post reported that Denver newspapers were making considerable headway with a local pictures-in-court program, demonstrating that they could be taken unnoticed.

However, Bar Association opposition finally led Denver judges to adopt the rule against pictures and broadcasts.

The next day, a challenge came from radio station KGMC of suburban Englewood.

R. B. McAlister, co-owner of the station, and an engineer made a tape recording in Denver District Court as Judge Edward C. Day sentenced a murderer to be executed.

In Courtroom Doorway

McAlister held the microphone in a courtroom doorway. The tape recorder itself was in the hallway outside. The judge was unaware of what was taking place.

Shortly afterward, the recording was broadcast by the radio station, and the Bar Association announced it would seek to have the station cited for contempt.

Later, however, the bar group recommended to Judge Day that no action be taken.

The newspaper campaign will be continued, though the next move has not been determined.

Said Ed Dooley, managing editor of the Post:

"Modern courtroom photography with concealed cameras is an extension of the reporter and his pencil in fulfilling the people's right to know what is going on in their courts."

The Oklahoma City case appeared to represent the widest latitude yet given courtroom photography.

Camera Installed

WKY-TV was permitted to install a motion picture camera in an enclosed booth in the courtroom. The lens poked through a small opening and no special lighting was used. Microphones were placed so as not to disturb proceedings.

Judge A. P. Van Meter expressed this view:

"Too often what is said or shown about courts is not a true portrayal. If television can present courts as they actually function, this should be a real public service."

Other recent actions around the country:

Washington, D. C.—The Justice Department told U. S. marshals not to interfere with cameramen photographing prisoners anywhere outside federal courthouses. Inside, they will abide by any rules laid down by the federal judges presiding in each place.

ILLINOIS — Chicago radio and TV men have been fighting for rights to broadcast and televise Chicago City council sessions. Thus far the council has agreed only to decide cases as they come up.

NEW YORK — A picture ban imposed by a State Commission probing harness racing scandals was ignored by Newsday, a newspaper published in suburban Garden City. The paper felt the ban was illegal.

For two days a Newsday photographer snapped away with a small camera concealed in a book, and no one knew it until another photographer tipped off the commission.

The commission then ejected the photographer and impounded his camera.

But the newspaper already had a number of pictures, which it published. It later served a writ of replevin to recover the camera.

UTAH — The Utah District Judges' Assn. adopted a resolution recommending that the Utah State Bar and Supreme Court reexamine the codes prohibiting pictures in court.

WASHINGTON—The state continuing study committee of the Associated Press newspapers is working on the problem. Futher moves will be mapped May 13 and 14 at the annual seminar of the University of Washington and allied daily newspapers of Washington.

OHIO—In January, the State Supreme Court adopted the canon prohibiting courtroom photography and broadcasting during court sessions. It placed no restrictions on other times.

Adoption of the canon had been advocated by the State Bar Assn., and opposed by some press representatives. Later, some papers editorially expressed views that the court decision was a wise one, saying the dignity of the court was protected while full news coverage still was permitted.

MINNESOTA — A press-radio committee is working with committees from the state judges' and bar associations in an effort to modify Canon 35.

30 Cannons in Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, April 29 (AP)—The U. S. Army disclosed today that it now has 30 of its giant 280 millimeter atomic cannons in Germany.

But Mayor Says No

Los Angeles, April 29 (AP)—A retired telegraph clerk has asked Mayor Norris Poulson to help finance his real life saga of the Egg and I. Harry Reade, 65, wrote the mayor that a pigeon couple has set up housekeeping in his room and produced one egg. "Since I am not inclined to disturb or frustrate the act of God," he wrote, "I was therefore compelled to relinquish my room and pay again rent for still another room." With novel legal logic, Reade contends that since the city protects the birds against shooting, the city actually owns them. Thus since city property has forced him to rent another room, he states, the city should accept the financial responsibility, until after the egg is hached. Accompanying Reade's letter was a rent receipt for $35. At city hall, a secretary for the mayor said the reply to Reade commends his consideration for the pigeons, but states that the mayor does not feel the city is responsible for the birds moving in on him.

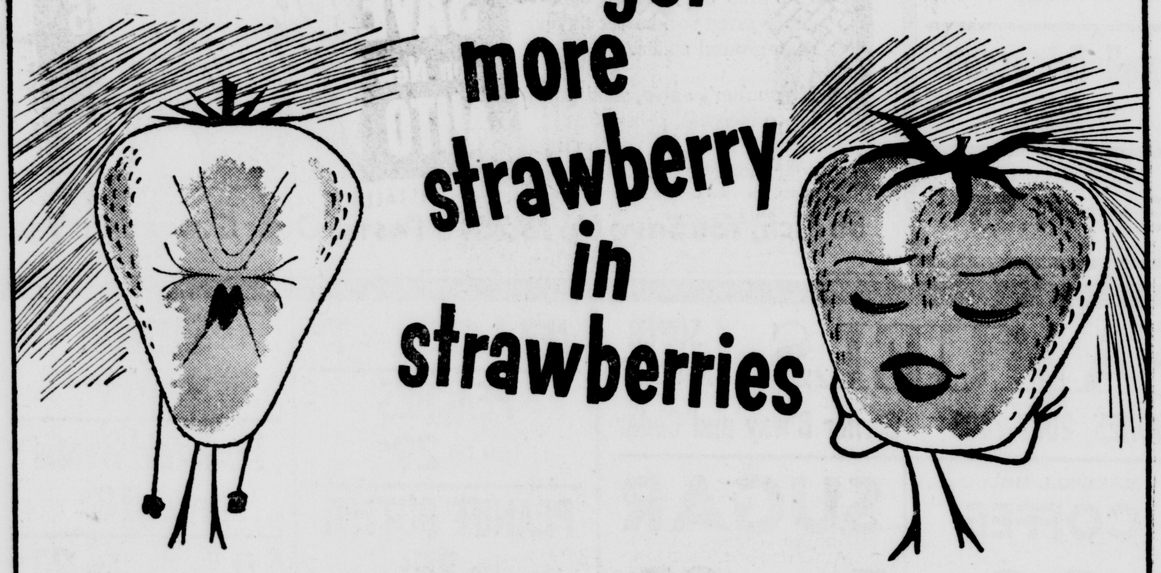
how to get more strawberry in strawberries



TOO-SOONERS

That wondrous and heavenly flavor beloved by millions is slow in arriving in a strawberry—doesn't really get there until that berry is mellow with sunshine and ruby-red with ripeness. Pick a strawberry a few days too soon and what have you? Something so tart it will make you wince and wish you'd bought bananas.

JUST-RIGHTERS

Strawberries destined for a Dulany package are watched by eagle eyes until they've become crowded with delectable flavor—their cheeks literally bulging out with red-ripe and juicy goodness. Then they're quickly plucked and plopped into the flavor-capturing quick-freeze. That's why Dulany strawberries taste the most strawberry of all strawberries.

and now you know strawberries.

Joe Laurie Dies; Was Ill Long Time

New York, April 29 (AP)—Joe Laurie, Jr., 61, one of vaudeville's last great comedians, died today in St. Clare's Hospital after a lengthy illness.

He had been in semi-retirement for some years, during which he devoted himself to chronicling the history of the American entertainment world during the past half century.

Laurie was one of the first "greats" of the show world to venture into radio as an important new entertainment medium, and for years participated on a network program "Can You Top This?"

Several years ago he teamed with Abel Green, editor of Variety Magazine, in writing "Show Biz," an account of the American amusement industry from vaudeville to video. Later he compiled a volume of classic vaudeville sketches.

Laurie entered the hospital some weeks ago, suffering from a complication of internal disorder that required a large number of blood transfusions.

Born in New York

Laurie was born in New York city, Feb. 24, 1893, the son of Joseph and Theresa Laurie.

By 1909 he was widely known in show business as a member of the vaudeville team of Laurie and Bronson. He was later featured or starred in such Broadway musical comedies and dramas as "The Gingham Girl," "Weather Clear, Track Fast" and "Swing Your Lady."

Laurie wrote movie scenarios for such films as "Union Depot," developed radio and television sketches for Eddie Cantor and other stars, wrote columns for the Chicago Literary Times and Variety.

Active in many theatrical clubs in charities, Laurie had been a member of the Lambs since 1929. At his summer home on Fire Island, variety entertainers frequently gathered to develop routines of new acts.

Laurie married Nellie Butcher of Boston, Mass., in 1922.

Costello Luxuries Focus of Attention

New York, April 29 (AP)—The fancy motor cars, Tiffany jewels, theatre tickets and floral bouquets that were in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Costello between 1946 and 1949 provided the focus of attention in yesterday's session of the gambler's income tax evasion trial.

A parade of tradesmen, accountants and clerks was called to the witness stand by government attorneys to substantiate a claim that Costello forgot to pay $73,437 taxes in the four years.

Put into evidence was even a letter thanking the big time gaming operator for giving New York's legal aid society a contribution of $50 in 1946. Defense attorneys earlier had sought to show Costello was a generous contributor to charities during the years in question, and several receipts for sizable gifts have been introduced.

Legal Aid Donation

Referring to the legal aid donation, Defense Attorney Leo C. Fennelly noted that Whitney North Seymour, Sr., the father of one member of the present prosecution staff, was head of the society in 1946.

From the day's witnesses these examples of Costello expenses were recorded:

Purchase of Cadillacs in 1936 for $4,468 and in 1941 for $2,596, service and insurance on a 1948 Cadillac.

$1,187 by Mrs. Costello for dry cleaning between '47 and '49.

$1,087.61 by Mrs. Costello at Tiffany's for jewelry in 1946, 1947 and 1949.

$236.70 by Costello for theatre tickets in 1949.

$178.77 by Mrs. Costello at a florist shop between '44 and '49.

HighlandReducing Class Signs Up 54

Fifty-four people attended the first session of the Streamline Special, the weight reduction class being held at Highland Central School under the sponsorship of the heart committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

At the first meeting purposes and plans for future classes were outlined by Mary Mossman, health education assistant, who explained that the heart committee in promoting the weight reduction course is combating fad dieting, unbalanced diets short-cut methods of reducing. The class is designed as an educational weight reduction program in cooperation with the family physician. Emphasis will be upon nutrition as it is well known that in most cases "it's what we eat that makes us fat." The importance of well-balanced meals will be stressed with emphasis upon quantity of fruits, vegetables, milk, meat, eggs and fish in the diet.

After appointment of a general chairman and group leaders, the film Obesity was shown. The problem of fat formation and overweight were discussed in small discussion groups.

May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Highland Central School, Mrs. Doris Gaerhart, director of the Diary Council of the Mid-Hudson area will speak on You Still Have to Eat, the nutritional aspects of weight reduction.

Russia Buys in Britain

London, April 29 (AP)—Russia has placed "firm orders" for goods costing 30 to 40 million pounds (84 to 112 million dollars) in Britain since Jan. 1, Sir Greville S. Maginness, president of the Russo-British Chamber of Commerce, said today. He said the orders include some "substantial" ones for trawlers, textile machinery, machine tools, diesel generators and other electrical equipment, rolling mill plant and milk bottling machinery.

Wheat stem sawfly caused a loss of $17,200,000 to farmers in Montana and North Dakota in 1952.

Man Says Hotels Should Act Only For Outgoing Calls

Albany, April 29 (AP)—A consulting engineer maintains that hotels should charge their guests for telephone service only on the basis of outgoing calls.

C. B. Benson of New York city made that proposal yesterday at the Public Service Commission's continuing hearing on the New York Telephone Co.'s bid for a $68,850,000-a-year rate increase. The hearing was to continue today (9 a. m., EST).

The engineer was questioned before Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy on the petitions of the New York State Hotel Assn. and the Hotel Assn. of New York City Inc. to increase hotel telephone fees.

The hotel groups want to raise from 16 to 22 cents the charge for an outgoing local call, and they seek permission to charge 24 cents should the telephone company be granted the 10 per cent rate boost.

The hotels would increase toll charges proportionately.

The hotels' case was presented last March 31 when John Cummings, a consulting engineer from Boston, argued that hotels were losing money in handling phone calls at present rates.

New York Telephone says it needs the rate boost to meet increased operating costs and attract capital for expansion. The utility proposes increasing rates for most home phones by 75 cents a month and for most business phones by $2 a month.

Project to Be Expanded

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today a toy making and repair project carried on in 26 hospitals and involving more than 3,100 patients is to be materially expanded for next Christmas. Already, he said, the patients, usually long-term mental, tubercular or other chronic cases, have turned out some 30,000 toys for distribution to needy and orphans. Local organizations provide discarded toys for repair or the materials for making new toys and then distribute the finished toys. VA said that in the treatment of the seriously sick, the program is "of incalculable value."

The average female lives about four and one half years longer than the average male.

COUNTY COURT, ULSTER COUNTY

—In the Matter of the Application of the Superintendent of Public Works of the State of New York for the removal of the remains of deceased persons interred on property, appropriated by The People of the State of New York, pursuant to the provisions of Section 347 of the Highway Law of the State of New York, located in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster, State of New York, which said property so appropriated is more particularly shown on Map No. 902 for the New York State Thruway Catskill Section.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Upon reading the petition of Paul G. Baldwin, Director of the Bureau of Rights of Way and Claims in the Department of Public Works of the State of New York, verified the 22nd day of April, 1954, the affidavit of Charles Birchall verified the 22nd day of April, 1954 and the affidavit of Otto Alberg verified the 22nd day of April, 1954, from which it appears that The People of the State of New York have appropriated for the purposes of the New York State Thruway certain premises upon the Town Road leading from Route 32 to the Central Hudson Power Company Plant in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster, State of New York, upon which is located a private cemetery commonly known as The Le Fever Cemetery, and asking for an order in accordance with the provisions of Section 181 of the Highway Law of the State of New York allowing the removal of the remains in said cemetery and the reinterring of the same in the Rosendale Cemetery at the expense of the State, upon such notice to such persons as the Court may direct.

NOW ON MOTION of NATHANIEL L. GOLDSTEIN, Attorney General, Attorney for the petitioner, JOHN J. KING, ESQ., of Counsel, it is ORDERED that Kenneth Le Fevre, Mrs. Edison Merritt, Mrs. Irving R. Scott, Mrs. George J. Holmes, Arthur S. Booth, C. Frank Booth, Mrs. J. Edwin Comfort, Mrs. Robert H. Gerow, and any heirs-at-law, next of kin or legal representatives of Mary Le Fever, Simon Le Fever, Joseph Van Wagenen, Catherine Le Fever, Catherine Maria Le Fever, Letta Jane Le Fever, Ellen Le Fever, Cornelius W. Le Fever, Daniel A. Le Fever, Melissa Le Fever and Maria Plough, the persons interred in said burial ground or of any other deceased who may have been interred in said burial ground but whose graves therein are presently unidentified and any and all other persons who may have any interest in said graves or burials including the preservation and maintenance of all tombstones, monuments or other erections thereon.

Show cause before me at a term of the county Court to be held before me at the Court House in the City of Kingston, State of York, on the 19th day of May, 1954, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day or as soon thereafter as said parties or their counsel can be heard why an order should not be made and entered permitting the Superintendent of Public Works of the State of New York on behalf of the people of the State of New York to remove the human remains as lie within the confines of the said burial ground aforementioned and as shown and described on Appropriation Map, No. 902 for the acquisition of property for The New York State Thruway, Catskill Section, including all tombstones, monuments or other remains found thereon and to reinter the said remains and to re-erect the said tombstones, monuments and other erections in as secure or good condition as their present condition will permit in the Rosendale Cemetery in the Town of Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, and granting such other and further relief in the premises as to the court may seem just and proper, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that service of this order to show cause be made by publishing a copy thereof in each of the two following named newspapers, to wit: Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published at Kingston, Ulster County, New York, and Kingston Ulster Press, a newspaper at Kingston, Ulster County, New York, once in each week for two successive weeks, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED that the date of last publication shall be not less than eight (8) days before the return date of this application, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED that on or before the date of first publication that a copy of the petition in this matter and of this order to show cause be served either by personal service upon each of the following named persons or by depositing a copy of said petition and order to show cause in a properly enclosed post-paid wrapper in a post-office maintained by the United States Government directed to each of said persons at their respective places of residence, to wit:

Kenneth Le Fever, 54 Weit Street, Newburgh, N. Y.

Graduates Again May Apply for Marine Program

Technical Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, non-commissioned officer in charge of the Kingston Marine Corps Office, announced that the officer candidate program for college seniors and graduates will reopen and that applications will be accepted after May 1. Under this program a candidate receives a short indoctrination course at Quantico, Va., and then receives a commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. A five-month basic officer training course follows immediately after commissioning. Some of the fields of specialization available after commissioning include artillery, communications, disbursing, personnel administration, supply, engineering and many others.

Sees Keen Competition

T/Sgt. Awkerman said that competition for the quotas will be extremely keen and all interested students are urged to make early application.

It was also announced by the sergeant that the deadline for accepting applications for the Marine Corps Women Officer Training Class, which convenes June 17, has been set at May 15. Applications must be in Washington by that date, thus it is necessary that women college seniors and graduates who desire to be considered for this class act promptly. Women accepted for this class will receive a 12-week indoctrination course prior to being appointed a commissioned officer in the Marine Corps.

All college seniors and graduates interested in these Marine Corps officer programs are invited to contact T/Sgt. Awkerman at the Marine Corps Office, Room 209, Kingston Central Post Office, for complete details.

Stancage Repairman

Pvt. First Class Stanley M. Stancage, 22, son of Mrs. Sylvia Stancage, Napanoch, is serving as an aviation radio and radar repairman with VMA 225, Marine Aviation Group 14, at Edenton, N. C. Prior to his present assignment, he attended Marine Corps Basic Aviation School at Jacksonville, Fla., and Marine Corps Aviation Electronics School at Memphis, Tenn. While at electronics school in preparation for his present assignment, he studied aircraft radio, radar, electronics, electricity, and VHF communications. Pfc. Stancage enlisted in the Marines in September, 1952, for three years through the Kingston Marine office. He received his basic training at Parris Island, S. C., after which he was selected for Marine Corps aviation duty. Pfc. Stancage is a graduate of Ellenville High School and is a former employe of the Rondout Paper Mill, Napanoch.

Pfc. Vincent C. Carney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Carney, 91 Dock street, Saugerties, was recently assigned to Marine Corps Troops, Washington, D. C. Prior to his assignment, he was stationed at the Marine Corps base at Camp Lejeune, N. C., as a message dispatcher. Pfc. Carney enlisted in the Marines in August for three years through the Kingston Marine Corps office and received his "boot" training at Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. Pfc. Carney attended Saugerties High School and is a former employe of Martin Cantine Co., Saugerties.

Assigned to Sub

George David Deyo, seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Deyo of Yarmouth street, has been assigned to the submarine school at Norfolk, Va. Seaman Deyo was graduated from the submarine school at New London, Conn., in April and recently spent a 10-day leave at his home.

Hebrew is the only one of the ancient Semitic languages that has survived as a spoken language.

Coffee Goes Up

Marysville, Calif. (AP)—Coffee cost $12.50 a pound here when a man pleaded guilty to stealing a two-pound can and was fined $25.

Blind Sale Begins In Kingston Today

A sale of articles made by the blind will be held May 11-20 at 45 North Front street, it was announced today by Mrs. Harris Brown, general chairman of the sale which is sponsored by the local Lions Club.

All merchandise at the sale has been made by the sightless, Mrs. Brown said, pointing out that by patronizing the sale the public helped keep these workers busy and contributed to their economic independence. She said the articles were of excellent quality and reasonably priced.

Drug Store Service

Wewoka, Okla. (AP)—You can get everything in a drug store these days. Undersheriff David Ramage was drinking his morning coffee in the pharmacy which also houses the Western Union office, a clerk handed him a telegram. It was a warrant for an arrest on a Texas bogus check charge. The accused man was also a customer. The officer made the arrest, finished his coffee and minutes after receiving the wire had the prisoner on his way back to Texas.

New Navy Fighter

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—The navy is putting the new F7U-3 Cutlass fighter into operation with the fleet. The Cutlass is a twin-jet ship and was carrier-tested last year along with the F4D Skyray from the USS Coral Sea.

What makes cancer MAN'S CRUELEST ENEMY?

SOME diseases kill us mercifully.

NOT CANCER. Yet, if nothing is done, 23 million living Americans are destined to die of cancer . . . 230,000 of them this year.

SOME diseases reveal their beginnings by pain or fever or shock. Not cancer. It starts silently, secretly, and too often spreads rapidly.

AND SOME diseases spare us our young people. Not cancer! It strikes men, women, children, old and young. If nothing is done, one American in five will be stricken with cancer.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE. You can strike back with a generous gift to the American Cancer Society. Your money is urgently needed—for research, for education, for clinics and facilities. Please make it a really BIG gift!

Kingston Hospital Topic at Rotary

Jacob H. Tremper, a member of the Board of Directors of the Kingston Hospital, outlined the building program of the hospital at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The new addition to be erected will provide modern and increased facilities for the institution, which when completed and equipped will be of greater service for the residents of the City of Kingston and the County of Ulster, he said.

He prefaced his interesting talk with a history of the local institution and its steady growth down through the years.

In answer to questions following his formal presentation, the speaker invited the members to attend board meetings and present their suggestions.

O'Brien Introduces Bill

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Rep. O'Brien (D-N.Y.) has introduced a bill, identical to the one passed by the 1954 New York Legislature, roviding for a code of "fair play" for congressional investigations. The measure, filed yesterday, would prohibit one-man hearings, forbid making public any testimony taken at a closed hearing except by majority action of the committee and allow witnesses advice of counsel.

Freedom of the press

In some courts, judges will not permit news photographers to operate in any part of the courthouse. In another, a judge permitted a TV station to make sound films during some trials. Precisely what is the right of the newspapers—and therefore the public—regarding the photographic reporting of court proceedings? Here are the highlights of current answers to this question—and a report of some notable showdowns.

(By The Associated Press)

Should the newsman now be permitted to use a camera as well as a pencil in reporting news from the courtroom?

Is the general public—in its historic right to know what takes place in the courts—entitled to a photographic as well as a verbal account?

Or does picture taking interfere with the court's dignity and deprive the defendant of a fair trial—a trial free from undue distractions and influence?

These questions are being answered in different ways these days by courts and newspapers.

Notable Showdowns

They don't always see eye to eye, and the disagreement is bringing some notable showdowns.

Closely allied with the newspapers are radio and television interests, which are pretty much in the same boat concerning court coverage.

And as this new aspect of court coverage has come to the fore of late, older problems have continued to occupy the press.

It has ceased never to battle with one of the profession's oldest problems—that of obtaining and publishing the fullest account possible of all matters of public business.

There has been a great deal of progress on this front, including passage of laws forcing boards of municipal and state commissions to hold open meetings.

As for courtroom photography, broadcasts and television, the focal point is what is known as canon 35 of the code of judicial ethics of the American Bar Assn.

Canon Agreed Upon

The canon was agreed upon back in pre-TV 1937 by the membership of the associaiton, with which most lawyers are affiliated.

Specifically, the canon stated that the taking of photographs in courtrooms, either during court sessions or while the court is in recess, should not be permitted. Broadcasts from the courtroom likewise were opposed.

The Bar Association expressed belief that such activities "detract from the essential dignity of the proceedings, degrade the court and create misconceptions with respect thereto in the minds of the public."

Two years ago, as a result of the growth of television, it, too, was included in the ban with radio and photographs.

The Bar Association itself has no legal connection with the courts of this country, and its canons are in no way binding upon them.

However, it is in general the guiding light for court conduct, since its views are formulated and approved only after long and careful study by leading jurists.

Some judges have gone even further than canon 35, barring news photographers from any part of courthouse premises.

Permission for Films

In contrast, an Oklahoma City TV station got permission to make sound films during some trials.

Between these two extremes, courts in recent months have defined in various ways what may and may not be done.

Meanwhile, the general ban on courtroom photography itself has been drawing more and more opposition, including test incidents resigned to show that pictures can be made without disturbance to the courts.

One noteworthy case occurred recently in Cleveland.

Last August, Cleveland Press Reporter James Thomas took a picture in common pleas court at the arraignment of a former probate judge on embezzlement charges.

The common pleas judge, Joseph H. Silbert, cited the photographer for contempt along with City Editor Louis Clifford, who had ordered the picture taken, and Reporter Sam Giaimo.

The city editor was sentenced to one hour in the custody of the sheriff and fined $500. The reporter was given a $100 fine, and the photographer got a suspended sentence.

Wheen the matter was carried to the Court of Appeals, it upheld the sentences.

Was Within Rights

It ruled that Judge Silbert was well within his rights in prohibiting pictures. It said one of a judge's duties is to insure that there are no untoward distractions, even in a routine judicial proceeding not taking place before a jury.

The press then announced it would take the case to the Ohio Supreme Court. Said Editor Louis B. Seltzer:

"It is our basic argument . . . that photographic science has made picture taking in a courtroom . . . essentially no different than a reporter covering a trial with his pad and pencil."

An extreme application of canon 35 took place at Greensburg, Pa.

County judges there banned photographers from any part of the courthouse premises during the murder trial of John Wesley Wable, accused of Bizarre slayings on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Newspaper and photographers' associations protested without success. The Greensburg Tribune-Review took the matter to higher courts in a test subsequently joined by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Ban Modified

A federal judge modified the ban to permit pictures in courthouse corridors with permission of the subjects. This proved of little help, and so far there has been no decision settling the basic question.

Meanwhile in Colorado, a combined newspaper-radio attack on Canon 35 has produced a long and lively series of incidents.

The Denver Post reported that Denver newspapers were making considerable headway with a local pictures-in-court program, demonstrating that they could be taken unnoticed.

However, Bar Association opposition finally led Denver judges to adopt the rule against pictures and broadcasts.

The next day, a challenge came from radio station KGMC of suburban Englewood.

R. B. McAlister, co-owner of the station, and an engineer made a tape recording in Denver District Court as Judge Edward C. Day sentenced a murderer to be executed.

In Courtroom Doorway

McAlister held the microphone in a courtroom doorway. The tape recorder itself was in the hallway outside. The judge was unaware of what was taking place.

Shortly afterward, the recording was broadcast by the radio station, and the Bar Association announced it would seek to have the station cited for contempt.

Later, however, the bar group recommended to Judge Day that no action be taken.

The newspaper campaign will be continued, though the next move has not been determined.

Said Ed Dooley, managing editor of the Post:

"Modern courtroom photography with concealed cameras is an extension of the reporter and his pencil in fulfilling the people's right to know what is going on in their courts."

The Oklahoma City case appeared to represent the widest latitude yet given courtroom photography.

Camera Installed

WKY-TV was permitted to install a motion picture camera in an enclosed booth in the courtroom. The lens poked through a small opening and no special lighting was used. Microphones were placed so as not to disturb proceedings.

Judge A. P. Van Meter expressed this view:

"Too often what is said or shown about courts is not a true portrayal. If television can present courts as they actually function, this should be a real public service."

Other recent actions around the country:

Washington, D. C.—The Justice Department told U. S. marshals not to interfere with cameramen photographing prisoners anywhere outside federal courthouses. Inside, they will abide by any rules laid down by the federal judges presiding in each place.

ILLINOIS — Chicago radio and TV men have been fighting for rights to broadcast and televise Chicago City council sessions. Thus far the council has agreed only to decide cases as they come up.

NEW YORK — A picture ban imposed by a State Commission probing harness racing scandals was ignored by Newsday, a newspaper published in suburban Garden City. The paper felt the ban was illegal.

For two days a Newsday photographer snapped away with a small camera concealed in a book, and no one knew it until another photographer tipped off the commission.

The commission then ejected the photographer and impounded his camera.

But the newspaper already had a number of pictures, which it published. It later served a writ of replevin to recover the camera.

UTAH — The Utah District Judges' Assn. adopted a resolution recommending that the Utah State Bar and Supreme Court reexamine the codes prohibiting pictures in court.

WASHINGTON—The state continuing study committee of the Associated Press newspapers is working on the problem. Futher moves will be mapped May 13 and 14 at the annual seminar of the University of Washington and allied daily newspapers of Washington.

OHIO—In January, the State Supreme Court adonted the canon prohibiting courtroom photography and broadcasting during court sessions. It placed no restrictions on other times.

Adoption of the canon had been advocated by the State Bar Assn., and opposed by some press representatives. Later, some papers editorially expressed views that the court decision was a wise one, saying the dignity of the court was protected while full news coverage still was permitted.

MINNESOTA — A press-radio committee is working with committees from the state judges' and bar associations in an effort to modify Canon 35.

30 Cannons in Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, April 29 (AP)—The U. S. Army disclosed today that it now has 30 of its giant 280 millimeter atomic cannons in Germany.

But Mayor Says No

Los Angeles, April 29 (AP)—A retired telegraph clerk has asked Mayor Norris Poulson to help finance his real life saga of the Egg and I. Harry Reade, 65, wrote the mayor that a pigeon couple has set up housekeeping in his room and produced one egg. "Since I am not inclined to disturb or frustrate the act of God," he wrote, "I was therefore compelled to relinquish my room and pay again rent for still another room." With novel legal logic, Reade contends that since the city protects the birds against shooting, the city actually owns them. Thus since city property has forced him to rent another room, he states, the city should accept the financial responsibility, until after the egg is hached. Accompanying Reade's letter was a rent receipt for $35. At city hall, a secretary for the mayor said the reply to Reade commends his consideration for the pigeons, but states that the mayor does not feel the city is responsible for the birds moving in on him.

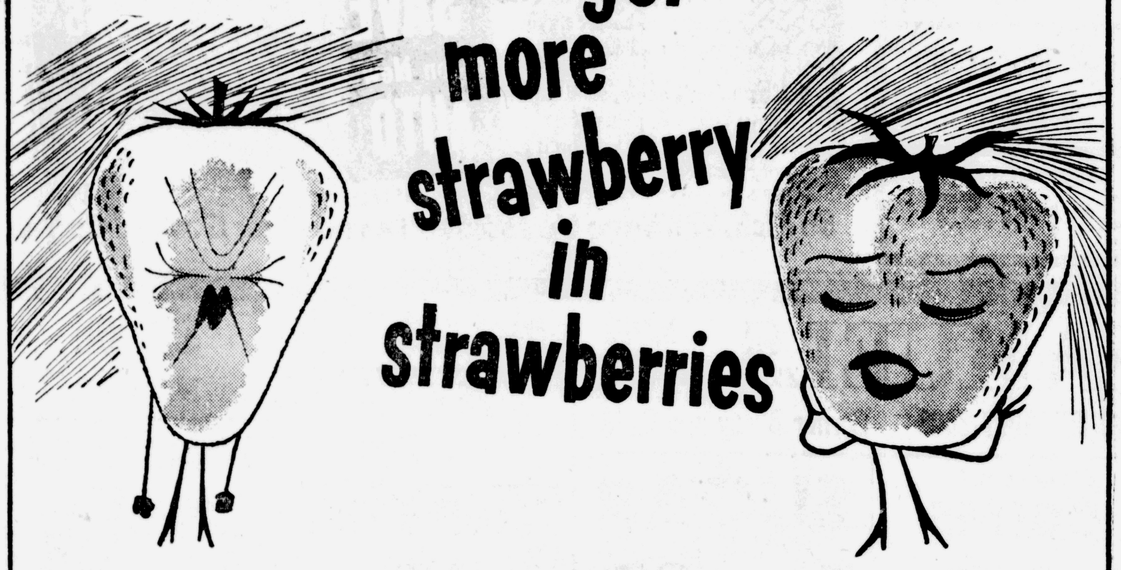
how to get more strawberry in strawberries



TOO-SOONERS

That wondrous and heavenly flavor beloved by millions is slow in arriving in a strawberry—doesn't really get there until that berry is mellow with sunshine and ruby-red with ripeness. Pick a strawberry a few days too soon and what have you? Something so tart it will make you wince and wish you'd bought bananas.

JUST-RIGHTERS

Strawberries destined for a Dulany package are watched by eagle eyes until they've become crowded with delectable flavor—their cheeks literally bulging out with red-ripe and juicy goodness. Then they're quickly plucked and plopped into the flavor-capturing quick-freeze. That's why Dulany strawberries taste the most strawberry of all strawberries.

and now you know strawberries.

Why We Say--

The Latin word "infans" for a baby who couldn't speak yet is the same as the modern word infantry. In the Middle Ages, knights in armor used to employ young boys as attendants to run alongside them when mounted . . . The boys were not allowed to speak and were more or less foot soldiers as we know them today.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

Client (to lawyer) — You are drawing up my case on very rough paper, sir.

Lawyer—Never mind it has to be filed before it comes into court.

Did you hear about the man whose cat was run over by a steamroller? He didn't say a thing—Just stood there with a long puss.

The prim old lady was given the first glass of beer she ever had. After sipping it for a moment she looked up with a puzzled air.

"How odd!" she murmured. "It tastes just like the medicine my husband has been taking for the last 20 years.

All work and no play makes jack.

Reporter—And in what state were you born, professor?

Professor—Unless my recollection fails me, in a state of ignorance.

Reporter (scribbling)—Yes, to be sure; and how long have you lived there.

Reporter — Have any of your childhood hopes been realized?

Business man — Yes. When mother used to pull my hair I wished that I didn't have any.

The amateur gardener, who loved to experiment with plants, sat locked in his room. He refused to take any food all day, and his wife finally insisted on being let in.

Wife—You must tell me what's on your mind (firmly). You've been here brooding all day, and I must know what's wrong.

The gardener sighed heavily.

Hubby—It's just that one of my pet experiments didn't turn out the way I expected. Remember the time I crossed a potato with an onion?

Wife—Yes, yes. What happened.

The gardener shook his head sadly.

LEGAL NOTICES

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK BY THE GRACE OF GOD FREE AND INDEPENDENT, TO—

Elizabeth S. Faunce, Henrietta R. Macaulay, Katherine Margaret Rust, Anne Elizabeth Foerster

GREETING:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY CITED TO SHOW CAUSE at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster at the Surrogate's Office in the City of Kingston, N. Y., on the 10th day of May, 1954, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why a certain instrument in writing, dated October 23rd, 1952, relating to both real and personal estate, presented to said Surrogate's Court, should not be proved, admitted to probate and recorded as the last Will and Testament of Otto B. Schmid, late of the Town of New Paltz, Ulster County, deceased, upon the petition of Herman W. Glanz, Henry DuBois and Peter H. Harp of the Town of New Paltz, the Executors named therein.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, [L. S.] Hon. JOHN B. STERLEY, Surrogate of our said County of Ulster, at Kingston, N. Y., this 26th day of March, 1954.

H. LeROY GILL,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court

HARP & HAFKE
Attorneys for Petitioners
New Paltz, N. Y.

COUNTY COURT, ULSTER COUNTY —In the Matter of the Application of the Superintendent of Public Works of the State of New York for the removal of the remains of deceased persons interred on property, appropriated by The People of the State of New York, pursuant to the provisions of Section 347 of the Highway Law of the State of New York, located in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster, State of New York, which said property so appropriated is more particularly shown on Map No. 902 for the New York State Thruway, Catskill Section.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Upon reading the petition of Paul G. Baldwin, Director of the Bureau of Rights of Way and Claims in the Department of Public Works of the State of New York, verified the 22nd day of April, 1954, the affidavit of Charles Birchall verified the 22nd day of April, 1954 and the affidavit of Otto Alberg verified the 22nd day of April, 1954, from which it appears that The People of the State of New York have appropriated for the purposes of the New York State Thruway certain premises upon the Town Road leading from Route 32 to the Central Hudson Power Company Plant in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster, State of New York, upon which is located a private cemetery commonly known as The Le Fever Cemetery, and asking for an order in accordance with the provisions of Section 181 of the Highway Law of the State of New York allowing the removal of the remains in said cemetery and the reinterring of the same in the Rosendale Cemetery at the expense of the State, upon such notice to such persons as the Court may direct.

NOW ON MOTION of NATHANIEL L. GOLDSTEIN, Attorney General, Attorney for the petitioner, JOHN J. KING, ESQ., of Counsel, it is ORDERED that Kenneth Le Fevre, Mrs. Edison Merritt, Mrs. Irving R. Scott, Mrs. George J. Holmes, Arthur S. Booth, C. Frank Booth, Mrs. J. Edwin Comfort, Mrs. Robert H. Gerow, and any heirs-at-law, next of kin or legal representatives of Mary Le Fever, Simon Le Fever, Joseph Van Wagenen, Catherine Le Fever, Catherine Maria Le Fever, Letta Jane Le Fever, Ellen Le Fever, Cornelius W. Le Fever, Daniel A. Le Fever, Melissa Le Fever and Maria Plough, the persons interred in said burial ground or of any other deceased who may have been interred in said burial ground but whose graves therein are presently unidentified and any and all other persons who may have any interest in said graves or burials including the preservation and maintenance of all tombstones, monuments or other erections thereon.

Show cause before me at a term of the county Court to be held before me at the Court House in the City of Kingston, State of York, on the 19th day of May, 1954, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day or as soon thereafter as said parties or their counsel can be heard why an order should not be made and entered permitting the Superintendent of Public Works of the State of New York on behalf of the people of the State of New York to remove the human remains as lie within the confines of the said burial ground aforementioned and as shown and described on Appropriation Map. No. 902 for the acquisition of property for The New York State Thruway, Catskill Section, including all tombstones, monuments or other remains found thereon and to reinter the said remains and to re-erect the said tombstones, monuments and other erections in as secure or good condition as their present condition will permit in the Rosendale Cemetery in the Town of Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, and granting such other and further relief in the premises as to the court may seem just and proper, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that service of this order to show cause be made by publishing a copy thereof in each of the two following named newspapers, to wit: Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published at Kingston, Ulster County, New York, and Kingston Ulster Press, a newspaper at Kingston, Ulster County, New York, once in each week for two successive weeks, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED that the date of last publication shall be not less than eight (8) days before the return date of this application, and it is

FURTHER ORDERED that on or before the date of first publication that a copy of the petition in this matter and of this order to show cause be served either by personal service upon each of the following named persons or by depositing a copy of said petition and order to show cause in a properly enclosed post-paid wrapper in a post-office maintained by the United States Government directed to each of said persons at their respective places of residence, to wit:

Kenneth Le Fever, 54 Weit Street, Newburgh, N. Y.

Mrs. Edison Merritt, Sunrise Terrace, R.D. 14, Newburgh, New York.

Mrs. Irving R. Scott, 15903 Tacoma, Detroit 5, Michigan.

Mrs. George J. Holmes, 338 Hooker Avenue, Poughkeepsie, New York.

Arthur S. Booth, R.D. 3, Northville, Walton, N. Y.

C. Frank Booth, 47 Prospect Street, Newburgh, N. Y.

Mrs. J. Edwin Comfort, Pensacola, North Carolina.

Mrs. Robert H. Gerow, R.D. 1, Newburgh, N. Y., and it is FURTHER ORDERED that such publication as well as such service either personally or by mail as hereinbefore directed on the persons hereinbefore referred to shall be deemed good and sufficient service of notice of this application of all parties interested therein.

Dated: April 23rd, 1954.

News of Our Service Folks

Graduates Again May Apply for Marine Program

Technical Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, non-commissioned officer in charge of the Kingston Marine Corps Office, announced that the officer candidate program for college seniors and graduates will reopen and that applications will be accepted after May 1. Under this program a candidate receives a short indoctrination course at Quantico, Va., and then receives a commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. A five-month basic officer training course follows immediately after commissioning. Some of the fields of specialization available after commissioning include artillery, communications, disbursing, personnel administration, supply, engineering and many others.

Sees Keen Competition

T/Sgt. Awkerman said that competition for the quotas will be extremely keen and all interested students are urged to make early application.

It was also announced by the sergeant that the deadline for accepting applications for the Marine Corps Women Officer Training Class, which convenes June 17, has been set at May 15. Applications must be in Washington by that date, thus it is necessary that women college seniors and graduates who desire to be considered for this class act promptly. Women accepted for this class will receive a 12-week indoctrination course prior to being appointed a commissioned officer in the Marine Corps.

All college seniors and graduates interested in these Marine Corps officer programs are invited to contact T/Sgt. Awkerman at the Marine Corps Office, Room 209, Kingston Central Post Office, for complete details.

Stancage Repairman

Pvt. First Class Stanley M. Stancage, 22, son of Mrs. Sylvia Stancage, Napanoch, is serving as an aviation radio and radar repairman with VMA 225, Marine Aviation Group 14, at Edenton, N. C. Prior to his present assignment, he attended Marine Corps Basic Aviation School at Jacksonville, Fla., and Marine Corps Aviation Electronics School at Memphis, Tenn. While at electronics school in preparation for his present assignment, he studied aircraft radio, radar, electronics, electricity, and VHF communications. Pfc. Stancage enlisted in the Marines in September, 1952, for three years through the Kingston Marine office. He received his basic training at Parris Island, S. C., after which he was selected for Marine Corps aviation duty. Pfc. Stancage is a graduate of Ellenville High School and is a former employe of the Rondout Paper Mill, Napanoch.

Kingston Hospital Topic at Rotary

Jacob H. Tremper, a member of the Board of Directors of the Kingston Hospital, outlined the building program of the hospital at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The new addition to be erected will provide modern and increased facilities for the institution, which when completed and equipped will be of greater service for the residents of the City of Kingston and the County of Ulster, he said.

He prefaced his interesting talk with a history of the local institution and its steady growth down through the years.

In answer to questions following his formal presentation, the speaker invited the members to attend board meetings and present their suggestions.

What makes cancer
MAN'S CRUELEST ENEMY?

SOME diseases kill us mercifully.

NOT CANCER. Yet, if nothing is done, 23 million living Americans are destined to die of cancer . . . 230,000 of them this year.

SOME diseases reveal their beginnings by pain or fever or shock. Not cancer. It starts silently, secretly, and too often spreads rapidly.

AND SOME diseases spare us our young people. Not cancer! It strikes men, women, children, old and young. If nothing is done, one American in five will be stricken with cancer.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE. You can strike back with a generous gift to the American Cancer Society. Your money is urgently needed—for research, for education, for clinics and facilities. Please make it a really BIG gift!

With picnic days coming up we'll all soon be in the red. Chiggers and mosquitoes.

Chances are that the women can hardly wait till summer—when stores will be showing fall styles.

A bird in the hand may be very bad table manners, but it's sure a lot more fun.

Why We Say--

The Latin word "infans" for a baby who couldn't speak yet is the same as the modern word infantry. In the Middle Ages, knights in armor used to employ young boys as attendants to run alongside them when mounted . . . The boys were not allowed to speak and were more or less foot soldiers as we know them today.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

Client (to lawyer) — You are drawing up my case on very rough paper, sir.

Lawyer—Never mind it has to be filed before it comes into court.

Did you hear about the man whose cat was run over by a steamroller? He didn't say a thing—Just stood there with a long puss.

The prim old lady was given the first glass of beer she ever had. After sipping it for a moment she looked up with a puzzled air.

"How odd!" she murmured. "It tastes just like the medicine my husband has been taking for the last 20 years.

All work and no play makes jack.

Reporter—And in what state were you born, professor?

Professor—Unless my recollection fails me, in a state of ignorance.

Reporter (scribbling)—Yes, to be sure; and how long have you lived there.

Reporter — Have any of your childhood hopes been realized?

Business man — Yes. When mother used to pull my hair I wished that I didn't have any.

The amateur gardener, who loved to experiment with plants, sat locked in his room. He refused to take any food all day, and his wife finally insisted on being let in.

Wife—You must tell me what's on your mind (firmly). You've been here brooding all day, and I must know what's wrong.

The gardener sighed heavily.

Hubby—It's just that one of my pet experiments didn't turn out the way I expected. Remember the time I crossed a potato with an onion?

Wife—Yes, yes. What happened.

The gardener shook his head sadly.

Celebrates 90th Birthday

Mrs. Lugartha Nock, widow of William H. Nock, celebrated her 90th birthday Saturday, April 24 at the home of her stepdaughter, Mrs. Cornelius J. Heitzman, at 93 Hoffman street, this city. A second stepdaughter, Mrs. Charles Leinhop, and her husband, of Silver Beach, Bronx, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Heitzman and their five children and their spouses, and 13 of their 20 grandchildren, were also present.

On Sunday, the members of Mrs. Nock's pinochle club gave her a surprise party in honor of the event. She received many useful gifts. (Freeman photo)

Invitation Is Issued By Brockport; Host At College for Day

Brockport, April 28—State University Teachers College at Brockport, will be host at the annual College-for-a-Day for high school students, parents, friends, teachers and school administrators, Friday, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., college officials announced today.

Purpose of the annual affair is to give visitors an opportunity to experience a day at the State University Teachers College and to see campus and classroom life in actual operation.

Guests may attend regularly scheduled classes, laboratories in the arts, music and the sciences, discussion groups, and the regular sessions of the College Campus School, where they may observe students doing practice teaching.

There will be student-conducted tours of the buildings and the campus, inspection of the residence halls, the new college Social Center, where all Brockport students enjoy social privileges in common.

One of the features of the day is the provision made for guests to meet college officials and faculty members and to confer with them about questions and problems relating to student life at Brockport—and to learn about professional and educational opportunities which are available for qualified high school graduates at the State University Teachers Colleges.

Brockport is one of the 11 colleges for teachers where candidates who meet entrance requirements, receive the equivalent of a four-year State tuition scholarship.

Anyone interested in obtaining information for attendance at Brockport's College-for-a-Day is invited to write to Harold Rakov, Brockport, N. Y.

Louise M. DeCicco Becomes Sunday Bride Of Ronald Kahlstorf

Miss Louise Marie DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeCicco of 2 Kingston street, became the bride of Roland P. Kahlstorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kahlstorf of South street, St. Paul, Minn., Sunday at 2 p. m. at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. John J. Drew, MM, Maryknoll missionary, performed the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono, organist; Patricia Keefe, soloist, offered traditional wedding music including Ava Maria and Panis Angelicus. The church was decorated with lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported Chantilly gown with lace over slipper satin, scoop neckline trimmed with iridescent and seeded pearls, tight bodice and long pointed sleeves, full skirt with side inserts of tulle pleating and a long Cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion and hand rolled edge was caught to a lace cap trimmed with the same bead work as on the gown. She carried a Mother of Pearl prayer book with white rosebuds and streamers.

Mrs. Carl Janasiewicz, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, wore an orchid lace gown and nylon net strapless bodice with a short lace cape, wide lace cumberland band at the waist, a full skirt over lace insert over taffeta. Her headpiece was a half hat of net trimmed with spring flowers to match her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow tea roses.

Wilbur Kahlstorf, of St. Paul, Minn., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were James DeCicco, 145 Wrentham street, brother of the bride and John Hargrove, 72 Brewster street, brother-in-law of the bride.

A dinner reception for 100 guests followed at Tommie's Tavern, 11 High street. Afterward, the couple left for a motor trip to Canada and Niagara Falls.

For traveling the bride wore a beige suit, Chinese raincoat with navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will make their future home in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Kahlstorf, a graduate of St. Mary's Parochial School, was graduated from Kingston High School in 1947. She also attended Moran's Business School and was employed at the Hercules Powder Co.

Mr. Kahlstorf was graduated from South St. Paul High School in 1947 and served in the army, two years in Korea. He is employed by FOK and Company of St. Paul, Minn.

AMAZING NEW LIPSTICK DISCOVERY CARYN GAE MAKES BREATH SWEET

NEW INDELIBLE TYPE LIPSTICK DOES NOT DRY LIPS—GUARANTEED NON-IRRITATING

Something wonderful happens the minute you apply the new Caryn Gae lipstick. It smooths on so easily; is moist and soft. You make a wonderfully perfect lip line with it—every bit as fine as that which you make with a lip brush. But, here is the difference. Once you have properly applied Caryn Gae, it is the most lasting of all indelible types. It won't come off until you yourself remove it. It won't eat off, smear off, kiss off.

LANOLIN-VITAMIN FORMULA KEEPS LIPS SOFT, SMOOTH

No matter what your experience with other indelible type lipsticks, you are going to be very happy with Caryn Gae. It contains multiple-series vitamins in combination with Lanolin. Thus it is not only definitely non-irritating, it can be positively beneficial to your lips. Caryn Gae feels good even when you have a cold.

SIX BEAUTIFUL "BREATHLESS" COLORS

DAYBREAK . . . a delicate pink for blonde and gray hair; worn with blues, grays, pastels.

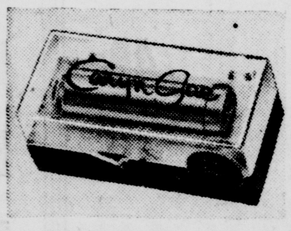
SUNRISE . . . a soft orange for redheads and brownettes; worn with browns, greens, grays, rust, beige.

HIGH NOON . . . a clear red for brownettes and brunettes; worn with navy, plaids, dark greens, blacks.

EVENTIDE . . . a fuchsia red for brownettes and brunettes; worn with navy, black, vibrant pastels.

MOONTIDE . . . bewitching for brunettes.

MIDNIGHT . . . deep red, exciting for evening wear.



SEALED, SAFE, SANITARY. No one has ever touched your Caryn Gae lipstick before you. It comes sealed in a beautiful plastic box like a little gem case. And later you'll find many handy uses for the box itself. Caryn Gae is only $1.25 plus tax.

ENJOY YOURSELF...Smoke, drink, eat onions or garlic, Caryn Gae lipstick makes your breath fresh all day long.

FAMOUS BEAUTY EDITOR TELLS HOW CARYN GAE PROTECTS

By JO LILIAN CRAVEN
Beauty Consultant

Wonderful indeed are the ways of Science—especially when put to Beauty's use. I have recently seen a remarkable demonstration of this in the form of a new lipstick. Truly, this is a lipstick that takes your breath away! A lovely, lovely lipstick that can keep a secret.

Whisks Away Onions, Tobacco, Alcohol

You apply this new lipstick—named Caryn Gae—just as you would any other. But no other lipstick you ever dreamed about can do for you what Caryn Gae does. I saw it happen! At a recent demonstration, several of us rubbed onion slices on our hands Phew! Then we covered that "onion patch" with Caryn Gae lipstick. As I live and breathe, the pungent onion aroma just naturally disappeared! Others nibbled at the raw onion. And again, phew. In fact, double phew!

But in no time at all, after the onion eaters had applied Caryn Gae lipstick, those of us who hadn't eaten any could detect no onion odor on their breaths.

And the same proved true in further tests with garlic, tobacco, cocktails and some very heavy cheeses that we had at this demonstration.

How It Works

It's all very scientific, of course. In working with the various new breath-controllants like Chlorophyll, the Caryn Gae chemists came up with a new formula known as KBS. They added this to the nicest lipstick you've ever used. You apply it (you'll be amazed how wonderfully it shapes your lip line) just as you would any other. Instantly, the natural heat of your lips activates the KBS and—you're breathless!

You can test it this way. After you put on Caryn Gae, touch your tongue to your lips. At once you notice a clean, cool, refreshing feel in your mouth! You just know your breath is sweet!

Caryn Gae Lipstick Contains Newly Discovered Formula KBS Beautifies Breath As Well As Lips

A new day of carefree living—especially carefree eating—may be opened to the fastidious women of this town by discovery of the miracle formula KBS. It works its magic through a new lipstick called Caryn Gae that actually takes your breath away! In seconds after applying Caryn Gae lipstick, onions or garlic, alcohol or tobacco all whisk away, and your breath is sweet as a soft Spring breeze.

Not a Cover-Up or "Masking" But an Actual Physical and Chemical Change

It took twelve years of extensive laboratory research to develop Formula KBS. It is one of the most effective breath-controllants known to science. The wonderful thing about this new lipstick is that it contains no perfume, no scent of any kind. What happens is that the natural heat of your lips activates the KBS. Immediately, your breath is sweet.

Make This Test

You can test this action for yourself. Before you blot Caryn Gae, run your tongue lightly over your lips. At once your whole mouth feels clean, refreshed. You know your breath is sweet. You're nice to be near. So next time you're tempted to say "Make mine with onions", go right ahead. But first be sure you have a Caryn Gae lipstick in your bag. Money back guarantee.

KISS TEST PROVES CARYN GAE STAYS ON YOU — NOT HIM

TESTS PROVE CARYN GAE LONGEST-LASTING LIPSTICK OF ALL INDELIBLE TYPES

In test after test made with leading lipstick brands of the indelible type, it was conclusively shown that Caryn Gae transferred least of all. Certainly there is no "tattle-tale" in this new lipstick. When properly applied, it leaves no blur, smudge or smear on glasses, napkins, clothing—or on anybody else! Yet it is easily removed with cream or soap and water.

All This—and Lanolin Too!

Unlike other lipsticks you may have tried, Caryn Gae never, never, never dries your lips; is positively non-irritating. That's because it contains lanolin. It feels good on your lips. It goes on evenly, making a marvelously fine and exact lip line. And as it stays (and stays and stays) it keeps your lips soft, smooth, inviting, the whole day through.

Bride at St. Joseph's

MRS. BENNY LIGOTINO

Miss Sally Nicolosi, Benny Ligotino Are Wed at St. Joseph's

Miss Sally Nicolosi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicolosi of 74 Florence street, was united in marriage to Benny Ligotino, son of Mrs. Mary Ligotino and the late Salvatore Ligotino of Highland, Sunday at 4 p. m., at St. Joseph's Church, this city.

The Rev. John Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was offered by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist and Virginia Mancuso, soloist, and included Ave Maria and Mother Beloved.

The church was decorated with Easter lilies, snapdragons and sweet peas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported nylon tulle gown delicately embroidered with nosegays, chapel length train and her headpiece was of iridescent sequins, cloche effect and silk illusion finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid in a waterfall effect.

Miss Katherine Nicolosi, sister of the bride as maid of honor, wore a fitted taffeta gown with strapless bodice, bouffant full-length net skirt and a matching bolero jacket. Her flowers were blue hyacinths and fleur-de-amor in a waterfall effect.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Angela Alexander of Levittown, L. I., friend of the bride and Miss Agnes Oliveri, 103 Stephan street, this city, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor but in blue. Their yellow flowers also were identical to the maid of honor.

Marie Sinagra, niece of the groom and Donna Badami, cousin of the bride, were flower girls. Their gowns were styled to match the maid of honor in yellow and each carried baskets of fresh cut blue spring flowers.

Vincent J. Nicolosi, brother of the bride, who is now in the navy, was best man. Ushers were John Ligotino, Beacon, brother of the groom; Peter Scimeca, Highland, cousin of the bride; Joseph Bosco, Kingston, a friend and Celestino Caruso, Kingston, a friend.

The bride chose for traveling a three-piece ensemble of cinnamon brown with matching jacket and weaved angora. She wore a white orchid corsage and accessories to match. They will make their future home on Florence street.

Mrs. Ligotino was graduated from Kingston High School and is now employed by Roland A. Augustine, local insurance firm. Mr. Ligotino attended Highland High School and is now employed by IBM in Poughkeepsie.

Romance Is Reported

Cairo, Egypt, April 29 (AP)—A new romance was reported today for Ex-Queen Narriman. The newspaper Al Akhbar said Egypt's Personal Status Court had given Farouk's former wife permission to marry Adham El Nakib, an Alexandria doctor and son of one of Farouk's favorites. There was no immediate confirmation from Narriman, Nakib or the court. Moslem Religious Court in Cairo granted Narriman a divorce from the exiled monarch last Feb. 2.

Suggestion Was Strong

Elyria, Ohio, April 29 (AP)—The power of suggestion is singularly strong, sometimes. Fluorides were to be added to the city water supply last Thursday. In the days that followed the water department was flooded with complaints about the taste. Due to a delay in testing, however, the fluorides did not actually go into the water until yesterday.

Ex-Sheriff Urges Stricter Qualifications For Election to Office as Lawmen in U. S.

"Sheriffs are on their way out, they're only process servers," said ex-Sheriff T. W. "Buckshot" Lane of Wharton county, Tex., in a speech before the Kingston National Dinner Club Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. But the slight, energetic lawman gave a startling and vigorous account of his own six terms as sheriff, of turning outlaws into deputies through force of verbal persuasion only, and gave a good case for the use of a lie detector.

Starting his career in Texas as constable, "Because I got tired of paying fees to the constable and decided to run against him for office," Lane urged stricter qualifications for office of lawmen throughout the country. "I learned about the law after I was elected," he said.

Studied at FBI School

A term at FBI School taught him the use of finegrprinting and his favored lie detector, both of which are standard equipment now in Wharton county. And a healthy respect for photography as evidence in accident cases, favor of the victims.

"Every sheriff should learn to cooperate with the press and radio as I did," said Lane, who not only wrote a newspaper column but conducted a daily radio broadcast on activities of the law in his section. "Two cases of murder were solved with the help of the press," the lawman said, citing the case of a murder which happened in Kansas and was solved in Texas, and that of the Littlejohn youth, who was a hitchhiking victim.

Believes Law Should Be Flexible

"The law is flexible, the Bible is flexible, and even life itself must be," was the interpretation Mr. Lane placed on his duties as protector of lives and property in his district, even when it meant taking the law boldly into his own hands. His popularity was shown when 8,500 persons contributed to buy him an airplane to cover the vast territory more efficiently.

Clyde Gardner, vice-president of the Dinner Club substituting for the absent Major Hanlon, introduced the speaker, and conducted a brief business meeting following. After some discussion, it was decided to have a membership committee formed under a chairman to solicit additional members for the coming year. The members voted to set June 1 as the deadline for membership pledges, and will meet that day at 7:30 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel to discuss the future of the club.

Added notes: Buckshot Lane's entrance in tuxedo was a surprise to many who's expected Texas garb complete with 10-gallon hat . . . William Krum, of Kingston, who'd met the colorful Texan at FBI School, was at the meeting . . . prompted Buckshot to tell of the gift of the airplane . . . Lie detector test demonstration on volunteer Mrs. George S. Krom of 312 Main street, newcomer to Kingston and Dinner Club, was more than entertainment . . . based on purposely denying shaking hands with one of five people . . . lie detector gave it away although Mrs. Krom gave a negative answer every time . . . Capt. Andrew Hickey, supported Buckshot's story of the Littlejohn murder . . . the Captain is a friend of the late student's family in Mexico City. . . . Everyone agreed Lane's talk was a fitting climax to an exceptional season of speakers . . . including a trip around the world on only $80, with author and traveler Bob Christopher; learning about primitive African tribes with Rebecca Reyher, author and authority on Africa; investigating conditions in Germany today with ex-resident officer Ed Edwin; and the look-around at the world with Frederic Snyder, who subbed at the last minute for "the speaker who didn't arrive." . . .Combination of dinner and good fellowship plus such stimulating in-person educational and entertaining programs is unique in Kingston and merits effort needed to enlist members to continue programs next year. . . .M. D.

Music Appreciation Elects New Officers At Recent Meeting

Mrs. Richard Morse was elected chairman of the Music Appreciation Group of the Woman's Club of the YWCA for 1954-55 during a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Boyd Williams on Pine street. Miss Florence Cordts and Mrs. Morse were co-hostesses.

Also elected with Mrs. Morse were Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, vice-chairman; Mrs. William S. Jackson, treasurer and Mrs. Robert H. Pixley, secretary.

Mrs. Norman Swibold presented the program which was Finland's great musician and composer, Jean Sibelius. She said, "The fact that Sibelius comes out of Finland, has given many a distorted picture of the man and his music" This is based on the misconception that Finland is full of igloos and Eskimos, a country of savages who some how pay their bills. With this are associated the idea that there are no proper conservatories of music there, and that Sibelius began composing without previous instruction. Actually, Tavastehus, where he was born in December of 1865 was though necessarily insular, and limited in its outlook, a center of some culture. There is evidence that it was musically and artistically alert.

Finished Study Abroad

Sibelius grew up in a home where music was commonplace. He had thorough grounding in piano and violin and later attended the Helsingfors Academy of Music, then went abroad to finish his study.

Sibelius composed his first composition, Little Drops of Water, at the age of 10. He and a brother and sister formed a trio playing mostly Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven.

En route to Germany in 1889 Sibelius met a Finnish painter Aino Jarnefelt and married her. They explored Finnish art and Nationalism, and discussed the Kalevala. Upon returning home he found Finland in ferment. The Tzar's government had begun curtailing the rights of the Grandduchy. Sibelus composed Kullerno, a symphony performed in 1892, and which was a huge success.

Sibelius' first composition to attract wide attention was En Saga. In 1900 he received a stipend from the Finnish Government to devote himself exclusively to composition. His later career has been one of increasing honors, with special esteem from his countrymen. He visited America in 1914 when he led his symphony poem, Daughters of the Ocean, at the Norfolk Festival and Yale University conferred on him the degree on Mus.D.

Sibelius' music in larger forms include seven monumental symphonies was fairly slow in making its way into the repertoires of other countries, but especially in England and America has in recent years been assigned a place among the most important of the present day.

Honored on Birthday

Sibelius composed over 100 songs, but is especially noted for his Tone Poems, and symphonies. In addition his works include, Pohjola's Daughter, The Swan of Tuonela, Tapiola, Fruhlingslied, Lemminkainen's Homecoming, etc. Two orchestra suites called Scenes Historiques, and suite characteristique. Two serenades for violin and orchestra, The Bard and Finlandia. The Academic Festival Cantata, Gesang der Athener, and Die Gefangene Konigin and many choruses and piano works.

In 1935 on his 70th birthday Sibelius was highly honored in both England and America. An official festival was given him at Helsingfors and highest tribute paid.

A social hour followed with Miss Jane Austin presiding at tea.

The next meeting will be held May 6 at the home of Mrs. Alfred Schmid, Burgevin street. Mrs. W. L. Rider and Mrs. William Markle will be co-hostesses. Mrs. Willard Burke will present the program on Polish Nationalist Composers, Paderewski.

Mendelssohn Concert Lists College Songs, Operetta Favorites

The 51st season of the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston is marked by the complimentary concert to be held Friday night at the high school auditorium, featuring Alice Smiley, violinist, with Paul Nordoff, accompanist.

The program, which begins at 8:15 p. m., will include: Song of the Gypsies, Richter; Doctor Foster, Hughes; Old Mother Hubbard, Hely-Hutchinson, all sung by the Mendelssohn Club; Sonata in D Minor, Op. 108 by Brahms, played by Alice Smiley; Secrets, Smith; Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair, arranged by Stuart Churchill; Adelita, a Mexican Folk Song, arranged by the Krones; Summer Evening, arranged by Palmgren, with tenor solo by Leonard W. Herrick; and Seraphic Son, by Anton Rubenstein, violin solo by Alice Smiley, and alto solo, Roberta Gaddis.

Following intermission, the program will continue with: Part 3, De Animals a'Comin', arranged by Bartholomew; Dark Water, Will James; Soon Ah Will Be Done, William L. Dawson, and Set Down Servant, arranged y Robert Shaw, featurnig a tenor solo by Charles Kelly and a bass solo by Irving Levine, all sung by The Mendelssohn Club.

Part 5 will be played by Alice Smiley and include, Aria and Movement Perpetuel, Tansman; La Fontaine d'Arethuse, Szymanowski; and Russian Dance, Tschaikowsky-Koutzen.

The concluding selections will be Part 6, a group of college songs: Lord Geoffrey, Amherst, Charles Kelly, directing; Far Above Cayuga's Waters, Cornell University, Francis V. Ruether, directing; Whiffenpoof Song, Dr. Dudley Hargrave, directing; When the Evening Shades Are Falling, RPI, John A. McCullough, directing; The Corps, West Point, John S. Matthews, directing; also, You'll Never Walk Alone, arranged by Roy Ringwald; and the final selections, Tunes from Pinafore, arranged by J. A. Parks, with a tenor solo, Nightingale's Song, by Alan Vogt.

Officers of the organization for this year are John A. McCullough, president; William T. Wood, vice-president; Arthur A. Souers, secretary; William A. McBride, treasurer; and Bertrand K. Burr, librarian.

Joel Dolven will be the conductor for the concert, with Paul E. Barnum accompanist and Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., assistant accompanist for the Mendelssohn Club singers.

Celebrates 90th Birthday

Mrs. Lugartha Nock, widow of William H. Nock, celebrated her 90th birthday Saturday, April 24 at the home of her stepdaughter, Mrs. Cornelius J. Heitzman, at 93 Hoffman street, this city. A second stepdaughter, Mrs. Charles Leinhop, and her husband, of Silver Beach, Bronx, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Heitzman and their five children and their spouses, and 13 of their 20 grandchildren, were also present.

On Sunday, the members of Mrs. Nock's pinochle club gave her a surprise party in honor of the event. She received many useful gifts. (Freeman photo)

Invitation Is Issued By Brockport; Host At College for Day

Brockport, April 28—State University Teachers College at Brockport, will be host at the annual College-for-a-Day for high school students, parents, friends, teachers and school administrators, Friday, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., college officials announced today.

Purpose of the annual affair is to give visitors an opportunity to experience a day at the State University Teachers College and to see campus and classroom life in actual operation.

Guests may attend regularly scheduled classes, laboratories in the arts, music and the sciences, discussion groups, and the regular sessions of the College Campus School, where they may observe students doing practice teaching.

There will be student-conducted tours of the buildings and the campus, inspection of the residence halls, the new college Social Center, where all Brockport students enjoy social privileges in common.

One of the features of the day is the provision made for guests to meet college officials and faculty members and to confer with them about questions and problems relating to student life at Brockport—and to learn about professional and educational opportunities which are available for qualified high school graduates at the State University Teachers Colleges.

Brockport is one of the 11 colleges for teachers where candidates who meet entrance requirements, receive the equivalent of a four-year State tuition scholarship.

Anyone interested in obtaining information for attendance at Brockport's College-for-a-Day is invited to write to Harold Rakov, Brockport, N. Y.

Louise M. DeCicco Becomes Sunday Bride Of Ronald Kahlstorf

Miss Louise Marie DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeCicco of 2 Kingston street, became the bride of Roland P. Kahlstorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kahlstorf of South street, St. Paul, Minn., Sunday at 2 p. m. at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. John J. Drew, MM, Maryknoll missionary, performed the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono, organist; Patricia Keefe, soloist, offered traditional wedding music including Ava Maria and Panis Angelicus. The church was decorated with lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported Chantilly gown with lace over slipper satin, scoop neckline trimmed with iridescent and seeded pearls, tight bodice and long pointed sleeves, full skirt with side inserts of tulle pleating and a long Cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion and hand rolled edge was caught to a lace cap trimmed with the same bead work as on the gown. She carried a Mother of Pearl prayer book with white rosebuds and streamers.

Mrs. Carl Janasiewicz, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, wore an orchid lace gown and nylon net strapless bodice with a short lace cape, wide lace cumberland band at the waist, a full skirt over lace insert over taffeta. Her headpiece was a half hat of net trimmed with spring flowers to match her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow tea roses.

Wilbur Kahlstorf, of St. Paul, Minn., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were James DeCicco, 145 Wrentham street, brother of the bride and John Hargrove, 72 Brewster street, brother-in-law of the bride.

For traveling the bride wore a beige suit, Chinese raincoat with navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will make their future home in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Kahlstorf, a graduate of St. Mary's Parochial School, was graduated from Kingston High School in 1947. She also attended Moran's Business School and was employed at the Hercules Powder Co.

Mr. Kahlstorf was graduated from South St. Paul High School in 1947 and served in the army, two years in Korea. He is employed by FOK and Company of St. Paul, Minn.

AMAZING NEW LIPSTICK DISCOVERY CARYN GAE MAKES BREATH SWEET

NEW INDELIBLE TYPE LIPSTICK DOES NOT DRY LIPS—GUARANTEED NON-IRRITATING

Something wonderful happens the minute you apply the new Caryn Gae lipstick. It smooths on so easily; is moist and soft. You make a wonderfully perfect lip line with it—every bit as fine as that which you make with a lip brush. But, here is the difference. Once you have properly applied Caryn Gae, it is the most lasting of all indelible types. It won't come off until you yourself remove it. It won't eat off, smear off, kiss off.

LANOLIN-VITAMIN FORMULA KEEPS LIPS SOFT, SMOOTH

No matter what your experience with other indelible type lipsticks, you are going to be very happy with Caryn Gae. It contains multiple-series vitamins in combination with Lanolin. Thus it is not only definitely non-irritating, it can be positively beneficial to your lips. Caryn Gae feels good even when you have a cold.

SIX BEAUTIFUL "BREATHLESS" COLORS

DAYBREAK . . . a delicate pink for blonde and gray hair; worn with blues, grays, pastels.

SUNRISE . . . a soft orange for redheads and brownettes; worn with browns, greens, grays, rust, beige.

HIGH NOON . . . a clear red for brownettes and brunettes; worn with navy, plaids, dark greens, blacks.

MOONTIDE . . . bewitching for brunettes.

MIDNIGHT . . . deep red, exciting for evening wear.

SEALED, SAFE, SANITARY. No one has ever touched your Caryn Gae lipstick before you. It comes sealed in a beautiful plastic box like a little gem case. And later you'll find many handy uses for the box itself. Caryn Gae is only $1.25 plus tax.

ENJOY YOURSELF...Smoke, drink, eat onions or garlic, Caryn Gae lipstick makes your breath fresh all day long.

FAMOUS BEAUTY EDITOR TELLS HOW CARYN GAE PROTECTS

By JO LILIAN CRAVEN
Beauty Consultant

Wonderful indeed are the ways of Science—especially when put to Beauty's use. I have recently seen a remarkable demonstration of this in the form of a new lipstick. Truly, this is a lipstick that takes your breath away! A lovely, lovely lipstick that can keep a secret.

Whisks Away Onions, Tobacco, Alcohol

You apply this new lipstick—named Caryn Gae—just as you would any other. But no other lipstick you ever dreamed about can do for you what Caryn Gae does. I saw it happen! At a recent demonstration, several of us rubbed onion slices on our hands Phew! Then we covered that "onion patch" with Caryn Gae lipstick. As I live and breathe, the pungent onion aroma just naturally disappeared! Others nibbled at the raw onion. And again, phew. In fact, double phew!

But in no time at all, after the onion eaters had applied Caryn Gae lipstick, those of us who hadn't eaten any could detect no onion odor on their breaths.

And the same proved true in further tests with garlic, tobacco, cocktails and some very heavy cheeses that we had at this demonstration.

How It Works

It's all very scientific, of course. In working with the various new breath-controllants like Chlorophyll, the Caryn Gae chemists came up with a new formula known as KBS. They added this to the nicest lipstick you've ever used. You apply it (you'll be amazed how wonderfully it shapes your lip line) just as you would any other. Instantly, the natural heat of your lips activates the KBS and—you're breathless!

You can test it this way. After you put on Caryn Gae, touch your tongue to your lips. At once you notice a clean, cool, refreshing feel in your mouth! You just know your breath is sweet!

Caryn Gae Lipstick Contains Newly Discovered Formula KBS Beautifies Breath As Well As Lips

A new day of carefree living—especially carefree eating—may be opened to the fastidious women of this town by discovery of the miracle formula KBS. It works its magic through a new lipstick called Caryn Gae that actually takes your breath away! In seconds after applying Caryn Gae lipstick, onions or garlic, alcohol or tobacco all whisk away, and your breath is sweet as a soft Spring breeze.

Not a Cover-Up or "Masking" But an Actual Physical and Chemical Change

It took twelve years of extensive laboratory research to develop Formula KBS. It is one of the most effective breath-controllants known to science. The wonderful thing about this new lipstick is that it contains no perfume, no scent of any kind. What happens is that the natural heat of your lips activates the KBS. Immediately, your breath is sweet.

Make This Test

You can test this action for yourself. Before you blot Caryn Gae, run your tongue lightly over your lips. At once your whole mouth feels clean, refreshed. You know your breath is sweet. You're nice to be near. So next time you're tempted to say "Make mine with onions", go right ahead. But first be sure you have a Caryn Gae lipstick in your bag. Money back guarantee.

KISS TEST PROVES CARYN GAE STAYS ON YOU — NOT HIM

TESTS PROVE CARYN GAE LONGEST-LASTING LIPSTICK OF ALL INDELIBLE TYPES

In test after test made with leading lipstick brands of the indelible type, it was conclusively shown that Caryn Gae transferred least of all. Certainly there is no "tattle-tale" in this new lipstick. When properly applied, it leaves no blur, smudge or smear on glasses, napkins, clothing—or on anybody else! Yet it is easily removed with cream or soap and water.

All This—and Lanolin Too!

Unlike other lipsticks you may have tried, Caryn Gae never, never, never dries your lips; is positively non-irritating. That's because it contains lanolin. It feels good on your lips. It goes on evenly, making a marvelously fine and exact lip line. And as it stays (and stays and stays) it keeps your lips soft, smooth, inviting, the whole day through.

Base-Stealing Success Big Reason for Cards' Upswing

Club Only Six Off Total Swiped in '53

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals are stealing their way back into the National League pennant picture.

Running bases with an abandon no Red Bird team has shown since the last St. Louis flag winner in 1946, Manager Eddie Stanky's club has moved from dead last at the start to within a game of the top.

In 12 games the Cards have swiped 12 bases. They need only half a dozen more to equal their total for the entire 1953 season.

Winning Cardinal teams almost always have been running teams. One of the greatest was the 1931 aggregation. That was the year Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, led the club with 28 steals and Pepper Martin virtually stole the World Series away from the Philadelphia Athletics with his head-first belly slides.

The 1931 Cardinals stole 114 bases. The 1946 pennant winners, last National League team to win the World Series, stole 58. But look at the totals for some of the lean years—28 in 1947, 24 in 1948, only 17 in 1949, 23 in 1950, 30 in 1951 and 33 in 1952. In every instance these figures placed St. Louis last or next to last in the league in bases stolen.

New Ideas Working

Stanky claims there is no radical difference between the base running tactics of the 1954 outfit and last year's club.

"We're just trying a few things and they're working," the manager declared.

Nevertheless, the figures are doubly interesting in that 10 different players on the team have stolen bases including one pitcher —Harvey Haddix.

A steal figured directly in the result of yesterday's Cardinal game when the Red Birds edged Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings. Bonus baby Dick Schofield, running for Ray Jablonski who had walked with two out, stole second on pitcher Jim Hughes and rode home on Steve Bilko's single, the second hit of the season for the massive first baseman.

Giants Top Braves

The defeat, Brooklyn's second in a row in St. Louis, dumped the Dodgers into a third place tie. They went west over the weekend in first place. The Cincinnatti Redlegs, who replaced the Dodgers at the top on Tuesday, stayed there with an 8-4 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants moved into a tie with Brooklyn by nipping Milwaukee 3-1.

Rain and bad weather caused the other five scheduled games to be postponed. Cleveland was frozen out at Boston for the second straight day. Chicago's second meeting with the New York Yankees was washed out. Detroit at Philadelphia, Baltimore at Washington and the Philadelphia Phils at Chicago all were rained out for the second straight day.

Gomez Wrenches Back

Spectacular relief pitching by little Jackie Collum preserved the Cincinnati victory after the Reds rallied for five runs in the third inning to gain a 7-4 lead. Collum stopped the Pirates on one hit through the last 6 1/3 innings after they had battered starter Fred Baczewski for nine in the first 2 2/3.

Ruben Gomez pitched six shutout innings and drove in the first New York run at Milwaukee before leaving the game with a wrenched back after running the bases in the seventh. Al Dark doubled with the bases loaded, also in the seventh, for the other two New York runs. Gomes' injury was not considered serious.

LL Players To Register

Registration for new players in the Kingston Little League Association will take place Saturday at two different parks, William Scully, president, announced today.

Players affiliated through the American League will register at the LL Stadium, New York State Armory, at 10 a. m.

Registration for the National League is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. at Kingman Field, Lawrence street.

All players are requested to bring their birth certificates.

Big Keglers Out Of Masters Play

Seattle, April 29 (AP)—There were 48 survivors in the American Bowling Congress Masters tournament today but among those missing from the original list of 64 were some top-bracket performers.

Rudy Habetler, defending champion from Chicago, bowed to Pvt. Dick Hoover, former Akron, Ohio, bowler now at Ft. Lewis, Wash., 817-806.

Other "name" bowlers dropped into the losers' bracket of the double-elimination tournament being run in conjunction with the 51st annual American Bowling Congress championships, were Lee Jouglard of Detroit, an ex-champ who lost to Bill Blanks, Seattle, 785-755, and Steve Nagy, Cleveland, downed by Ken Bailer, San Francisco, 793-770.

In the ABC championships a new leader was crowned in the all-events standings. Brad Lewis of Ashland, Ohio, rolled a 1985 to displace Frank Tassara of Eureka, Calif.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Jackie Collum, Cincinnati Redlegs, allowed only one hit in 6 1/3 innings of relief work as the Reds beat Pittsburgh 8-4.

Batting—Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals, collected two singles and a double, driving in two runs, as he raised his average to .336 in the St. Louis victory over Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings.

Roberts Sings the One-Run Blues

Phils Forget to Score When Ace Pitches

Steve O'Neill

"One-run games," he said. "They're the things that kill you. You got a good pitcher and the other fellows put in a good pitcher and the two of them hook up in a real good one, and then some guy kicks one and you lose it. Or some guy hits a little fly ball in a park like the Polo Grounds and instead of giving him a carton of chop suey, they're out shaking his hand for hitting a home run."

The rotund O'Neill qualifies as an expert on the subject of losing games by one run. Through the first two weeks, the men with the candy-striped uniforms had been considerably less than terrorizing opposing hurlers and the people around him were talking about it.

What Does a Man Say?

Quite a few were asking O'Neill just what he tells a pitcher like Robin Roberts when he loses a 1-0 or 2-1 contest.

"I don't say anything," Steve answered. "He pitches his heart out and we don't give him any runs. Some guy hits for the chop suey and he loses, 1-0.

"Hey, Robby," he called down to an end of the bench. "What do you say to yourself when you lose one like that?"

Roberts, a big serious-faced youngster, got up and walked over to his manager.

"You're not going to get me to knock a club that I won 28 and 23 games with," Roberts muttered.

"Naw, these fellows don't mean anything like that," O'Neill said, motioning to the group around him.

"Well," said Roberts, "just what would you say to yourself? I say the same things you would. I don't think that you could print them. You don't like to lose them, but you always tell yourself that they'll go the other way for you some day."

Missed 30 By Six Ones

The "some days" for Robin Roberts had better come quickly. The right hander's attempt at a 30-victory season last year was shattered by the loss of six single-run decisions. He finished the year with a 23-16 mark.

In 1952, his big year so far, he won 28 and lost 7—and only one loss was a one-run affair. This year, out of his first three starts, he lost by 4-2 to Pittsburgh and 1-0 to New York. The Philadelphia Nationals were thrice shut out as the Giants swept the set at the Polo Grounds, which lends itself to cheap home runs.

Is there anything, O'Neill and Roberts were asked, that makes a team unconsciously forget to hit when they have a big pitcher, such as Robin, going for them?

"If there was, you can get I'd be doin' something about it," replied O'Neill.

Derby Betting Forsees New Faces in Winner's Circle

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Louisville, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Down here in this horse loving country, where arguments on the outcome of the 80th Kentucky Derby often wage hot and heavy, they are betting there will be new faces in the winner's circle after the 20 or 30 3-year-olds complete the mile and one-quarter journey late Saturday afternoon.

Not in many years has America's premier horse race been so jammed with owners, trainers and jockeys who never have felt the thrill of walking into Churchill Downs' flower-bordered circle to receive the huge gold cup and see their victorious horse bedecked with a stole of roses.

Eddie Arcaro, who rode in the Derby for the first time in 1935 and finished fourth with Nellie Flag, is best acquainted with the almost hallowed ground. Old Banana Nose has won five Derbies. He'll be up Saturday on Goyamo, the 7 to 2 second choice from Royce G. Martin's Woodvale Farm.

Three other jockeys—Bill Boland, Steve Brooks and Hank Moreno—have been in the circle once each. Boland, winner on Middleground in 1950, will ride the Woodley Lane Farm's lanky Red Hannigan, an outsider, Saturday.

Brooks, winner with Ponder in 1949, is slated to pilot A. J. Crevolin's Allied. And Moreno, whose first appearance in the Derby was last year when he got Dark Star home a nose in front of Native Dancer, will throw a leg over Sea O Erin. Both Allied and Sea O Erin are running mates for two of the favorites—Determine and Hasty Road, respectively.

The owners and trainers nowhere near match the riders in the number of Derby winners. Only Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, New York beautician and owner of the Maine Chance Farm, ever has had a Derby champion. She won with Jet Pilot in 1947 and this Saturday will depend on lightly regarded Black Metal.

Many Without Starter

Many of the other owners and the majority of the trainers never have even had a Derby starter.

Meantime, the equine principals in this event which at times resembles a three-ring circus, went through their last serious workouts. Tomorrow, starting at 7 a. m. (EST) their names will be dropped in the entry box.

And watched most closely of all was Correlation, the 5 to 2 favorite flying the silks of Los Angeles oilman Robert S. Lytle. The Florida Derby and Wood Memorial winner was slated to work six furlongs. Willie Shoemaker, who'll be making his third Derby appearance Saturday, was in the saddle for the early morning spin.

There was many a heated discussion over whether Andy Crevolin's little California grey, Determine, or Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road should be the third choice. They met in the Derby Trial Tuesday and Hasty Road, running back to his great two-year old form with a track record-smashing 1:35 mile, hung a nose defeat on Determine.

Picks Fisherman

As a result, odds on Hasty Road were shortened to 4 to 1 and those on Determine lengthened to 6 to 1, only a notch below C. V. Whitney's game Little Fisherman, who lost a four-length decision to Correlation in the Wood Memorial after stumbling at the start.

This corner looks for Fisherman to atone for that defeat and be on the front end at the finish of the Derby with Correlation second and Determine third and either Goyamo or Hasty Road fourth.

Bride at St. Joseph's

MRS. BENNY LIGOTINO

Miss Sally Nicolosi, Benny Ligotino Are Wed at St. Joseph's

Miss Sally Nicolosi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicolosi of 74 Florence street, was united in marriage to Benny Ligotino, son of Mrs. Mary Ligotino and the late Salvatore Ligotino of Highland, Sunday at 4 p. m., at St. Joseph's Church, this city.

The Rev. John Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was offered by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist and Virginia Mancuso, soloist, and included Ave Maria and Mother Beloved.

The church was decorated with Easter lilies, snapdragons and sweet peas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported nylon tulle gown delicately embroidered with nosegays, chapel length train and her headpiece was of iridescent sequins, cloche effect and silk illusion finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid in a waterfall effect.

Miss Katherine Nicolosi, sister of the bride as maid of honor, wore a fitted taffeta gown with strapless bodice, bouffant full-length net skirt and a matching bolero jacket. Her flowers were blue hyacinths and fleur-de-amor in a waterfall effect.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Angela Alexander of Levittown, L. I., friend of the bride and Miss Agnes Oliveri, 103 Stephan street, this city, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor but in blue. Their yellow flowers also were identical to the maid of honor.

Marie Sinagra, niece of the groom and Donna Badami, cousin of the bride, were flower girls. Their gowns were styled to match the maid of honor in yellow and each carried baskets of fresh cut blue spring flowers.

Vincent J. Nicolosi, brother of the bride, who is now in the navy, was best man. Ushers were John Ligotino, Beacon, brother of the groom; Peter Scimeca, Highland, cousin of the bride; Joseph Bosco, Kingston, a friend and Celestino Caruso, Kingston, a friend.

The bride chose for traveling a three-piece ensemble of cinnamon brown with matching jacket and weaved angora. She wore a white orchid corsage and accessories to match. They will make their future home on Florence street.

Mrs. Ligotino was graduated from Kingston High School and is now employed by Roland A. Augustine, local insurance firm. Mr. Ligotino attended Highland High School and is now employed by IBM in Poughkeepsie.

Romance Is Reported

Cairo, Egypt, April 29 (AP)—A new romance was reported today for Ex-Queen Narriman. The newspaper Al Akhbar said Egypt's Personal Status Court had given Farouk's former wife permission to marry Adham El Nakib, an Alexandria doctor and son of one of Farouk's favorites. There was no immediate confirmation from Narriman, Nakib or the court. Moslem Religious Court in Cairo granted Narriman a divorce from the exiled monarch last Feb. 2.

Suggestion Was Strong

Elyria, Ohio, April 29 (AP)—The power of suggestion is singularly strong, sometimes. Fluorides were to be added to the city water supply last Thursday. In the days that followed the water department was flooded with complaints about the taste. Due to a delay in testing, however, the fluorides did not actually go into the water until yesterday.

Ex-Sheriff Urges Stricter Qualifications For Election to Office as Lawmen in U. S.

"Sheriffs are on their way out, they're only process servers," said ex-Sheriff T. W. "Buckshot" Lane of Wharton county, Tex., in a speech before the Kingston National Dinner Club Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. But the slight, energetic lawman gave a startling and vigorous account of his own six terms as sheriff, of turning outlaws into deputies through force of verbal persuasion only, and gave a good case for the use of a lie detector.

Starting his career in Texas as constable, "Because I got tired of paying fees to the constable and decided to run against him for office," Lane urged stricter qualifications for office of lawmen throughout the country. "I learned about the law after I was elected," he said.

Studied at FBI School

A term at FBI School taught him the use of finegrprinting and his favored lie detector, both of which are standard equipment now in Wharton county. And a healthy respect for photography as evidence in accident cases, favor of the victims.

"Every sheriff should learn to cooperate with the press and radio as I did," said Lane, who not only wrote a newspaper column but conducted a daily radio broadcast on activities of the law in his section. "Two cases of murder were solved with the help of the press," the lawman said, citing the case of a murder which happened in Kansas and was solved in Texas, and that of the Littlejohn youth, who was a hitchhiking victim.

Believes Law Should Be Flexible

"The law is flexible, the Bible is flexible, and even life itself must be," was the interpretation Mr. Lane placed on his duties as protector of lives and property in his district, even when it meant taking the law boldly into his own hands. His popularity was shown when 8,500 persons contributed to buy him an airplane to cover the vast territory more efficiently.

Clyde Gardner, vice-president of the Dinner Club substituting for the absent Major Hanlon, introduced the speaker, and conducted a brief business meeting following. After some discussion, it was decided to have a membership committee formed under a chairman to solicit additional members for the coming year. The members voted to set June 1 as the deadline for membership pledges, and will meet that day at 7:30 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel to discuss the future of the club.

Added notes: Buckshot Lane's entrance in tuxedo was a surprise to many who's expected Texas garb complete with 10-gallon hat . . . William Krum, of Kingston, who'd met the colorful Texan at FBI School, was at the meeting . . . prompted Buckshot to tell of the gift of the airplane . . . Lie detector test demonstration on volunteer Mrs. George S. Krom of 312 Main street, newcomer to Kingston and Dinner Club, was more than entertainment . . . based on purposely denying shaking hands with one of five people . . . lie detector gave it away although Mrs. Krom gave a negative answer every time . . . Capt. Andrew Hickey, supported Buckshot's story of the Littlejohn murder . . . the Captain is a friend of the late student's family in Mexico City. . . . Everyone agreed Lane's talk was a fitting climax to an exceptional season of speakers . . . including a trip around the world on only $80, with author and traveler Bob Christopher; learning about primitive African tribes with Rebecca Reyher, author and authority on Africa; investigating conditions in Germany today with ex-resident officer Ed Edwin; and the look-around at the world with Frederic Snyder, who subbed at the last minute for "the speaker who didn't arrive." . . .Combination of dinner and good fellowship plus such stimulating in-person educational and entertaining programs is unique in Kingston and merits effort needed to enlist members to continue programs next year. . . .M. Music Appreciation Elects New Officers At Recent Meeting

Mrs. Richard Morse was elected chairman of the Music Appreciation Group of the Woman's Club of the YWCA for 1954-55 during a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Boyd Williams on Pine street. Miss Florence Cordts and Mrs. Morse were co-hostesses.

Also elected with Mrs. Morse were Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, vice-chairman; Mrs. William S. Jackson, treasurer and Mrs. Robert H. Pixley, secretary.

Mrs. Norman Swibold presented the program which was Finland's great musician and composer, Jean Sibelius. She said, "The fact that Sibelius comes out of Finland, has given many a distorted picture of the man and his music" This is based on the misconception that Finland is full of igloos and Eskimos, a country of savages who some how pay their bills. With this are associated the idea that there are no proper conservatories of music there, and that Sibelius began composing without previous instruction. Actually, Tavastehus, where he was born in December of 1865 was though necessarily insular, and limited in its outlook, a center of some culture. There is evidence that it was musically and artistically alert.

Finished Study Abroad

Sibelius grew up in a home where music was commonplace. He had thorough grounding in piano and violin and later attended the Helsingfors Academy of Music, then went abroad to finish his study.

Sibelius composed his first composition, Little Drops of Water, at the age of 10. He and a brother and sister formed a trio playing mostly Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven.

En route to Germany in 1889 Sibelius met a Finnish painter Aino Jarnefelt and married her. They explored Finnish art and Nationalism, and discussed the Kalevala. Upon returning home he found Finland in ferment. The Tzar's government had begun curtailing the rights of the Grandduchy. Sibelus composed Kullerno, a symphony performed in 1892, and which was a huge success.

Sibelius' first composition to attract wide attention was En Saga. In 1900 he received a stipend from the Finnish Government to devote himself exclusively to composition. His later career has been one of increasing honors, with special esteem from his countrymen. He visited America in 1914 when he led his symphony poem, Daughters of the Ocean, at the Norfolk Festival and Yale University conferred on him the degree on Mus.D.

Sibelius' music in larger forms include seven monumental symphonies was fairly slow in making its way into the repertoires of other countries, but especially in England and America has in recent years been assigned a place among the most important of the present day.

Honored on Birthday

Sibelius composed over 100 songs, but is especially noted for his Tone Poems, and symphonies. In addition his works include, Pohjola's Daughter, The Swan of Tuonela, Tapiola, Fruhlingslied, Lemminkainen's Homecoming, etc. Two orchestra suites called Scenes Historiques, and suite caracteristique. Two serenades for violin and orchestra, The Bard and Finlandia. The Academic Festival Cantata, Gesang der Athener, and Die Gefangene Konigin and many choruses and piano works.

In 1935 on his 70th birthday Sibelius was highly honored in both England and America. An official festival was given him at Helsingfors and highest tribute paid.

A social hour followed with Miss Jane Austin presiding at tea.

The next meeting will be held May 6 at the home of Mrs. Alfred Schmid, Burgevin street. Mrs. W. L. Rider and Mrs. William Markle will be co-hostesses. Mrs. Willard Burke will present the program on Polish Nationalist Composers, Paderewski.

Mendelssohn Concert Lists College Songs, Operetta Favorites

The 51st season of the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston is marked by the complimentary concert to be held Friday night at the high school auditorium, featuring Alice Smiley, violinist, with Paul Nordoff, accompanist.

The program, which begins at 8:15 p. m., will include: Song of the Gypsies, Richter; Doctor Foster, Hughes; Old Mother Hubbard, Hely-Hutchinson, all sung by the Mendelssohn Club; Sonata in D Minor, Op. 108 by Brahms, played by Alice Smiley; Secrets, Smith; Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair, arranged by Stuart Churchill; Adelita, a Mexican Folk Song, arranged by the Krones; Summer Evening, arranged by Palmgren, with tenor solo by Leonard W. Herrick; and Seraphic Son, by Anton Rubenstein, violin solo by Alice Smiley, and alto solo, Roberta Gaddis.

Following intermission, the program will continue with: Part 3, De Animals a'Comin', arranged by Bartholomew; Dark Water, Will James; Soon Ah Will Be Done, William L. Dawson, and Set Down Servant, arranged y Robert Shaw, featurnig a tenor solo by Charles Kelly and a bass solo by Irving Levine, all sung by The Mendelssohn Club.

Part 5 will be played by Alice Smiley and include, Aria and Movement Perpetuel, Tansman; La Fontaine d'Arethuse, Szymanowski; and Russian Dance, Tschaikowsky-Koutzen.

The concluding selections will be Part 6, a group of college songs: Lord Geoffrey, Amherst, Charles Kelly, directing; Far Above Cayuga's Waters, Cornell University, Francis V. Ruether, directing; Whiffenpoof Song, Dr. Dudley Hargrave, directing; When the Evening Shades Are Falling, RPI, John A. McCullough, directing; The Corps, West Point, John S. Matthews, directing; also, You'll Never Walk Alone, arranged by Roy Ringwald; and the final selections, Tunes from Pinafore, arranged by J. A. Parks, with a tenor solo, Nightingale's Song, by Alan Vogt.

Officers of the organization for this year are John A. McCullough, president; William T. Wood, vice-president; Arthur A. Souers, secretary; William A. McBride, treasurer; and Bertrand K. Burr, librarian.

Joel Dolven will be the conductor for the concert, with Paul E. Barnum accompanist and Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., assistant accompanist for the Mendelssohn Club singers.

KBA Directors Meet on Sunday

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Court House, Wall street.

Major business of the session will be the election of new officers.

Two amendments to the recently-approved KBA Constitution also will be offered.

Finals on Saturday

Pinehurst, N. C., April 29 (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, the darling of the recent Masters golf tournament, and three other North Carolinians set forth today to see what they could do to keep the North and South Amateur title at home. Yesterday's two rounds, marked by seven overtime matches, reduced the field to quarter final size today with these pairings: Patton vs. Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn.; William Loock, Scarsdale, N. Y., vs. William Hyndman, IV, Adington, Pa.; Richard Chapman, Pinehurst, vs. Alex Welsh, Rockford, Ill.; Frank Meacham, Roanoke Rapids, N. C., vs. Clinton White Toms, Duke University freshman from Durham. Today's winners meet in semi-finals tomorrow, with the 36-hole championship match Saturday.

Royal Mist Wins

Yonkers, April 29 (AP)—Royal Mist came from far back to win the Tappan Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night by a neck over Direct Sun. Hi Handy took the show. Royal Mist, driven by Mack Hayman, was fifth at the half-mile and had only moved up to fourth at the head of stretch. The five-year-old mare was steered to the outside for her stretch run to nip Direct Sun, driven by Bill Haughton, at the wire. The winner paced the mile over a slow track in 2:11.2 and paid $4.10, $3.40 and $3.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patient Office) By JIMMY HATLO

My Greatest Shot

By JULIUS BOROS

When people ask me about the shot of my lifetime, I always look surprised.

It's not an act. I thought every breathing person knew about my shot on the last round of the 1940 Masters tournament.

I won the Augusta National event—for the first of three times—and did it with a shot on the 15th hole.

Gene Sarazen scored his celebrated double eagle on this same hole, but as I gazed down, my ball was, I thought in a bad position for any double eagling. The ball was sort of playing it cool, you see, under an inch and a half of pure Georgia water.

It was my third shot on the par five hole. Showing complete fearlessness, I removed my red and blue suede shoes, rolled my chartreuse slacks up to my knees, stepped into two feet of water to make the shot.

I used a wedge—no, it wasn't a ball-point wedge—and hit the ball well. The ball sailed out of the water and came down on the green, 15 feet from the hole. I dropped the putt for par.

It gave me a big lift and went a long way to helping me win by a stroke and set a record of 30 for that tough back nine.

Bobby Brown Returns

San Francisco, April 29 (AP)—Bobby Brown, a one-time $35,000 bonus baby who used a New York Yankee paycheck to put himself through medical school, is back home after 19 months Far Eastern duty as an army doctor and determined to devote full time to his first love—medicine. But Lt. Brown hopes to put in two months at his old job as a Yankee third baseman before he quits baseball. "If the Yankees want me until July 1, I am ready," said the 29-year-old Bobby. "But let me make something plain. This is merely for two months. On July 1, my residency begins in the San Francisco County Hospital. I want to be on the job. But in the meantime, it would be wonderful to be a Yankee again."

Fireworks at Carnival

A big fireworks display has been carded by Continental Shows, Lowell, Mass., for Friday, May 7, at Pan-Am Field, Albany avenue extension, starting at 10:30 p. m. The carnival opens a 10-day stand tonight.

Wonderly Five Cops CRM Pennant; Randy Kelder Tops Loop With 654

Randy Kelder picked up steam in his second and third games Wednesday night in the Central Rec Major League and finished with a hefty 654 blast to pace the Wonderly Company keglers who last week nailed down the 1953-54 flag.

Kelder opened with 185 but found the range in quick style as he unloaded 230 in the middle effort and added 239 in the finale to pile up the heavy pinnage.

Members of the pennant-winning Wonderly squad include Larry Petersen, Sr., George Shufeldt, Harry Wilber, Randy Kelder and Whitey Crispell. Three of these bowlers—Wilber, Kelder and Crispell—were members of the Gov. Clinton Market team which won this year's KBA five-man championship with a 3152 gross score.

Howard Packs 623

Dick Howard trailed Kelder in this week's roundup with a 623 blast on sticks of 212-219-192. Bruce Davis followed with 235-210 for 603.

Also in the limelight were Hod Spaulding, the piano tycoon, with 203-201-592; Elwood Robinson 214-223-585; Joe "Bush" Sangi 200-576; Frank Grimaldi 213-572; Larry Weishaupt 209-205-576 and Harold Broskie 567 on a reported triplicate of 189. Broskie will receive an ABC patch for this achievement.

Ferraro Shoots 693 Net Upstate

Bailey-Jones Tandem Hits 1231 Total

Jones Dairy squads failed to crack the prize bracket in the New York State men's tournament at Utica last weekend, but Johnny Ferraro posted 693 in the net singles division.

Two others—Dick Howard (640) and Charlie Manfro (617)—are expected to slice a share of the prize melon. So are John Bailey and Addison Jones with a 1231 total in doubles.

Major prizes in the state tournament are based on handicap totals.

HVBL Keglers Fail

Jones Dairy's HVBL powerhouse failed to solve the Aurora Bowlaway lanes and finished with a mediocre 2500. Charlie Manfro's 545 was high series.

Bill Kuehn gave the No. 2 squad a 615 triple for a 2658 net.

Ferraro compiled his series with slams of 222, 256 and 215. Dick Howard, who slumped to 116-415 in the team event, rebounded nicely with a 640 harvest singles on games of 187, 199 and 254. Ferraro and Howard shot without handicap. Charlie Manfro fired 602 net and 617 gross in singles.

Doug Ford in Front

Sacramento, Calif., April 29 (AP)—Doug Ford, Yonkers, N. Y., yesterday took $500 top money in a city-sponsored $2,125 pro-invitational golf tournament with a five-under-par 34-33-67.

Second was Al Besselink, Grossingers, N. Y., who collected $350 with a 68. San Diego's Gene Littler, 1953 National Amateur champ who turned pro, finished ninth among the 10 pros competing with an even par 72. His prize money: $125.

The first race at the Churchill Downs spring meeting in 1899 was appropriately named "Opening Scramble."

Base-Stealing Success Big Reason for Cards' Upswing

Club Only Six Off Total Swiped in '53

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals are stealing their way back into the National League pennant picture.

Running bases with an abandon no Red Bird team has shown since the last St. Louis flag winner in 1946, Manager Eddie Stanky's club has moved from dead last at the start to within a game of the top.

In 12 games the Cards have swiped 12 bases. They need only half a dozen more to equal their total for the entire 1953 season.

Winning Cardinal teams almost always have been running teams. One of the greatest was the 1931 aggregation. That was the year Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, led the club with 28 steals and Pepper Martin virtually stole the World Series away from the Philadelphia Athletics with his head-first belly slides.

The 1931 Cardinals stole 114 bases. The 1946 pennant winners, last National League team to win the World Series, stole 58. But look at the totals for some of the lean years—28 in 1947, 24 in 1948, only 17 in 1949, 23 in 1950, 30 in 1951 and 33 in 1952. In every instance these figures placed St. Louis last or next to last in the league in bases stolen.

New Ideas Working

Stanky claims there is no radical difference between the base running tactics of the 1954 outfit and last year's club.

"We're just trying a few things and they're working," the manager declared.

Nevertheless, the figures are doubly interesting in that 10 different players on the team have stolen bases including one pitcher —Harvey Haddix.

A steal figured directly in the result of yesterday's Cardinal game when the Red Birds edged Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings. Bonus baby Dick Schofield, running for Ray Jablonski who had walked with two out, stole second on pitcher Jim Hughes and rode home on Steve Bilko's single, the second hit of the season for the massive first baseman.

Giants Top Braves

The defeat, Brooklyn's second in a row in St. Louis, dumped the Dodgers into a third place tie. They went west over the weekend in first place. The Cincinnatti Redlegs, who replaced the Dodgers at the top on Tuesday, stayed there with an 8-4 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants moved into a tie with Brooklyn by nipping Milwaukee 3-1.

Rain and bad weather caused the other five scheduled games to be postponed. Cleveland was frozen out at Boston for the second straight day. Chicago's second meeting with the New York Yankees was washed out. Detroit at Philadelphia, Baltimore at Washington and the Philadelphia Phils at Chicago all were rained out for the second straight day.

Gomez Wrenches Back

Spectacular relief pitching by little Jackie Collum preserved the Cincinnati victory after the Reds rallied for five runs in the third inning to gain a 7-4 lead. Collum stopped the Pirates on one hit through the last 6 1/3 innings after they had battered starter Fred Baczewski for nine in the first 2 2/3.

Ruben Gomez pitched six shutout innings and drove in the first New York run at Milwaukee before leaving the game with a wrenched back after running the bases in the seventh. Al Dark doubled with the bases loaded, also in the seventh, for the other two New York runs. Gomes' injury was not considered serious.

LL Players To Register

Registration for new players in the Kingston Little League Association will take place Saturday at two different parks, William Scully, president, announced today.

Players affiliated through the American League will register at the LL Stadium, New York State Armory, at 10 a. m.

Registration for the National League is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. at Kingman Field, Lawrence street.

All players are requested to bring their birth certificates.

Big Keglers Out Of Masters Play

Seattle, April 29 (AP)—There were 48 survivors in the American Bowling Congress Masters tournament today but among those missing from the original list of 64 were some top-bracket performers.

Rudy Habetler, defending champion from Chicago, bowed to Pvt. Dick Hoover, former Akron, Ohio, bowler now at Ft. Lewis, Wash., 817-806.

Other "name" bowlers dropped into the losers' bracket of the double-elimination tournament being run in conjunction with the 51st annual American Bowling Congress championships, were Lee Jouglard of Detroit, an ex-champ who lost to Bill Blanks, Seattle, 785-755, and Steve Nagy, Cleveland, downed by Ken Bailer, San Francisco, 793-770.

In the ABC championships a new leader was crowned in the all-events standings. Brad Lewis of Ashland, Ohio, rolled a 1985 to displace Frank Tassara of Eureka, Calif.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Jackie Collum, Cincinnati Redlegs, allowed only one hit in 6 1/3 innings of relief work as the Reds beat Pittsburgh 8-4.

Batting—Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals, collected two singles and a double, driving in two runs, as he raised his average to .336 in the St. Louis victory over Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings.

Phils Forget to Score When Ace Pitches

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Steve O'Neill adjusted a double-header-sized wad of chewing tobacco in his jaw, then leaned back on the bench and watched his Phillies get ready for the day's activities.

"One-run games," he said. "They're the things that kill you. You got a good pitcher and the other fellows put in a good pitcher and the two of them hook up in a real good one, and then some guy kicks one and you lose it. Or some guy hits a little fly ball in a park like the Polo Grounds and instead of giving him a carton of chop suey, they're out shaking his hand for hitting a home run."

Steve O'Neill

The rotund O'Neill qualifies as an expert on the subject of losing games by one run. Through the first two weeks, the men with the candy-striped uniforms had been considerably less than terrorizing opposing hurlers and the people around him were talking about it.

What Does a Man Say?

Quite a few were asking O'Neill just what he tells a pitcher like Robin Roberts when he loses a 1-0 or 2-1 contest.

"I don't say anything," Steve answered. "He pitches his heart out and we don't give him any runs. Some guy hits for the chop suey and he loses, 1-0.

"Hey, Robby," he called down to an end of the bench. "What do you say to yourself when you lose one like that?"

Roberts, a big serious-faced youngster, got up and walked over to his manager.

"You're not going to get me to knock a club that I won 28 and 23 games with," Roberts muttered.

"Naw, these fellows don't mean anything like that," O'Neill said, motioning to the group around him.

"Well," said Roberts, "just what would you say to yourself? I say the same things you would. I don't think that you could print them. You don't like to lose them, but you always tell yourself that they'll go the other way for you some day."

Missed 30 By Six Ones

The "some days" for Robin Roberts had better come quickly. The right hander's attempt at a 30-victory season last year was shattered by the loss of six single-run decisions. He finished the year with a 23-16 mark.

In 1952, his big year so far, he won 28 and lost 7—and only one loss was a one-run affair. This year, out of his first three starts, he lost by 4-2 to Pittsburgh and 1-0 to New York. The Philadelphia Nationals were thrice shut out as the Giants swept the set at the Polo Grounds, which lends itself to cheap home runs.

Is there anything, O'Neill and Roberts were asked, that makes a team unconsciously forget to hit when they have a big pitcher, such as Robin, going for them?

"If there was, you can get I'd be doin' something about it," replied O'Neill.

Keen Interest Is Seen by Officials

Keen interest in the pre-season plans for the start of the 1954 City Softball League was seen by league officials this week when 14 teams indicated interest in the makeup of the circuit.

Representatives of 12 teams were on hand for the first meeting at the Recreation Office and officials pointed out that two others had dispatched word they would have teams ready to enter the fold.

Andy Murphy, voicing the optimism of league authorities, said early season predictions are that the 1954 campaign will be the most successful in the history of the league.

Teams with representation at the meeting included:

Beichert Studebakers, Lincoln Park, Sickler's Delivery, Subway Grill, Chez Emile, Electrol, Skyline, Perry's Grill, Bence's Grill, Hercules, Destroyer AC, Gene's Grill and the Alpine.

H. Sutton's 152 Highest Average In Chalet Loop

Helen Sutton rolled a 152 average for 87 games to lead the Chalet Pioneer Women's League at Rosendale.

Her league leading mark was 11 points higher than Kathleen Houska's 141. Dolores Gillen (138), Shirley Williams (137), Dolores Joyce (135) and Joan Schultz (135) rounded out the upper bracket.

Demarest Flames won the team title with a record of 61 wins and 35 losses, for a five-game bulge over Cherny's 5Ms.

League records were Mildred Esposito's 203 and Sutton's 506. Demarest Flames took down both team records with 798 and 2219.

Derby Betting Forsees New Faces in Winner's Circle

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Louisville, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Down here in this horse loving country, where arguments on the outcome of the 80th Kentucky Derby often wage hot and heavy, they are betting there will be new faces in the winner's circle after the 20 or 30 3-year-olds complete the mile and one-quarter journey late Saturday afternoon.

Not in many years has America's premier horse race been so jammed with owners, trainers and jockeys who never have felt the thrill of walking into Churchill Downs' flower-bordered circle to receive the huge gold cup and see their victorious horse bedecked with a stole of roses.

Eddie Arcaro, who rode in the Derby for the first time in 1935 and finished fourth with Nellie Flag, is best acquainted with the almost hallowed ground. Old Banana Nose has won five Derbies. He'll be up Saturday on Goyamo, the 7 to 2 second choice from Royce G. Martin's Woodvale Farm.

Three other jockeys—Bill Boland, Steve Brooks and Hank Moreno—have been in the circle once each. Boland, winner on Middleground in 1950, will ride the Woodley Lane Farm's lanky Red Hannigan, an outsider, Saturday.

Brooks, winner with Ponder in 1949, is slated to pilot A. J. Crevolin's Allied. And Moreno, whose first appearance in the Derby was last year when he got Dark Star home a nose in front of Native Dancer, will throw a leg over Sea O Erin. Both Allied and Sea O Erin are running mates for two of the favorites—Determine and Hasty Road, respectively.

The owners and trainers nowhere near match the riders in the number of Derby winners. Only Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, New York beautician and owner of the Maine Chance Farm, ever has had a Derby champion. She won with Jet Pilot in 1947 and this Saturday will depend on lightly regarded Black Metal.

Many Without Starter

Many of the other owners and the majority of the trainers never have even had a Derby starter.

Meantime, the equine principals in this event which at times resembles a three-ring circus, went through their last serious workouts. Tomorrow, starting at 7 a. m. (EST) their names will be dropped in the entry box.

And watched most closely of all was Correlation, the 5 to 2 favorite flying the silks of Los Angeles oilman Robert S. Lytle. The Florida Derby and Wood Memorial winner was slated to work six furlongs. Willie Shoemaker, who'll be making his third Derby appearance Saturday, was in the saddle for the early morning spin.

There was many a heated discussion over whether Andy Crevolin's little California grey, Determine, or Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road should be the third choice. They met in the Derby Trial Tuesday and Hasty Road, running back to his great two-year old form with a track record-smashing 1:35 mile, hung a nose defeat on Determine.

Picks Fisherman

As a result, odds on Hasty Road were shortened to 4 to 1 and those on Determine lengthened to 6 to 1, only a notch below C. V. Whitney's game Little Fisherman, who lost a four-length decision to Correlation in the Wood Memorial after stumbling at the start.

This corner looks for Fisherman to atone for that defeat and be on the front end at the finish of the Derby with Correlation second and Determine third and either Goyamo or Hasty Road fourth.

KBA Directors Meet on Sunday

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Court House, Wall street.

Major business of the session will be the election of new officers.

Two amendments to the recently-approved KBA Constitution also will be offered.

Finals on Saturday

Pinehurst, N. C., April 29 (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, the darling of the recent Masters golf tournament, and three other North Carolinians set forth today to see what they could do to keep the North and South Amateur title at home. Yesterday's two rounds, marked by seven overtime matches, reduced the field to quarter final size today with these pairings: Patton vs. Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn.; William Loock, Scarsdale, N. Y., vs. William Hyndman, IV, Adington, Pa.; Richard Chapman, Pinehurst, vs. Alex Welsh, Rockford, Ill.; Frank Meacham, Roanoke Rapids, N. C., vs. Clinton White Toms, Duke University freshman from Durham. Today's winners meet in semi-finals tomorrow, with the 36-hole championship match Saturday.

Royal Mist Wins

Yonkers, April 29 (AP)—Royal Mist came from far back to win the Tappan Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night by a neck over Direct Sun. Hi Handy took the show. Royal Mist, driven by Mack Hayman, was fifth at the half-mile and had only moved up to fourth at the head of stretch. The five-year-old mare was steered to the outside for her stretch run to nip Direct Sun, driven by Bill Haughton, at the wire. The winner paced the mile over a slow track in 2:11.2 and paid $4.10, $3.40 and $3.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patient Office) By JIMMY HATLO

My Greatest Shot

By JULIUS BOROS

When people ask me about the shot of my lifetime, I always look surprised.

It's not an act. I thought every breathing person knew about my shot on the last round of the 1940 Masters tournament.

I won the Augusta National event—for the first of three times—and did it with a shot on the 15th hole.

Gene Sarazen scored his celebrated double eagle on this same hole, but as I gazed down, my ball was, I thought in a bad position for any double eagling. The ball was sort of playing it cool, you see, under an inch and a half of pure Georgia water.

It was my third shot on the par five hole. Showing complete fearlessness, I removed my red and blue suede shoes, rolled my chartreuse slacks up to my knees, stepped into two feet of water to make the shot.

I used a wedge—no, it wasn't a ball-point wedge—and hit the ball well. The ball sailed out of the water and came down on the green, 15 feet from the hole. I dropped the putt for par.

It gave me a big lift and went a long way to helping me win by a stroke and set a record of 30 for that tough back nine.

Bobby Brown Returns

San Francisco, April 29 (AP)—Bobby Brown, a one-time $35,000 bonus baby who used a New York Yankee paycheck to put himself through medical school, is back home after 19 months Far Eastern duty as an army doctor and determined to devote full time to his first love—medicine. But Lt. Brown hopes to put in two months at his old job as a Yankee third baseman before he quits baseball. "If the Yankees want me until July 1, I am ready," said the 29-year-old Bobby. "But let me make something plain. This is merely for two months. On July 1, my residency begins in the San Francisco County Hospital. I want to be on the job. But in the meantime, it would be wonderful to be a Yankee again."

Fireworks at Carnival

A big fireworks display has been carded by Continental Shows, Lowell, Mass., for Friday, May 7, at Pan-Am Field, Albany avenue extension, starting at 10:30 p. m. The carnival opens a 10-day stand tonight.

Clinched Title Last Week

Wonderly Five Cops CRM Pennant; Randy Kelder Tops Loop With 654

Randy Kelder picked up steam in his second and third games Wednesday night in the Central Rec Major League and finished with a hefty 654 blast to pace the Wonderly Company keglers who last week nailed down the 1953-54 flag.

Kelder opened with 185 but found the range in quick style as he unloaded 230 in the middle effort and added 239 in the finale to pile up the heavy pinnage.

Members of the pennant-winning Wonderly squad include Larry Petersen, Sr., George Shufeldt, Harry Wilber, Randy Kelder and Whitey Crispell. Three of these bowlers—Wilber, Kelder and Crispell—were members of the Gov. Clinton Market team which won this year's KBA five-man championship with a 3152 gross score.

Howard Packs 623

Dick Howard trailed Kelder in this week's roundup with a 623 blast on sticks of 212-219-192. Bruce Davis followed with 235-210 for 603.

Also in the limelight were Hod Spaulding, the piano tycoon, with 203-201-592; Elwood Robinson 214-223-585; Joe "Bush" Sangi 200-576; Frank Grimaldi 213-572; Larry Weishaupt 209-205-576 and Harold Broskie 567 on a reported triplicate of 189. Broskie will receive an ABC patch for this achievement.

Other top efforts included Ken Joseph with 201-554; Tony La Rocca 530; Tom Parker 507; Charlie Grunenwald 501; Ed Heins 523; Ken Williams 208-536; Mike Provenzano 525; Al Kieffer 522; Frank Russano 506; Ad Jones 210-550; Tarz Spada 512; Ross Ellis 542; Larry Petersen, Sr., 528; Fred Rice 526; Bill Lawrence 208-553; Ed Murphy 513; George Robinson 542; Larry Petersen, Jr., 220-559; George Shufeldt 563; Harry Wilber 505 and Whitey Crispell 523.

Team results:

Ferraro Shoots 693 Net Upstate

Bailey-Jones Tandem Hits 1231 Total

Jones Dairy squads failed to crack the prize bracket in the New York State men's tournament at Utica last weekend, but Johnny Ferraro posted 693 in the net singles division.

Two others—Dick Howard (640) and Charlie Manfro (617)—are expected to slice a share of the prize melon. So are John Bailey and Addison Jones with a 1231 total in doubles.

Major prizes in the state tournament are based on handicap totals.

HVBL Keglers Fail

Jones Dairy's HVBL powerhouse failed to solve the Aurora Bowlaway lanes and finished with a mediocre 2500. Charlie Manfro's 545 was high series.

Bill Kuehn gave the No. 2 squad a 615 triple for a 2658 net.

Ferraro compiled his series with slams of 222, 256 and 215. Dick Howard, who slumped to 116-415 in the team event, rebounded nicely with a 640 harvest singles on games of 187, 199 and 254. Ferraro and Howard shot without handicap. Charlie Manfro fired 602 net and 617 gross in singles.

Doug Ford in Front

Sacramento, Calif., April 29 (AP)—Doug Ford, Yonkers, N. Y., yesterday took $500 top money in a city-sponsored $2,125 pro-invitational golf tournament with a five-under-par 34-33-67.

Second was Al Besselink, Grossingers, N. Y., who collected $350 with a 68. San Diego's Gene Littler, 1953 National Amateur champ who turned pro, finished ninth among the 10 pros competing with an even par 72. His prize money: $125.

The first race at the Churchill Downs spring meeting in 1899 was appropriately named "Opening Scramble."

SPRINGTIME IS THE BEST TIME AT HOWE CAVERNS!

It's just an easy drive to a wonderland of nature that has attracted thousands of people from all over the world. In one year, more than 160,000 people come to marvel at the underground mysteries that are so near to you. So this weekend, before the long waiting lines and the summer crowds form, make your outing to Howe Caverns. It's a short, pleasant auto trip from home. Just off N. Y. Route 7, halfway between Central Bridge and Cobleskill. Children under twelve admitted free—so bring the family!

Video Franchise Zone Change Will Be Aired Tonight

A public hearing on the application of The Paramount Mult TV Co., of New York, for a franchise to "pipe in" television in the city, and another on a zoning change will be conducted in the Common Council chamber tonight.

Attorney John L. Larkin, representing the TV company, said at the last Common Council meeting that the concern will operate here as the Kingston Community TV System Inc. It will work in conjunction with the N. Y. Telephone Co., and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., to establish and maintain a central TV antennae system to wire in programs and dispense with individual antennae.

Would Take a Month

The company has established a "piped in" system on Long Island, Larkin said, and it plans to establish a "strong signal" here. It was announced at the council session that the company was prepared to start on the plan in "about a month."

The hearing on the TV proposal will be at 8 p. m., and before that Alderman Abram D. Relyea, chairman of the Common Council's laws and rules committee will conduct another hearing on an application to designate the MacKinnon property at 2 Pearl street as a business zone property. That hearing is due to start at 7:30 p. m.

5 Viaduct Posts Damaged by Truck

Five concrete posts on the west side of the Washington avenue viaduct along the incline from the Esopus creek bridge were badly damaged when they were struck by a truck yesterday afternoon.

Police headquarters was notified at 2:35 p. m., by a resident of the area and Sgt. Lemuel Howard dispatched an alarm to apprehend the truck driver.

Officer Halts Vehicle

Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., reported stopping a truck owned by Fred Carpenter, of Manlius, and driven by Joseph William Badgley, of Syracuse. It was near the Governor Clinton Hotel when apprehended, and police quoted the driver as saying he could not find a place to park the extra-wide vehicle between the viaduct and where he was stopped. The public works department and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., were notified of the mishap.

Police were notified at 7 a. m., today that street lights had been broken along Wilbur avenue between Greenkill avenue and Abeel street. Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Gerald Every, who toured the area, said eight lights were broken and the damage had apparently been done during the night.

Judge Was Impressed

Cleveland, April 29 (AP)—Judge Mary Grossman said Guillermo E. Collins was "simply fascinating to listen to and could be an excellent criminal attorney." But then she sentenced him to nine months in the workhouse and fined him $800 on a narcotics conviction yesterday. Collins, 42, acted as his own lawyer. Police said he gained a "fine knowledge of law" by spending many years browsing through jail libraries in Ohio, Illinois, New York and the District of Columbia.

Jewelers Organize; Name Saccoman Head

Jewelers from the Kingston area held a meeting Monday night at the Hotel Stuyvesant and voted to form a jewelers organization. They chose the name, Ulster County Jeweler's Association and elected the following officers:

Anthony G. Saccoman of Saccoman's Jewelers, Kingston, president; David Halpert of Halpert's Jewelers, Saugerties, treasurer, and Charles Niles of Niles Jewelers, Kingston, secretary.

Meetings will be held the first Tuesday of the month, starting June 1, at the Stuyvesant Hotel at 8 p. m. and every jeweler in Ulster county is urged to be present or contact one of the officers of the association as matters of great importance pertaining to the jewelry industry will be discussed.

Railroad Loss Cited

Philadelphia, April 29 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad—the nation's largest—reported yesterday that it lost $9,975,000 in the first quarter of 1954 but said indications were that it would show its first profit of the year in April.

Stolen Car Given To Youth; Police Find Him Asleep

White Plains, April 29 (AP)—A 15-year-old Charlestown, Mass., boy, who never had driven a car before last night, was picked up by police today in a stolen car given him by a stranger.

The boy, whose name was not disclosed, was found asleep in the car in Eastchester by Westchester County Parkway Policeman John McMahan. Police said the youth told this story, which they believed:

Bound for Poughkeepsie

He ran away from home yesterday, hitched three rides to Bridgeport, Conn. There, a motorist, who said he was bound for Poughkeepsie, gave him a lift. At Danbury, Conn., the motorist turned around and started back to Bridgeport. Although the boy said he never had driven before, the motorist insisted on his driving and taught him how. At Bridgeport the man got out, told the boy the car was stolen but he could have it. The man disappeared and the boy drove to Eastchester, finally parking on the roadside there.

Parkway police said Boston police issued a missing person's alarm for the boy yesterday. They were notified the boy was being held here as a juvenile delinquent.

The car he was driving was reported stolen March 19 from Morris Cooper, of Bridgeport.

Regents Diplomas Arrive

Regents diplomas for the classes of August, 1953, and January, 1954, have arrived at Kingston High School and are available at the principal's office between 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., it was reported today by Principal Theron L. Culver.

Video Franchise Zone Change Will Be Aired Tonight

A public hearing on the application of The Paramount Mult TV Co., of New York, for a franchise to "pipe in" television in the city, and another on a zoning change will be conducted in the Common Council chamber tonight.

Attorney John L. Larkin, representing the TV company, said at the last Common Council meeting that the concern will operate here as the Kingston Community TV System Inc. It will work in conjunction with the N. Y. Telephone Co., and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., to establish and maintain a central TV antennae system to wire in programs and dispense with individual antennae.

Would Take a Month

The company has established a "piped in" system on Long Island, Larkin said, and it plans to establish a "strong signal" here. It was announced at the council session that the company was prepared to start on the plan in "about a month."

The hearing on the TV proposal will be at 8 p. m., and before that Alderman Abram D. Relyea, chairman of the Common Council's laws and rules committee will conduct another hearing on an application to designate the MacKinnon property at 2 Pearl street as a business zone property. That hearing is due to start at 7:30 p. m.

5 Viaduct Posts Damaged by Truck

Five concrete posts on the west side of the Washington avenue viaduct along the incline from the Esopus creek bridge were badly damaged when they were struck by a truck yesterday afternoon.

Police headquarters was notified at 2:35 p. m., by a resident of the area and Sgt. Lemuel Howard dispatched an alarm to apprehend the truck driver.

Officer Halts Vehicle

Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., reported stopping a truck owned by Fred Carpenter, of Manlius, and driven by Joseph William Badgley, of Syracuse. It was near the Governor Clinton Hotel when apprehended, and police quoted the driver as saying he could not find a place to park the extra-wide vehicle between the viaduct and where he was stopped. The public works department and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., were notified of the mishap.

Police were notified at 7 a. m., today that street lights had been broken along Wilbur avenue between Greenkill avenue and Abeel street. Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Gerald Every, who toured the area, said eight lights were broken and the damage had apparently been done during the night.

Judge Was Impressed

Cleveland, April 29 (AP)—Judge Mary Grossman said Guillermo E. Collins was "simply fascinating to listen to and could be an excellent criminal attorney." But then she sentenced him to nine months in the workhouse and fined him $800 on a narcotics conviction yesterday. Collins, 42, acted as his own lawyer. Police said he gained a "fine knowledge of law" by spending many years browsing through jail libraries in Ohio, Illinois, New York and the District of Columbia.

Jewelers Organize; Name Saccoman Head

Jewelers from the Kingston area held a meeting Monday night at the Hotel Stuyvesant and voted to form a jewelers organization. They chose the name, Ulster County Jeweler's Association and elected the following officers:

Anthony G. Saccoman of Saccoman's Jewelers, Kingston, president; David Halpert of Halpert's Jewelers, Saugerties, treasurer, and Charles Niles of Niles Jewelers, Kingston, secretary.

Meetings will be held the first Tuesday of the month, starting June 1, at the Stuyvesant Hotel at 8 p. m. and every jeweler in Ulster county is urged to be present or contact one of the officers of the association as matters of great importance pertaining to the jewelry industry will be discussed.

Railroad Loss Cited

Philadelphia, April 29 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad—the nation's largest—reported yesterday that it lost $9,975,000 in the first quarter of 1954 but said indications were that it would show its first profit of the year in April.

Stolen Car Given To Youth; Police Find Him Asleep

White Plains, April 29 (AP)—A 15-year-old Charlestown, Mass., boy, who never had driven a car before last night, was picked up by police today in a stolen car given him by a stranger.

The boy, whose name was not disclosed, was found asleep in the car in Eastchester by Westchester County Parkway Policeman John McMahan. Police said the youth told this story, which they believed:

Bound for Poughkeepsie

He ran away from home yesterday, hitched three rides to Bridgeport, Conn. There, a motorist, who said he was bound for Poughkeepsie, gave him a lift. At Danbury, Conn., the motorist turned around and started back to Bridgeport. Although the boy said he never had driven before, the motorist insisted on his driving and taught him how. At Bridgeport the man got out, told the boy the car was stolen but he could have it. The man disappeared and the boy drove to Eastchester, finally parking on the roadside there.

Parkway police said Boston police issued a missing person's alarm for the boy yesterday. They were notified the boy was being held here as a juvenile delinquent.

The car he was driving was reported stolen March 19 from Morris Cooper, of Bridgeport.

Regents Diplomas Arrive

Regents diplomas for the classes of August, 1953, and January, 1954, have arrived at Kingston High School and are available at the principal's office between 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., it was reported today by Principal Theron L. Culver.

Our sun is a typical star.

To Have Own Fourth

London, April 29 (AP) — Britons are looking forward to a national celebration of their own on the Fourth of July. For the first time in 14 years, Old England's famed roast beef and other meats go off ration, Food Minister Gwilym Lloyd-George announced yesterday.
